Justice Dept. Says It Aided Denver Probe

Judge's Charge FBI Help Refused Denied; 19 Agents On Case

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Justice Department denied today a statement by U. S. District Judge Willis W. Ritter that it had refused to assist in an investigation of jury tampering by Denver gamblers.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III said that 19 FBI agents had worked on the matter and played a major role in the investigation.

Judge Ritter, sitting in Denver, asserted from the bench last month that the Justice Department had refused to give U. S. dist. Atty. Charles Vigil FBI assistance.

Judge Ritter's statement has been cited by Clayton Fritchey, deputy chairman of the National Democratic Committee, as evidence that there is "a serious situation within the Justice Department."

Fritchey charged in a television appearance last Sunday night that one of the reasons why Atty. Gen. Brownell launched the controversial Harry Dexter White spy case was to divert attention from the Justice Department situation.

Fritchey said in a new statement tonight:

"At first glance, Mr. Olney's explanation is certainly difficult to follow and does not seem responsive to the charges of Judge Ritter and Mr. Vigil." (Charles Vigil, former U.S. attorney at Denver, was ousted by Brownell recently).

"Sen. Langer, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, has said he will hold hearings in Denver next week, and I am sure all aspects of the case probably will be clarified at that time—at least I hope so."

In Denver, Vigil said today that "no one is disputing" that the FBI took part in the jury tampering investigation.

Vigil, now in private law practice here, was told Olney said 19 FBI agents had worked on the case and the FBI played a major role in getting the convictions.

"I don't know how many agents were on the case," Vigil said. "But there is no doubt of FBI participation. Just where FBI help started and stopped, I can't say now."

Lodge Suggests Atrocities Check, Accuses Nam Il

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. demanded before the U. N. Assembly today that Moscow let the International Committee of the Red Cross make a free and full check of alleged Red atrocities in Korea.

He also charged that Gen. Nam Il, commander of the North Korean Army, masterminded the Koje Prison riots last year at the same time he was carrying on truce negotiations with the U. N. command at Panmunjom.

Soviet reaction was swift.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, denounced the chief American delegate's proposal for a full investigation as an "eleventh hour approach, obviously demagogic nature." He said the Russians had attempted to have a commission established in 1950 to investigate American atrocities as charged by the Russians, but the Security Council refused to do so.

As to Nam Il, Vishinsky said the charge was "really absurd." He called on Lodge to support his allegation.

The crossfire of words between Lodge and Vishinsky delayed a vote on a five-power resolution which would have the Assembly condemn Red atrocities in Korea. The Assembly adjourned for the day with expectation of voting tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. The resolution will be carried, its backers said, but they were fearful it might not get full support from some of the neutral bloc; some of its members privately have deplored that atrocities case ever was brought into the Assembly at this time.

Vishinsky told the Assembly yesterday that Lodge had not proved his charges of atrocities and that the whole American case was "bosh."

Italian Goods To Yugos

ROME, Dec. 2 (AP)—Italy reported today it had exported two million dollars worth of goods to Yugoslavia during November despite the cold war over Trieste.

Ike Endorses Dulles' Slap At Sen. McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower today strongly endorsed Secretary of State Dulles' rebuff to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) on the issue of U. S. foreign policy and warned against any swing toward "coercion" in dealing with America's allies.

Declaring that unity among free nations is "our only hope for survival" in the global struggle with Soviet Russia, Eisenhower told a crowded news conference:

"I am in full accord with the statements made yesterday by Secretary Dulles in his press conference.

"I would like to add this comment to what he said: the easiest thing to do with great power is to abuse it—to use it to excess."

McCarthy Delays Statement

McCarthy had no immediate comment on the President's statement.

The senator had previously indicated he might have a news conference later today, but after reading a copy of Eisenhower's remarks, McCarthy told newsmen he wanted to study it further.

"Perhaps I will wait and give out a statement tomorrow morning," he said, adding that he would probably read it via television.

Once again the President avoided a direct, personal crackdown on the controversial Wisconsin senator. Like Dulles, he did not mention McCarthy by name.

"Perfumed Note" Criticism

But Eisenhower was emphatic in opposing McCarthy's views on the proper way to conduct foreign policy—views which Dulles assailed yesterday as an "arrogant, blustering and domineering" approach.

McCarthy had complained in a nationwide radio-TV broadcast on Nov. 24 that the administration was sending "perfumed notes." Among other things, McCarthy demanded a "blockade" of Red China to be carried out by notifying Britain and other allies that American aid would be cut off if they continue trading with the Chinese Communists.

House Committee Invites Vishinsky To "Defend Self"

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—A House committee today invited Andrei Vishinsky, deputy Soviet foreign minister, to appear before the committee and "defend himself" in connection with what was termed the Soviet seizure of three Baltic nations.

A committee spokesman said a letter inviting Vishinsky, Russia's chief U. N. delegate, before the committee was sent to him through the U. S. State Department and the Soviet Embassy in Washington.

The spokesman for the committee, headed by Rep. Charles J. Kersten (R-Wis), said the action was the outgrowth of a committee hearing in Washington Tuesday.

Russians Denounce U. S. Marine Corps

MOSCOW, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Soviet military newspaper Red Star today denounced the U. S. Marine Corps as just a bunch of "plunderers, barbarians, robbers, pirates and murderers of children in Korea."

The article by Capt. A. Spapropov is one of a Red Star series in which Soviet soldiers are told they must hate American imperialists because they are preparing a new war against the Soviet Union.

Sapropov said the Marine song "From The Halls of Montezuma to The Shores of Tripoli," echoed a trail of plunder around the world.

France Would Lend Ear To Truce Bid

PARIS, Dec. 2 (AP)—France in effect told the Communist-led Vietminh today that if it means serious business about an armistice in Indochina, France will lend an ear through normal diplomatic channels.

The French statement, published as a communique after a full cabinet meeting presided over by President Vincent Auriol, was considered a reply to Vietminh leader Ho Chi Minh. The Moscow-educated leader in an interview published by a Stockholm newspaper expressed willingness to negotiate an armistice in the seven-year old Indochina war. The communique was issued just before Premier Joseph Laniel and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault left by plane for the Big Three Bermuda conference.

Soviet Envoy Replaced

MOSCOW, Dec 2 (AP)—The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet said tonight that Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov, Soviet ambassador to China, has been relieved of his duties.

The announcement said he has been replaced by Pavel F. Yudin, who was formerly deputy Soviet high commissioner in East Germany.

Host Churchill At Parley Site; Ike Due Friday

British Leader Lands In Bermuda Sunshine After Bucking Storm

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda, Dec. 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill bucked through an Atlantic storm aboard the Stratocruiser Canopus and landed in Bermuda's sunshine today to attend the Western Big Three conference he hopes will bring the world closer to lasting peace.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Lord Cherwell, former chief of Britain's atomic energy development work, were in Churchill's party of 28.

Premier Joseph Laniel of France took off from Paris in an Air France Constellation a few hours later with his foreign minister, Georges Bidault, and a 19-man delegation for the talks opening Friday at the Mid-Ocean Club. The French will arrive tomorrow.

Ike Due On Friday

President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and nine other American officials expect to get in Friday. Five days of discussion of world problems are slated at the club, ringed by barbed wire and heavily guarded by British and American service men. Russia's suggestion for a Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Berlin looms as a major topic.

An authoritative source said the President hopes to win France's ratification of the six-nation European army plan, to include West German troops, with an assurance the United States would maintain its present "combat effectiveness" in Europe.

Churchill Is Host

Churchill, 79 last Monday, is the host for sessions which it is estimated will cost Britain 80,000 pounds ($224,000). He looked pink and cheerful as he stepped from the silvery Canopus, a U.S.-built British Overseas Airways plane that carried Queen Elizabeth II to Bermuda at the start of her world tour earlier this month. Gov. Sir Alexander Hood and U.S. Consul Gen. Robert B. Streeper greeted him.

Strike Curtails Can Production

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 2 (AP)—Striking CIO United Steelworkers virtually shut off production by the nation's two largest can manufacturers today, developing immediately a threat to the citrus industry now at the peak of its canning operations.

The strike against Continental Can Co. and American Can Co. hit 68 plants in the United States and 5 in Canada. Some 60 other plants, affiliated with different unions, were not affected by the walkout. Only a few of these have production units.

The two companies employ a total of 60,000 workers. Some 13,000 USW members work in 32 plants of Continental in the United States and 4 in Canada. American Can employs 20,000 USW workers at 36 plants in 16 states and 1 in Canada.

If the walkout goes on very long the steel and citrus industries will be directly affected along with other allied industries. Most tin cans are made of steel.

New York Union Halves Demands

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP) — AFL Photo-Engravers turned down arbitration again today, but cut in half their demands on New York's strikebound daily newspapers. They offered to settle their strike for a $7.50 a week wage-benefits package.

Strike leader Denis M. Burke took the reduced demands into a meeting with publishers tonight, after commenting:

"If they accept this offer, the papers will be rolling tomorrow. But if they reject our offer, the onus will be on them."

20,000 Dropped From Payrolls

He added that the union negotiators had authority to call off the strike without a membership vote if employers agree to the $7.50.

Meanwhile, 20,000 non-striking employes on the six struck dailies were dropped from the payroll tonight until they return to work. Most of them belong to other unions and have refused to cross photo-engravers' picket lines.

"There will be no pay for those for whom there is no work," the publishers' announcement said, adding:

"This is not a notice of termination of employment . . . affecting accrued benefits or other rights, and must not be construed as such. It is only notice of a temporary period during which there is no work to be performed until normal operations are resumed."

Contract Violation

The publishers said the refusal of non-strikers to cross photo-engravers' picket lines was in violation of other unions' contracts with the papers. The statement continued:

"The general action which followed on the part of all the other unions was in every case a violation of an existing contract. It also appears to have resulted from concerted action by all these unions in influencing, persuading or instructing their members not to report for work at all papers concerned."

Woman Tortured, Slain While Mate Helplessly Bound

HOLBROOK, Ariz., Dec. 2 (AP)—A 22-year-old mother was tortured, raped and choked to death in a house trailer at the edge of U.S. Highway 66 today as her husband lay tied hand and foot and her 2-year-old son slept undisturbed.

The husband, after listening to his wife's anguished screams for five hours, broke loose and shot her assailant in the stomach.

Mrs. Betty Faye Allen of Wattsburg, Pa., died on the floor of the 30-foot, four-room trailer in which she and her family were traveling to California.

Her hair and body had been burned by her torturer. A sheet was knotted around her neck. Her hands and feet were tied.

Her husband, Raymond, 25, a machine tool repairman, was shocked into a state of near collapse by the night of horror.

Accused Killer In Hospital

A coroner's jury named Carl J. Folk, 60, of Clovis, N. M., a 6-foot, 215-pound carnival owner as the killer. He is in a hospital here with the bullet wound.

About 10 p.m., Allen related in broken tones at a coroner's inquest, a man entered the unlocked trailer door and said "This is a holdup. Tell me where the money is and everything will be all right."

It was learned later that the robber was carrying a toy gun.

Allen told the intruder that he could find $19 in his trouser pockets.

Then the holdupman tied Allen and his wife.

Allen said the man hooked the trailer to the pickup truck and drove a short distance. Then he returned and attacked Mrs. Allen. The man started to drive the trailer away a second time and bogged down in a ditch.

Allen Finally Frees Self

Again he came back to the trailer and began torturing Mrs. Allen.

"I thought he must be burning her with newspapers soaked in kerosene," Allen said. "It made a big flame."

Allen freed his feet about midnight but the man he said he now recognized as Folk, discovered it and rebound him.

About 5:45 a.m. Allen again freed his feet and stumbled from the trailer to the highway, his hands tied. Folk still was in the trailer.

Allen hailed a passing truck driver, mumbled "There's trouble in my trailer" and headed back to the trailer.

The driver, C. J. Rice of Wichita, Kan., stopped two other drivers and they followed Allen.

New York Dock Strike Collapses

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—A waterfront strike collapsed overnight and New York piers were back to normal today, although a contempt threat still hung over the strikers' heads.

A New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission, whose cleanup program was the target of yesterday's one-day strike, hailed the end of the walkout and a spokesman said:

"I think the honest longshoreman has won."

The walkout was in apparent violation of a no-strike Taft-Hartley law injunction which ended last October's pier strike and which remains in effect for 80 days—until Christmas Eve.

Two federal grand juries in New York began looking into the possibility of contempt charges against the International Longshoremen's Association (Ind).

In Newark, N. J., also, a shipping firm launched contempt proceedings against the ILA.

However, the ILA claimed it didn't call the strike, which erupted on ILA-controlled piers, and went all out to try to end it.

The strike was an effort by exiled dockers to muscle their way back onto the piers in defiance of the bi-state Waterfront Commission's ban against them.

Canada Terms For Interview Are Accepted

Whether Ex-Russian Code Clerk Will Talk Remains To Be Seen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee accepted Canada's terms today and asked Secretary of State Dulles to arrange for a secret interview with Igor Gouzenko about Soviet espionage.

The subcommittee gave in to Canada's insistence on the right to veto disclosure of any evidence that may develop from the questioning of the former code clerk in the Russian Embassy in Ottawa.

But another condition—Gouzenko's own willingness to talk — still must be determined. He once was quoted that he wanted to talk to the investigators but since then, in a copyrighted article written for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and Toronto Telegram, he said he had decided not to agree to the interview for reasons of personal and family safety.

Broke With Russia

Gouzenko, who broke with Russia in 1945 and helped Canada uncover a Russian spy network that reached into the United States, is now living under an assumed name under Canadian police protection. Canada said it could not continue to guarantee his anonymity if he testifies.

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) said today that one reason the subcommittee wants to meet with Gouzenko is to determiie whether he has information that "might lead us to a new espionage ring in government."

Jenner first balked at the Canadian veto on publication of Gouzenko's testimony, but Canada's position was supported by Dulles.

Matter In Dulles Hands

Jenner wrote Dulles that the subcommittee now feels, "in view of the seriousness of the matter, that it would be derelict if it neglected to accept any offer of the Canadian government allowing us to hear Mr. Gouzenko.

"In deference to Mr. Gouzenko's security, it is hoped that future arrangements be worked out by word of mouth and that steps be taken to protect the secrecy of these arrangements."

Jenners said the matter of an interview is now in Dulles' hands and he has no idea how soon a meeting might be possible. He said he, himself, would be "designated by our government" to go to Canada to question Gouzenko, probably accompanied by a committee lawyer and official stenographer.

Ridgway Says 6,113 GI POWs Exterminated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, testifying about Korean War atrocities, said today that North Korean and Chinese Reds engaged in a calculated program to "exterminate prisoners of war."

Reporting that at least 6,113 U.S. service men were among the victims, the Army chief of staff told a Senate committee that the "sole plausible explanation of their sparing the lives of any of their captives" was that "living prisoners of war could be exploited."

Ridgway testified at a hearing which Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said was timed to back up charges made before the U.N. General Assembly Monday by Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. Potter is conducting the hearing as a member of the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Allies Again Drawing Blank In POW 'Come Home' Talks

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Dec. 3 (AP)—Allied examiners were drawing a blank again today in efforts to win back a group of 30 South Korean soldiers from Communist indoctrination.

The first five South Koreans refused to accept repatriation and went back to their Red camp.

Today's group was more talkative than yesterday and countered Republic of Korea officers making the explanations with rapid-fire questions, note taking and arguments.

One of the interviewed captives took six pages of notes while the explainer read from a prepared text promising all repatriates their soldier back pay, awards, promotions and an amnesty if they returned home.

Similar explanations failed to win back a single one of the first 30 South Koreans interviewed yesterday. In all, 328 South Koreans, 22 Americans and 1 Briton have refused repatriation and must listen to explanations by their countrymen aimed at coaxing them home.

The South Koreans arrived today dressed in dark blue Communist uniforms and carrying blanket rolls holding all their possessions. They were prepared to go either way, north or south.

The prisoners marched quietly. There was none of the passionate outbursts which marked the seven days of explanations last month by the Communists.

On the second day of the long-delayed Allied interviews, there were indications that the explainers may turn their attention to the one British and 22 U.S. prisoners sooner than expected.

A high U.S. officer said a time table by which the Americans would not be reached until all the reluctant 328 South Koreans are interviewed was "not inflexible."

President Lays Down Victory Prescription For Republicans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower told Republicans in Congress—Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin among them—today that their party will stay in power only if they adopt "a progressive, dynamic program enhancing the welfare of the people of our country."

Without ever mentioning McCarthy, the President in effect took the position that the Wisconsin senator has picked the wrong issue for the political struggles that lie ahead.

Whereas McCarthy insists Reds-in-government will be a big issue in 1954, Eisenhower expressed renewed conviction that it won't be. Long before that, he said, the administration will have made such progress in rooting subversives out that they no longer will be a "serious menace."

Then the President laid down his own prescription for victory: Republicans should fight for the "progressive, dynamic program" he will lay before Congress in January.

There were a few other items of news. The President said in answer to questions:

1. He'd want to give the matter a lot of study before saying whether the chances are good for a meeting between the Western Powers and Russia. The question, he said, is whether the Russians—who recently said they'd be willing to hold a meeting on Germany and Austria—are acting in good faith.

2. Despite Democratic charges of laxity or worse against the Justice Department, he has the same confidence in Atty. Gen. Brownell as he has in all other Cabinet members.

3. He doesn't believe the government can or should try to get higher taxes next year than it is getting now. What the administration will do, said the President, is cut costs by improving government efficiency.

Newsman Visits Ravaged Pusan; 30,000 Homeless

By ROBERT EUNSON

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 2 (AP)—I saw 30,000 homeless Koreans today, about half of them children.

These are the sad, human by-products of last Friday's fire disaster which cut the heart out of this major supply port and wrought 40 million dollars worth of damage.

About 10,000 of the Koreans are living in a huge U.S. Army warehouse, all sleeping on the floor. They have spread mats on the floor and are dry and warm on this wet day.

The mothers sit on the floor holding the babies. The older children chase all over the place.

The other 20,000 Koreans who lost their homes have moved in with relatives or are living in squad tents which U.S. soldiers put up for them.

It was raining when we walked through the burned section today. Little brown faces kept poking out of the tents, staring inquisitively.

The fire began in the squatter section of this city of 1,000,000, swollen from a normal population of about 250,000 by war refugees.

It spread down a deep ravine like a prairie fire, ate into the heart of the city and destroyed one-sixth of it. Vital railway and military installations went up in smoke, including part of the headquarters for the U.S. Army's Korean base section.

Today U.S. and South Korean army bulldozers and heavy cranes were clearing the rubble and leveling the land for new buildings.

Hundreds of Koreans, young and old, were out in the wet clearing the debris from their lots.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. demanded before the U. N. Assembly today that Moscow let the International Committee of the Red Cross make a free and full check of alleged Red atrocities in Korea.

He also charged that Gen. Nam Il, commander of the North Korean Army, masterminded the Koje Prison riots last year at the same time he was carrying on truce negotiations with the U. N. command at Panmunjom.

Soviet reaction was swift.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, denounced the chief American delegate's proposal for a full investigation as an "eleventh hour approach, obviously demagogic nature." He said the Russians had attempted to have a commission established in 1950 to investigate American atrocities as charged by the Russians, but the Security Council refused to do so.

As to Nam Il, Vishinsky said the charge was "really absurd." He called on Lodge to support his allegation.

The crossfire of words between Lodge and Vishinsky delayed a vote on a five-power resolution which would have the Assembly condemn Red atrocities in Korea. The Assembly adjourned for the day with expectation of voting tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. The resolution will be carried, its backers said, but they were fearful it might not get full support from some of the neutral bloc; some of its members privately have deplored that atrocities case ever was brought into the Assembly at this time.

Vishinsky told the Assembly yesterday that Lodge had not proved his charges of atrocities and that the whole American case was "bosh."

Ike Endorses Dulles' Slap At Sen. McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower today strongly endorsed Secretary of State Dulles' rebuff to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) on the issue of U. S. foreign policy and warned against any swing toward "coercion" in dealing with America's allies.

Declaring that unity among free nations is "our only hope for survival" in the global struggle with Soviet Russia, Eisenhower told a crowded news conference:

"I am in full accord with the statements made yesterday by Secretary Dulles in his press conference.

"I would like to add this comment to what he said: the easiest thing to do with great power is to abuse it—to use it to excess."

McCarthy Delays Statement

McCarthy had no immediate comment on the President's statement.

The senator had previously indicated he might have a news conference later today, but after reading a copy of Eisenhower's remarks, McCarthy told newsmen he wanted to study it further.

"Perhaps I will wait and give out a statement tomorrow morning," he said, adding that he would probably read it via television.

Once again the President avoided a direct, personal crackdown on the controversial Wisconsin senator. Like Dulles, he did not mention McCarthy by name.

"Perfumed Note" Criticism

But Eisenhower was emphatic in opposing McCarthy's views on the proper way to conduct foreign policy—views which Dulles assailed yesterday as an "arrogant, blustering and domineering" approach.

McCarthy had complained in a nationwide radio-TV broadcast on Nov. 24 that the administration was sending "perfumed notes." Among other things, McCarthy demanded a "blockade" of Red China to be carried out by notifying Britain and other allies that American aid would be cut off if they continue trading with the Chinese Communists.

House Committee Invites Vishinsky To "Defend Self"

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—A House committee today invited Andrei Vishinsky, deputy Soviet foreign minister, to appear before the committee and "defend himself" in connection with what was termed the Soviet seizure of three Baltic nations.

A committee spokesman said a letter inviting Vishinsky, Russia's chief U. N. delegate, before the committee was sent to him through the U. S. State Department and the Soviet Embassy in Washington.

The spokesman for the committee, headed by Rep. Charles J. Kersten (R-Wis), said the action was the outgrowth of a committee hearing in Washington Tuesday.

Russian Demand Angers Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan, Dec. 2 (AP)—Official quarters implied today they consider Pakistan's alliances none of Russia's business.

A counter protest is being sent to Moscow, they said, asking the Soviet Union not to indulge in such threats as it expressed in a note this week demanding clarification of press reports that this Moslem nation is dickering with the United States to trade air bases for arms.

"If Pakistan starts protesting against Soviet policy toward the Moslem republics under Soviet influence there will be no end to this business," one source commented.

Both Pakistani and United States officials have denied rumors of an aide-for-bases deal. Prime Minister Mohammed Ali, a former ambassador to Washington, scolded India in a broadcast Tuesday for "the manner and persistence with which speculation continues" on rumors in that neighboring nation.

"There never has been any question at any time of offering military bases in Pakistan to any foreign country," he said.

Italian Goods To Yugos

ROME, Dec. 2 (AP)—Italy reported today it had exported two million dollars worth of goods to Yugoslavia during November despite the cold war over Trieste.

France Would Lend Ear To Truce Bid

PARIS, Dec. 2 (AP)—France in effect told the Communist-led Vietminh today that if it means serious business about an armistice in Indochina, France will lend an ear through normal diplomatic channels.

The French statement, published as a communique after a full cabinet meeting presided over by President Vincent Auriol, was considered a reply to Vietminh leader Ho Chi Minh. The Moscow-educated leader in an interview published by a Stockholm newspaper expressed willingness to negotiate an armistice in the seven-year old Indochina war. The communique was issued just before Premier Joseph Laniel and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault left by plane for the Big Three Bermuda conference.

Soviet Envoy Replaced

MOSCOW, Dec 2 (AP)—The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet said tonight that Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov, Soviet ambassador to China, has been relieved of his duties.

The announcement said he has been replaced by Pavel F. Yudin, who was formerly deputy Soviet high commissioner in East Germany.

Russians Denounce U. S. Marine Corps

MOSCOW, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Soviet military newspaper Red Star today denounced the U. S. Marine Corps as just a bunch of "plunderers, barbarians, robbers, pirates and murderers of children in Korea."

The article by Capt. A. Spapropov is one of a Red Star series in which Soviet soldiers are told they must hate American imperialists because they are preparing a new war against the Soviet Union.

Sapropov said the Marine song "From The Halls of Montezuma to The Shores of Tripoli," echoed a trail of plunder around the world.

Strike Curtails Can Production

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 2 (AP) — Striking CIO United Steelworkers virtually shut off production by the nation's two largest can manufactuerers today, developing immediately a threat to the citrus industry now at the peak of its canning operations.

The strike against Continental Can Co. and American Can Co. hit 68 plants in the United States and 5 in Canada. Some 60 other plants, affiliated with different unions, were not affected by the walkout. Only a few of these have production units.

The two companies employ a total of 60,000 workers. Some 13,000 USW members work in 32 plants of Continental in the United States and 4 in Canada. American Can employs 20,000 USW workers at 36 plants in 16 states and 1 in Canada.

If the walkout goes on very long the steel and citrus industries will be directly affected along with other allied industries. Most tin cans are made of steel.

Woman Tortured, Slain While Mate Helplessly Bound

HOLBROOK, Ariz., Dec. 2 (AP)—A 22-year-old mother was tortured, raped and choked to death in a house trailer at the edge of U.S. Highway 66 today as her husband lay tied hand and foot and her 2-year-old son slept undisturbed.

The husband, after listening to his wife's anguished screams for five hours, broke loose and shot her assailant in the stomach.

Mrs. Betty Faye Allen of Wattsburg, Pa., died on the floor of the 30-foot, four-room trailer in which she and her family were traveling to California.

Her hair and body had been burned by her torturer. A sheet was knotted around her neck. Her hands and feet were tied.

Her husband, Raymond, 25, a machine tool repairman, was shocked into a state of near collapse by the night of horror.

Accused Killer In Hospital

A coroner's jury named Carl J. Folk, 60, of Clovis, N. M., a 6-foot, 215-pound carnival owner as the killer. He is in a hospital here with the bullet wound.

About 10 p.m., Allen related in broken tones at a coroner's inquest, a man entered the unlocked trailer door and said "This is a holdup. Tell me where the money is and everything will be all right."

It was learned later that the robber was carrying a toy gun.

Allen told the intruder that he could find $19 in his trouser pockets.

Then the holdupman tied Allen and his wife.

Allen said the man hooked the trailer to the pickup truck and drove a short distance. Then he returned and attacked Mrs. Allen. The man started to drive the trailer away a second time and bogged down in a ditch.

Allen Finally Frees Self

Again he came back to the trailer and began torturing Mrs. Allen.

"I thought he must be burning her with newspapers soaked in kerosene," Allen said. "It made a big flame."

Allen freed his feet about midnight but the man he said he now recognized as Folk, discovered it and rebound him.

About 5:45 a.m. Allen again freed his feet and stumbled from the trailer to the highway, his hands tied. Folk still was in the trailer.

Allen hailed a passing truck driver, mumbled "There's trouble in my trailer" and headed back to the trailer.

The driver, C. J. Rice of Wichita, Kan., stopped two other drivers and they followed Allen.

As they neared the trailer, Allen fired six shots as Folk ran around the corner of the trailer. Folk continued 200 yards down the road before falling.

New York Dock Strike Collapses

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—A waterfront strike collapsed overnight and New York piers were back to normal today, although a contempt threat still hung over the strikers' heads.

A New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission, whose cleanup program was the target of yesterday's one-day strike, hailed the end of the walkout and a spokesman said:

"I think the honest longshoreman has won."

The walkout was in apparent violation of a no-strike Taft-Hartley law injunction which ended last October's pier strike and which remains in effect for 80 days—until Christmas Eve.

Two federal grand juries in New York began looking into the possibility of contempt charges against the International Longshoremen's Association (Ind).

In Newark, N. J., also, a shipping firm launched contempt proceedings against the ILA.

However, the ILA claimed it didn't call the strike, which erupted on ILA-controlled piers, and went all out to try to end it.

The strike was an effort by exiled dockers to muscle their way back onto the piers in defiance of the bi-state Waterfront Commission's ban against them.

Ridgway Says 6,113 GI POWs Exterminated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, testifying about Korean War atrocities, said today that North Korean and Chinese Reds engaged in a calculated program to "exterminate prisoners of war."

Reporting that at least 6,113 U.S. service men were among the victims, the Army chief of staff told a Senate committee that the "sole plausible explanation of their sparing the lives of any of their captives" was that "living prisoners of war could be exploited."

Ridgway testified at a hearing which Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said was timed to back up charges made before the U.N. General Assembly Monday by Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. Potter is conducting the hearing as a member of the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

President Lays Down Victory Prescription For Republicans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower told Republicans in Congress—Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin among them—today that their party will stay in power only if they adopt "a progressive, dynamic program enhancing the welfare of the people of our country."

Without ever mentioning McCarthy, the President in effect took the position that the Wisconsin senator has picked the wrong issue for the political struggles that lie ahead.

Whereas McCarthy insists Reds-in-government will be a big issue in 1954, Eisenhower expressed renewed conviction that it won't be. Long before that, he said, the administration will have made such progress in rooting subversives out that they no longer will be a "serious menace."

Then the President laid down his own prescription for victory: Republicans should fight for the "progressive, dynamic program" he will lay before Congress in January.

There were a few other items of news. The President said in answer to questions:

1. He'd want to give the matter a lot of study before saying whether the chances are good for a meeting between the Western Powers and Russia. The question, he said, is whether the Russians—who recently said they'd be willing to hold a meeting on Germany and Austria—are acting in good faith.

2. Despite Democratic charges of laxity or worse against the Justice Department, he has the same confidence in Atty. Gen. Brownell as he has in all other Cabinet members.

3. He doesn't believe the government can or should try to get higher taxes next year than it is getting now. What the administration will do, said the President, is cut costs by improving government efficiency.

Allies Again Drawing Blank In POW 'Come Home' Talks

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Dec. 3 (AP)—Allied examiners were drawing a blank again today in efforts to win back a group of 30 South Korean soldiers from Communist indoctrination.

The first five South Koreans refused to accept repatriation and went back to their Red camp.

Today's group was more talkative than yesterday and countered Republic of Korea officers making the explanations with rapid-fire questions, note taking and arguments.

One of the interviewed captives took six pages of notes while the explainer read from a prepared text promising all repatriates their soldier back pay, awards, promotions and an amnesty if they returned home.

Similar explanations failed to win back a single one of the first 30 South Koreans interviewed yesterday. In all, 328 South Koreans, 22 Americans and 1 Briton have refused repatriation and must listen to explanations by their countrymen aimed at coaxing them home.

The South Koreans arrived today dressed in dark blue Communist uniforms and carrying blanket rolls holding all their possessions. They were prepared to go either way, north or south.

The prisoners marched quietly. There was none of the passionate outbursts which marked the seven days of explanations last month by the Communists.

On the second day of the long-delayed Allied interviews, there were indications that the explainers may turn their attention to the one British and 22 U.S. prisoners sooner than expected.

A high U.S. officer said a time table by which the Americans would not be reached until all the reluctant 328 South Koreans are interviewed was "not inflexible."

Newsman Visits Ravaged Pusan; 30,000 Homeless

By ROBERT EUNSON

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 2 (AP)—I saw 30,000 homeless Koreans today, about half of them children.

These are the sad, human by-products of last Friday's fire disaster which cut the heart out of this major supply port and wrought 40 million dollars worth of damage.

About 10,000 of the Koreans are living in a huge U.S. Army warehouse, all sleeping on the floor. They have spread mats on the floor and are dry and warm on this wet day.

The mothers sit on the floor holding the babies. The older children chase all over the place.

The other 20,000 Koreans who lost their homes have moved in with relatives or are living in squad tents which U.S. soldiers put up for them.

It was raining when we walked through the burned section today. Little brown faces kept poking out of the tents, staring inquisitively.

The fire began in the squatter section of this city of 1,000,000, swollen from a normal population of about 250,000 by war refugees.

It spread down a deep ravine like a prairie fire, ate into the heart of the city and destroyed one-sixth of it. Vital railway and military installations went up in smoke, including part of the headquarters for the U.S. Army's Korean base section.

Today U.S. and South Korean army bulldozers and heavy cranes were clearing the rubble and leveling the land for new buildings.

Hundreds of Koreans, young and old, were out in the wet clearing the debris from their lots.

JCS Against Drastic Revision Of Defense

Evolution Is Seen Bringing Best Plan

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Adm. Arthur Radford disclosed tonight the new Joint Chiefs of Staff are flatly opposed to any sudden and drastic change in the national defense system, believing the best plans will come by evolution.

The chairman said that what the JCS has been doing is taking an "interim look" at the military picture while planning a long term program.

He made no mention of the "new look" which the administration ordered after it had named a new slate of members for the Joint Chiefs organization to succeed the former members whose ouster was demanded by some powerful members of Congress.

In an address prepared for a meeting of the American Ordnance Assn. here, Radford for the first time publicly discussed the objectives of the new Joint Chiefs organization.

It was Radford's second speech of the day. This afternoon he spoke to a conference of U. S. Military Academy students at West Point, N.Y., telling them that the "threat of war has not diminished."

In his talk here tonight Radford reviewed the continuing military threat of Russia; said it was within the power of a "small group of men in the Kremlin" to decide on a shooting war; noted the Russians have a three-prong system for gaining objectives — politico-economic, military and psychological-propaganda — and that if one is turned back another is used. Then he announced:

"In view of these, and other planning factors, the new Joint Chiefs of Staff considered it absolutely mandatory that we not make any recommendations for radical changes — especially not on any overnight basis.

"In discussing this with Secretary (of Defense) Wilson, we agreed that the best defense plans and programs will come about through evolution, if we plan deliberately and with wisdom. We further agreed that, even though our military plans are based primarily on military factors, we must also take into account a wider range of policy and economic factors, as well as the latest technological developments."

Tobacco-Chawin' W. Va. Boys Cited In Divorce Action

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP)—A railroad official's wife was awarded a partial divorce today after testifying she refused to live with him in a West Virginia town "where little girls 4 or 5 years old chewed snuff and the boys had tobacco in their mouths all the time."

Mrs. Josephine Cook told Circuit Judge S. Ralph Warnken she had tried but could not tolerate life in an unheated, rat-infested apartment in Shinston, W. Va.

She said her husband, William J. Cook Sr., earned $800 a month as an assistant railroad superintendent. He now lives in Lumberport, W. Va., she said. Court records gave his age as 47, hers as 43.

Texas Twisters Claim Two Lives

AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 2 (AP)—Texas' fourth tornado in 24 hours spun through the historic community of Washington-on-the Brazos today killing two persons and injuring five others.

Earlier twisters had dropped from heavy rain clouds to injure 13 at Seguin, 50 miles south of here, and three at the farm community of Tanglewood, about 45 miles east of here. A fourth tornado destroyed property in Huntsville of East Texas but caused no injuries.

The tornadoes formed ahead of a cold front pushing slowly eastward through west Texas. Up to five inches of rain fell in central Texas last night and early today, flooding some highways temporarily.

About 12:30 p.m. (CST) today a twister tore through a farm near Washington-on-the-Brazos, about 100 miles east of here, where the Texas Declaration of Independence from Mexico was signed March 2, 1836. It sucked up a 4-room tenant house occupied by seven members of a Negro family, carried it 54 yards and dashed the building to the ground.

Killed were Elberta Carger, 65, and her 6-months-old grandson, Elbert Crawford. The other five in the house were injured.

Hitler Blamed For Losing War By Ex-Officers

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 2 (AP)—Eleven of Hitler's former generals and admirals say he was the big reason Germany lost World War II.

A 472-page German book by some of the Third Reich's top military and civilian experts, published today, gives the Fuehrer's military talents a rough going over. Here are some of the collective views in the book, entitled "Bilanz des Zweiten Weltkriegs" ("Balance of World War II):

Hitler started with an understrength air force, a navy even worse prepared, and 90 per cent of Germany's business tied up in peacetime production.

He toyed with an impossible plan for invading England but let slip an easy chance to seize Africa and the Middle East.

He outblundered Napoleon by his campaign in Russia.

Although German invention perfected jet fighters ahead of the Allies, Hitler passed them up, although they might have wrecked Allied air power.

Former Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, who commanded German forces in Italy, blames Hitler for letting Mussolini run his own show in the Mediterranean until it was too late.

Former Vice Adm. Kurt Assmann describes Hitler's conception of naval warfare as "extremely primitive," with his attention focused "exclusively on the Continent."

Ex-Col. Gen. Heinz Guderian, Germany's No. 1 tank general, writes that Hitler repeated the mistakes of Napoleon and Charles XII of Sweden in Russia and surpassed them both in stubbornness. Guderian also calls the 1944 Ardennes offensive leading to the Battle of The Bulge a mistake, contending the last ditch German effort should have been directed against the Russians.

"Mercy Killer" Of 30 Given Two-Year Term

GOETTINGEN, Germany, Dec. 2 (AP)—A German court today sentenced a woman doctor to two years in prison for the wartime "mercy killing" of 30 insane women.

She was acquitted in the "mercy" deaths of 60 mentally unbalanced or crippled children.

Dr. Hildegard Wesse, 42, assigned to a hospital for the insane, claimed she was carrying out a Hitler decree.

Truman Operates AP Wirephoto Network

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman tried his hand as a wirephoto operator today and got praise for a job well done from workers along The Associated Press nationwide network.

Truman visited AP headquarters in Rockefeller Center during a morning stroll. At the photo desk he was invited to handle the transmission of a picture himself.

In some 125 newspapers offices across the country, his voice was then heard announcing the next pictures. The unexpected change in daily routine brought these reactions:

In Truman's home state of Missouri, Kansas City operator Bob Seckinger said "He handled the net like a veteran.

"If it hadn't been so early in the morning I would have thought someone was pulling our leg. But we're used to seeing him up with the roosters. Harry didn't fool me."

Operator Chet Morgan in Atlanta, Ga., reported:

"Maybe he didn't have quite the finnesse of a regular monitor but he did well for the first time."

In Minneapolis, operator Dick Finn shouted to alert other workers to the Truman announcement coming over the network loudspeaker.

Later he remarked, "I got a kick out of the way he started out; he seemed a little confused, but then he did a good job."

Truman visited AP headquarters in Rockefeller Center during a morning stroll. At the photo desk he was invited to handle the transmission of a picture himself.

In some 125 newspapers offices across the country, his voice was then heard announcing the next pictures. The unexpected change in daily routine brought these reactions:

In Truman's home state of Missouri, Kansas City operator Bob Seckinger said "He handled the net like a veteran.

"If it hadn't been so early in the morning I would have thought someone was pulling our leg. But we're used to seeing him up with the roosters. Harry didn't fool me."

Operator Chet Morgan in Atlanta, Ga., reported:

"Maybe he didn't have quite the finnesse of a regular monitor but he did well for the first time."

In Minneapolis, operator Dick Finn shouted to alert other workers to the Truman announcement coming over the network loudspeaker.

Later he remarked, "I got a kick out of the way he started out; he seemed a little confused, but then he did a good job."

Council Holds Up Md. Delinquency Agency Proposal

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP)—Maryland's Legislative Council voted today to hold back on a suggestion a special state agency should be set up to handle juvenile delinquency problems.

It recommended the State Department of Welfare be urged to go ahead and implement this law.

The committee said the Legislature in the meantime should delegate to some committee or commission or to the Council the job of making a more intensive study of the problem and how to meet it.

The Sobeloff Commission on the Administrative Organization of the State came in with a report more than a year ago in which it said the handling of juvenile problems needed overhauling.

It said the efforts should be concentrated in one new agency or in one division of an existing agency, but it declined to recommend which, just as the Legislative Council did today.

The 1941 law put the State training schools for delinquent children under supervision of the State Department of Welfare.

In hearings before a Legislative Council committee, superintendents and members of the boards of governors denounced the department bitterly for its treatment of the schools.

One of the complaints was that the department fails to find adequate foster homes and provide adequate supervision for youngsters once they serve their time in the training schools and are released. Spokesmen said school personnel can do this better than welfare workers.

The Sobeloff commission suggested the new agency, be it independent or under the welfare department, should have charge of both functions and serve as well as a unifying force for juvenile court activities, police work and detention, and preventive measures.

Turns In False Alarms To Keep Firemen Busy

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP)—Alvin Anay, 39, was held for the grand jury today on charges of turning in false fire alarms.

"I don't like to see firemen sitting around," the arresting policeman testified Anay explained. "If they don't get exercise they get stale."

Anay is unemployed.

Technician Burned In Hopkins Explosion

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP)—Paul V. Alisea, 45-year-old laboratory technician, was burned severely today in an explosion in the basement of Remsen Hall on the Johns Hopkins University campus.

Alisea was working alone in the laboratory at the time. Smoke from a fire which followed the explosion spread through the three-story building and forced evacuation of 400 students.

Alisea suffered burns of the face and upper body. He was taken to Union Memorial Hospital.

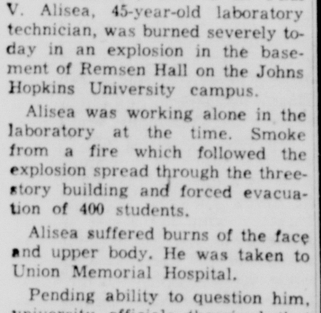

Pending ability to question him, university officials theorized that he might have been working with benzene, an industrial solvent, and sodium metal which would produce hydrogen. Both hydrogen and benzene are explosive.

He named these district attorneys:

Duncan W. Daugherty, of Huntington, W. VA., for the Southern district of West Virginia to succeed A. Garnett Thompson, who is resigning.

Julian T. Gaskill, of Goldsboro, N. C., for the Eastern district of North Carolina, in place of Charles P. Green, resigned.

The President also named Frank Quarles of Jefferson County, Tenn., to be U. S. Marshal for the Eastern district of Tennessee in place of Henry R. Bell.

Gov. M'Keldin Presents Gift To Dr. Byrd, Likely '54 Rival

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Dec. 2 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin and Dr. H. C. Byrd, both likely candidates for governor next year, exchanged pleasantries at the State Grange convention today with Byrd telling the governor he'd always be "welcome in the state house."

About 150 persons are attending the three-day meeting here.

At the luncheon today, the governor presented Byrd, University of Maryland president, with an engraving of the state house.

McKeldin explained the engraving was to have been presented at an earlier banquet but an emergency prevented this.

In accepting, Byrd said: "If there is anything significant in this gift I assure the governor he will always have a welcome in the state house."

The two exchanged compliments without saying anything directly about the upcoming campaign.

McKeldin said of Byrd he doesn't know anybody who has done more for any university in the nation. Byrd said the governor has always given him everything he wanted for the university whenever it was in the governor's power to do so.

McKeldin has not yet formally said he'll seek re-election on the Republican ticket. Byrd has all but said he'll be a candidate for the Democratic nomination next year.

In discussing the University's overseas extension program for U. S. servicemen in Europe and Africa, Byrd told the meeting that the armed forces turned down two teachers for security reasons. He said the teachers were enroute overseas when they were rejected.

Production Index Off

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board reported that its index if industrial production slid off one point in October and it expects a further decline of three points, or 1.3 per cent, in November.

The board's index is a principal measure of business activity. It recorded a strong rise in November a year ago.

An Ancient Curse

More than 3,000 years ago the cry "Unclean, unclean!" was heard in the streets of the Orient, and passers-by shrank back to avoid the contamination of the leper. Their horror was more superstitious than prophylactic.

The germ theory of disease was unknown, sanitation was largely left to the vultures, and it was widely assumed that lepers were suffering for their sins. They roamed at large, untreated, and were required to cry warnings of their presence.

Unlike many once dreaded diseases which are rare now, leprosy has persisted. There are more than a million lepers in the world today. Occasional cases in the U. S. are sent to a leprosarium at Carville, La., for treatment.

Contrary to widespread belief, leprosy is not highly contagious—far less so than tuberculosis, for instance. Nor is it incurable. Modern refinements of the old Indian remedy, chaulmoogra oil, have permitted it to be injected hypodermically, and have eliminated side-effects.

In Hawaii in recent years, more than half the cases treated have been discharged as recovered. Segregation of patients, except in infective stages, is no longer stressed.

There is little leprosy in the United States and Europe, but it is fairly common in Asia and Africa. There is also a great deal of it in South America and the West Indies. It is most likely to appear in hot, damp climates, and hardly occurs at all in very dry areas.

Present prospects are that leprosy will be largely a thing of the past by the end of this century. Because its infectiousness is low, medical progress in arresting individual cases permits a steady reduction in the total number of lepers. A curse of more than 3,000 years is in process of being exorcised.

Practical Charity

At one time or another virtually all of us have been approached by someone less fortunate asking for help in the form of cash, food, clothing, shelter or some other form of assistance.

Generally we "kick in" as best we can to lend a helping hand, getting our reward from a glow of self-satisfaction for our "charity." But charity alone is not the answer because it does little to solve the problems of those on the receiving end.

This situation long has been recognized by the Salvation Army whose officers and workers, following the lines laid down by the founder, William Booth, have sought not only to relieve the immediate pressures, but to find and eradicate the basic problems that created those pressures.

The record of its success is shown by the figures of the many thousands of people rehabilitated, of men and women released from prisons who have gone on to lead decent and useful lives, of broken families reunited, of neglected children given the love and care to which they are entitled, of sick and dying persons provided with a little extra spiritual strength through friendship and prayer.

This week, ending Sunday, has been set aside this year as National Salvation Army Week. It is a time to reflect upon the success of this organization through its practical yet spiritual approach to the problems of mankind.

Where Men Are Many

There are more women than men in the United States. The 1950 census reported that, out of a total population of 150,697,361, there were 49,556,000 females over 21 but only 47,860,228 males over 21. It also noted that in only 16 states of the 48 did men outnumber women.

Most of those states are west of the Mississippi. The exceptions are West Virginia, Michigan and Wisconsin. East of the Rockies, there are also more men than women in Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota. From there on west men tend to predominate. There are more men than women in Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona and Nebraska. In Colorado the number of women exceeds that of men. On the Pacific Coast there are more men in Washington and Oregon, but fewer in California.

Almost a century ago Horace Greeley wrote an editorial saying "Go West, young man." Evidently his advice has been taken. But marrying is an old custom which most women believe in and the wise hunter goes where the quarry is abundant. Greeley's advice needs to be supplemented with: "Go West, young woman."

Some Voted In Secrecy

Yugoslavia has held its first election under a recent law providing for the secret ballot—and maybe that's news. Press correspondents on the ground reported that at some polling places in Belgrade the voters actually did vote in secret. This could represent some progress, even though they could only choose between voting for the government candidates and leaving the ballot blank in protest against the regime.

It was no trouble at all, however, to predict that Marshal Tito's men would win the 352 parliamentary seats that were to be filled. In most districts there was only one candidate—Tito's, in some score of districts where there were two candidates, both were Tito's. So the marshal couldn't lose.

The voting, though heavy, fell somewhat below last year, when 92 per cent of the eligible voters took part. Since quite a few stayed away, apparently, that is evidence that the people of Yugoslavia feel a little freer than they did. Since a fair percentage handed in blank ballots, that is even stronger proof.

Spies In GE

It should surprise no one to hear that spies are active in General Electric plants. With the great increase in automatic and robot weapons, the electronics industry is more important to national defense than ever before. The Moscow-dominated Communist party would be sure to make complete preparations to spy on the industry and to prepare to sabotage it in time of war.

The United Electrical Workers Union was expelled from the CIO in 1949 because it was under Communist control. It is still active in many plants. State and federal governments do not want to outlaw UE from any plant where it has been chosen to represent the employes. The Atomic Energy Commission has excluded it, in fact, from highly sensitive plants on grounds of national security.

Meanwhile, the FBI is not asleep. At Senator McCarthy's hearings in Boston a witness testified that he was an undercover agent for the FBI since 1941 in General Electric plants. He joined the Communist party and kept in touch with its activities, he said.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Advances In ACTH And Cortisone

A child, two and one-half years old, was admitted to a large California hospital with peritonitis. She was toxic, prostrated, and critically ill. Her appendix had ruptured four to five days previously but the child had been neglected because her parents did not realize how sick she was. The wonder drugs were started and she was given the hormone ACTH. She made dramatic progress and within 24 hours appeared to be well. The hormone was stopped and symptoms returned. At this stage the physicians decided that they had to remove the cause to effect a cure. They operated, removed the ruptured appendix, and the child recovered.

ACTH and cortisone have been turning disease on and off since the first time they were used in the treatment of arthritis. The arthritics were comfortable within 48 hours and some were able to walk or use their hands for the first time in years. But as soon as the extracts were stopped, the knees and elbows began to stiffen, pain returned, and they became disabled once more. The arthritis was not cured but held in abeyance so long as the drug was used.

Illness or injury creates stress on the system and, unless counteracted, healing is delayed or the disease takes the upper hand. The adrenal glands play an active role in this mechanism and produce the needed hormones whenever the body is confronted with stress. Arthritis or other diseases occur because the stress has been too great or the glands inadequate to meet the demands.

These hormones are never used in the treatment of ordinary infections such as the common cold, whooping cough, or active tuberculosis because they are apt to make the condition worse. On the other hand, we now know they are of value in controling an overwhelming infection such as occurred to the little girl with peritonitis. It holds the disease in abeyance until penicillin has a chance to kill off the germs.

These observations were reported by a group of physicians from the Highland Alameda County hospital, Oakland, Cal.; they found that ACTH and cortisone also led to rapid control of symptoms from severe pneumonia, tetanus, diphtheria, and certain forms of meningitis. The substance was used on nine patients with severe progressive liver disease of viral origin. In three patients there was evidence of improvement within the first few hours. In four it had no effect; and in two, temporary relief followed by a relapse.

ACTH and cortisone have been effective in cases of rheumatic fever, particularly when the heart is involved or symptoms are more severe than usual. When properly administered, fever and joint pain subside, the pulse slows, appetite increases, and the size of the heart is reduced. Now and then dramatic response is obtained and at times the hormones are life-saving. There is no evidence that the substances correct leakage of the heart valves nor will they prevent murmurs from developing after rheumatic fever is well established.

TOMORROW: Abnormalities of the parathyroid glands.

NO MAGIC IN FRUIT

B. V. writes: Are there any fruits that would strengthen the mucous membranes in the throat in a case of postnasal drip?

REPLY

No. It would take more than fruit to eliminate existing infection or to correct an allergic condition, the two chief causative factors in postnasal drip.

The Nobel Surprize

Great news that an American got the Nobel peace prize in an off-year. Must have got pistol packin' mamma to lay that artillery down.

If a fellow went shopping for peace these days he would have to do it without samples. Don't forget those Nobel people skipped a couple of years and finally had to give it to a soldier.

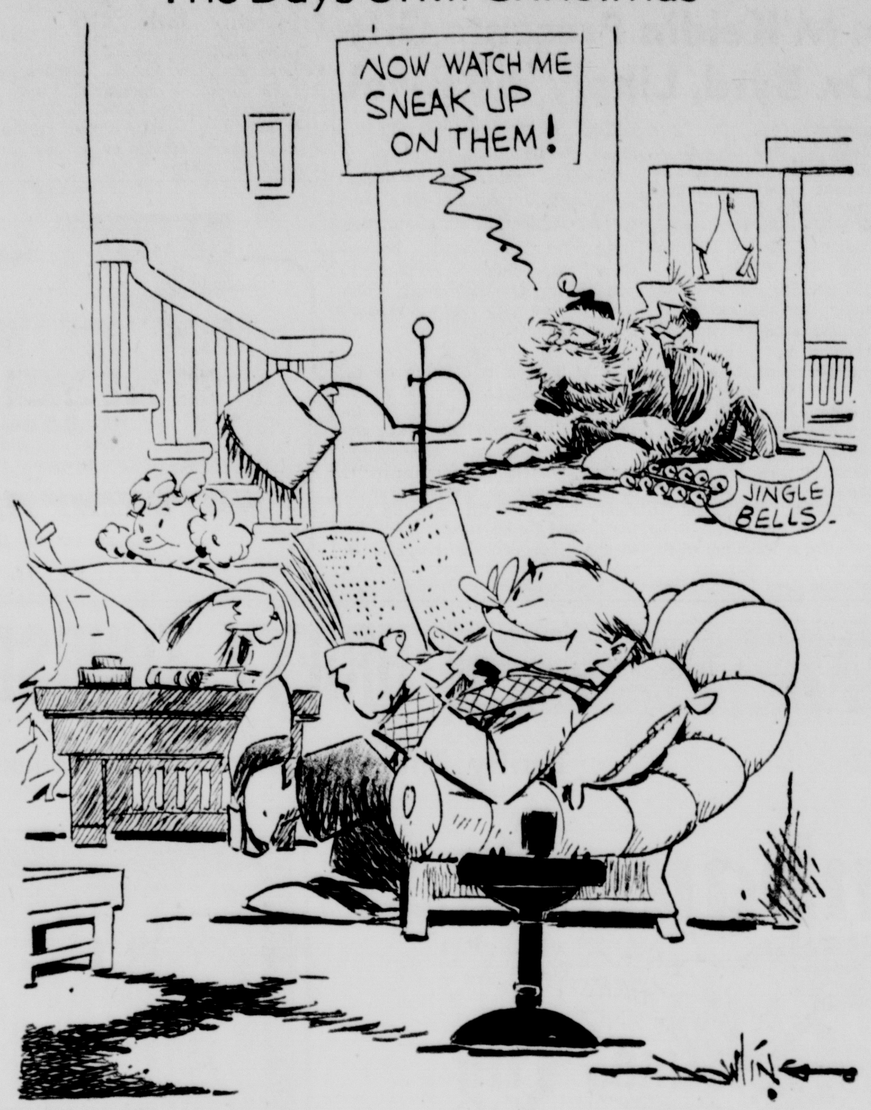

General Marshall deserves that honor. But don't forget that a philanthropist almost got it in 1952 for throwing a shovel to a fellow in the Grand Canyon.

Peace is getting scarcer than burlesque in Boston and harder to locate than a cricket with sciatica. We thought a man might get the prize for tuning down his radio set in a boarding-house.

Just heard that rocking chairs are forbidden in the Kremlin. Somebody might nod accidentally.

Fact is peace on earth and goodwill to men is the preamble to a Christmas postcard. But the Nobel people had to get rid of that prize somehow. You just don't put money in the attic.

Russians Have Made Bermuda Conference Important; Kremlin Spiking United European Army; Secretary Humphrey Prays For Secretary Benson

WASHINGTON — As President Eisenhower meets with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Laniel in Bermuda, diplomats privately agree that the Russians have neatly and skillfully shifted the emphasis of what the Big Three will talk about.

Instead of a meeting which Ike was attending only to please Winston Churchill, Bermuda now has some real problems to discuss. For the Kremlin has dealt a severe blow to the united European army. Furthermore, diplomats agree that the Kremlin, which can be extremely stupid at times, this time scored a real victory.

For several weeks, the Russians have been saying "no, no, no," to all proposals to sit down at a foreign ministers conference to discuss Germany and Austria. They said "no" so convincingly and so repeatedly that Western diplomats believed it. That's one reason we pushed the invitation so hard. We never thought it would be accepted. And the French, also believing them and figuring the Russians were really getting tough, started considering the united European army in earnest.

Then suddenly, during the climax of the French debate, the Russians reversed themselves and said "yes." They agreed to attend the four-power foreign ministers' conference.

This means that the French will delay attempted ratification of the united European army until after the four-power conference. It also means that the agenda for the conference won't be decided upon for a couple of months, and in the interim the plan to bring German troops into NATO is almost certain to get more and more bogged down in the quagmire of French politics.

For what many Frenchmen and quite a few Americans don't realize is that the No. 1 goal of Soviet Russia today is to keep German fighting men out of the Western European army.

If the Kremlin can prevent French and German troops from marching shoulder-to-shoulder together; if they can make them continue their 90-year hostility, then they can still fan the fires of Franco-German power politics which have caused the last three wars of Europe.

Despite problems in Korea and despite politics and spy-hunting here at home, this remains the most cancerous long-range source of war in the world.

The Big Three, meeting in Bermuda, will have to spend part of their time considering this — whether Churchill likes it or not.

Heretofore, Winston has given the united European army only platonic lip service. But if he devoted his own great persuasive talents to this instead of conspiring to meet Malenkov in Moscow, he would make a great and perhaps enduring contribution to the peace of mankind.

Who Needs Prayer Most?

Though Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has his share of cabinet headaches, he prays for another cabinet colleague who has even more. With a budget to balance, taxes to raise and a debt ceiling to keep under, Humphrey is in plenty of hot water. However, he confided to friends recently: "When I say my prayers at night, I thank God that I am not Ezra Taft Benson."

Inside reason why John Foster Dulles finally took a stand against Senator Jenner in the Igor Gouzenko diplomatic dickering was because the Canadians told him there was no use arguing further, he was wasting his time. Mike Pearson, Canadian external minister and one of the best friends the United States has, is so sore at being pressured by Dulles that much of that friendship has been alienated . . . The man who deserves chief credit for getting a fair deal for Lt. Milo Radulovitch is Ed Murrow, CBS vice president and ace commentator. Murrow so dramatically told the story of Radulovitch's being fired because his father read a pro-Communist newspaper that high-up Air Force officials had to review the case . . . Walter Trohan of the Chicago Tribune and Danton Walker of the affiliated New York News wrote indignant letters to Look magazine denying Richard Wilson's statement that they were close to Joe McCarthy. Beauteous Washington hostess Gwen Cafritz, also labeled by Look as among Joe's admirers, didn't write.

Dewey Disapproved — Capital gossip had it that Tom Dewey helped inspire Brownell's Chicago speech at which he opened up Pandora's box of Truman and Harry D. White spy charges. But Dewey has now let it be known he was unalterably opposed to unloosing the Red-hunters . . . His old friend Brownell had been considered a good bet to become the next governor of New York. Now his chances are not so good . . . Trouble is that Brownell started the drums of religious prejudice. For while he struck at Harry Truman, the man he hit was Henry Morgenthau.

Beware Churchill's Charm—John Foster Dulles has given Ike an intensive pep talk about not succumbing to Churchill's charm at Bermuda. Dulles even prepared a briefing resume, pointing out the dangers of yielding to Churchill's idea of going to Moscow to meet Malenkov.

These Days

Disintegration

The Republican party, after 20 years out of power, still finds it difficult to develop sufficient political leadership to produce a passable legislative program for Congress and a fighting organization among the people. The death of Senator Robert A. Taft left a void that has not yet been filled. President Eisenhower continues to remain aloof from party politics. The 1954 campaign is already here, but the Republicans are quarreling among themselves because no one exhibits the strength to compose the differences among the various leaders.

The realistic fact is that President Eisenhower does not like being a politician. He has never been a politician. He has been a brilliant success as a soldier and has achieved distinction as a diplomat, but not as a technical party politician.

Nevertheless, two-party politics is the method by which the United States governs itself. The alternative to our system would be a revolution by which one party or one individual would prevail. The danger is that unless President Eisenhower assumes the political leadership of the Republican party, it will dissipate itself into a disastrous factionalism.

Even Franklin D. Roosevelt, as astute a politician as history records, could not treat elected officials, senators and representatives, and cabinet members as though they were top sergeants. He might have fooled them by his brilliant double-talk, he might have cajoled them by patronage, but he never ignored them.

I was present at the dinner of the B'nai B'rith in Washington at which the President delivered a speech that could be interpreted as a pleasantry or an attack on Senators McCarthy and Jenner, on his own attorney general, Herbert Brownell Jr., and on the director of the FBI, J. Edgar Hoover. It was not a good speech because, on the whole, it was unsuited for the occasion, but it was pleasant in spots.

This was on Monday night. On Tuesday night, Senator Joe McCarthy hit back with a block-buster that shook and split the Republican party. Obviously, Joe McCarthy accepted Monday night's challenge and got even. Considering the mildness of the President's statement on Monday, McCarthy's reply on Tuesday was too strong. Maybe he wanted it that way to bring on a test of strength. The immediate effect is a very split party.

Now, if Eisenhower decides to even the score, the cleavage within the Republican party will continue to widen until, in 1954, the Democrats could win both the House and the Senate. In some states, such as Massachusetts, McCarthy can win the election for the Republicans or he can bring on a defeat for his own party. Practical politicians recognize his immense strength. They blame Eisenhower for permitting any individual in his party to grow politically stronger than the President. Nevertheless, they admit that they have no way of reaching Eisenhower on a political level.

The Democrats are not divided on the single point of winning in 1954. Their actual disagreements are deeper than those which exist among Republicans, but they are now united on the question of 1954. Their quarrels have been postponed until after that date. The Republicans cannot display a similar party discipline.

In the Eisenhower cabinet, only two members understand politics. They are the attorney general, Herbert Brownell Jr., and the postmaster general, Arthur E. Summerfield. If either of these men were given a free hand to bring the party together, he could do it. But the President seems not to be ready for that.

The President is a lovable personality. It could be said that he is the most lovable personality that has been in the White House in recent years. Nobody wants to be against him. Nobody questions his moral stature. But he proved in 1952 that he cannot transfer the affection the people have for him to anyone else: he did not win the Senate or the House. If, in 1954, he loses even his nominal majority, if the Democrats are able to produce an actual majority in both houses, his last two years in office will be disastrous. It is not good for the country if the President is of one party and the Congress of another.

Matter Of Fact

Bermuda And Rhee

WASHINGTON.

Nearly everybody has conveniently forgotten about Korea, and about Korean President Syngman Rhee's repeatedly expressed intention to start the Korea War again if he does not get what he wants. Almost the only people who have not been allowed to forget these matters are the members of the National Security Council, the nation's highest policy-making body.

The question—what to do about Rhee?—has in recent weeks been the subject of prolonged and anxious debate within the council. The same question will certainly be discussed in detail by President Eisenhower, Sir Winston Churchill, and French Premier Laniel in Bermuda.

The trouble is that President Eisenhower and his chief advisers are themselves not entirely sure what ought to be done if Rhee starts the Korean War again on his own. They are sure only that everything possible must be done to prevent Rhee from doing so, simply because such unilateral action by Rhee would present this country and its allies with an impossible dilemma.

The importance attached to this problem is suggested by the fact that a central purpose of Vice President Richard Nixon's trip to the Far East was to have a private talk with Rhee. The most careful preparations for this meeting were made before Nixon left the United States. During his recent visit to Korea, Nixon reportedly did a most effective job of "clarifying" for Rhee the American official view of the Korean situation.

Warned Not to Start It

Nixon gave Rhee firm assurances of all-out American support if South Korea were again attacked by the Communists. But he warned Rhee, in polite, indirect, but firm terms not to start the war again on his own initiative. Nixon did not go so far as to say bluntly that in this case the American forces would be withdrawn from the Korean peninsula. But he did indicate, at least obliquely, that this was a possibility which Rhee must take into account.

Partly because of Nixon's talk with Rhee, it is not believed in Washington that there is any immediate danger of Rhee's taking off on his own. Well before Nixon's visit, Rhee had made certain commitments to Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson. These commitments, in the view of the State Department at least, bind Rhee to obeying the United Nations Command until next March. But March is only four months away. And what if Rhee then orders his Republic of Korea troops into action?

The Rhee problem is complicated by the fact that many foreigners darkly suspect that it is not really a problem at all. When Secretary of State John Foster Dulles went to New Delhi some months ago, for example, Indian Prime Minister Nehru genially told him that the United States could easily control Rhee if it really wanted to. Dulles replied that Rhee headed a sovereign state, and that Nehru, as the chief critic of Western colonialism in Asia, could not 'have it both ways." But Nehru remained skeptical and his skepticism is shared at least in part by the British and the French.

No Firm Agreement

Yet the facts remain. The Republic of Korea Army will certainly fight if Rhee gives the order. As Rhee has made clear on numerous occasions (most recently to this reporter's partner) he is perfectly capable of giving the order, whatever the consequences. There has never been any firm agreement, either within the American government, or between the United States and its principal allies, on what to do if this happens.

There is basic agreement on other matters. Rightly or wrongly, the United States will not start the war again, even if it becomes clear—as it virtually is already—that no agreed settlement in Korea is possible. On this point the British and French offer no dissent whatever. If the Communists again attack—which cannot be ruled out—American policy calls for no-holds-barred retaliation against the Chinese mainland, using atomic weapons if this is considered militarily profitable.

The British and French are already committed at least in theory to this response. That leaves Rhee. Some American policy-makers incline to the view that the best way to prevent Rhee from taking off on his own is a flat and even public warning that in this case the United Nations Command will abandon Korea to its fate. The French and British—although perhaps not Sir Winston Churchill himself—would no doubt favor some such course. But others among President Eisenhower's advisers believe that a withdrawal from Korea would be so terrible a strategic, political, and psychological disaster that it should not be considered under any circumstances whatsoever.

In any event, one thing is clear. The Bermuda meeting provides an opportunity for achieving what does not now exist—an agreed allied policy on Rhee and Korea, while there is yet time. Nothing could be more foolish or dangerous than to drift on until March, hoping against hope that the brave and stubborn old Korean president does not really mean what he has so often said.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The big retreat in American policy—retreat back to the Truman-Acheson foreign policy—has begun. It may yet involve not only recognition of Red China's government but an acquiescence in the resumption of trade by Great Britain and other governments with the Communist world. Red China, although declared an aggressor by the United Nations, is to be treated as an equal because the Allies so will it.

On the surface, the secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, hit back at Senator McCarthy's criticism of foreign policy but there have been in the past so many other differences of opinion expressed by Senator Knowland and other Republican members of Congress without evoking a public rebuttal from the Department of State that this could not be the main reason for the pointed statement virtually yielding to the Allies what they have been asking for in recent months.

All this comes on the eve of the Bermuda Conference of the Big Three and just before the forthcoming meeting with Soviet Russia's foreign minister in Berlin.

Sets Stage For Trouble

The critics of the President and the secretary of state who have been trying to drive a wedge between many millions of Republicans—of whom Senator McCarthy is only one—and the White House now have succeeded at last. But this is not because the Wisconsin senator made a severe criticism of the administration. It is because the secretary of state has just announced a turn in American policy which sets the stage not only for the failure of the whole Korean negotiation but for more trouble in the Far East as Syngman Rhee reads his death warrant in the statement just issued by Mr. Dulles.

The secretary's declaration said in part:

"Today it is to our interest to assist certain countries. But that does not give us the right to try to take them over, to dictate their trade policies and to make them our satellites.

"Indeed, we do not want weak or subservient allies. Our friends and allies are dependable just because they are unwilling to be anyone's satellites. They will freely sacrifice much in a common effort. But they will be no more subservient to the United States than they will be subservient to Soviet Russia."

The foregoing, almost verbatim, has been the British argument for the last three years. It means that the Allies will trade with Soviet Russia hereafter or with Communist China and that they will be permitted to forget that, when American boys were dying in Korea, British exports of rubber to Soviet Russia and thus to Red China were helping the Communist war effort.

Whether the Allies did "freely sacrifice much in a common effort" is a question that the record in Korea answers. For America, together with the South Korean government, supplied nearly all the manpower and warmaking supplies while the Allies insisted on dictating to the American commander-in-chief, General MacArthur, that he must not use maximum military power to defeat the enemy.

Objective Not Achieved

But when the term "satellites" is used along with "allies," it may well be asked why the United States has dictated to and indeed is getting ready to "coerce" an ally and make of the South Korean regime a "satellite" just because the European allies demand that this be done. There is no secret about the viewpoint of the London government toward the government of Syngman Rhee. Now that Secretary Dulles has declared publicly that what the Allies say is to be American policy, notwithstanding our fundamental objections heretofore, it may be taken for granted that the road to appeasement has been opened and that South Korea is to be sacrificed, after all. It means that, despite the casualties incurred by 140,000 Americans, the original objective of repelling aggression is not to be achieved.

The Chinese Communists, who were not in Korea before the aggression started, are still there and will remain there because the Allies are willing to accept Red China into the United Nations. America now says, in effect, that it must agree to whatever Great Britain and the other countries want or lose military bases they give us in Europe.

Hence American taxpayers are to be asked to continue to pay huge sums to European countries as a means of influencing those governments to let America have bases abroad. Such military cooperation should be given to American air forces without strings or concessions or bribes if it aids the defense of the European countries themselves. To confess openly American subservience to its European allies and to disregard the moral principle on which the American case rests is not the way to preserve American leadership or to maintain the self-respect of the United States in the world.

An Ancient Curse

More than 3,000 years ago the cry "Unclean, unclean!" was heard in the streets of the Orient, and passers-by shrank back to avoid the contamination of the leper. Their horror was more superstitious than prophylactic.

The germ theory of disease was unknown, sanitation was largely left to the vultures, and it was widely assumed that lepers were suffering for their sins. They roamed at large, untreated, and were required to cry warnings of their presence.

Unlike many once dreaded diseases which are rare now, leprosy has persisted. There are more than a million lepers in the world today. Occasional cases in the U. S. are sent to a leprosarium at Carville, La., for treatment.

Contrary to widespread belief, leprosy is not highly contagious—far less so than tuberculosis, for instance. Nor is it incurable. Modern refinements of the old Indian remedy, chaulmoogra oil, have permitted it to be injected hypodermically, and have eliminated side-effects.

In Hawaii in recent years, more than half the cases treated have been discharged as recovered. Segregation of patients, except in infective stages, is no longer stressed.

There is little leprosy in the United States and Europe, but it is fairly common in Asia and Africa. There is also a great deal of it in South America and the West Indies. It is most likely to appear in hot, damp climates, and hardly occurs at all in very dry areas.

Present prospects are that leprosy will be largely a thing of the past by the end of this century. Because its infectiousness is low, medical progress in arresting individual cases permits a steady reduction in the total number of lepers. A curse of more than 3,000 years is in process of being exorcised.

Practical Charity

At one time or another virtually all of us have been approached by someone less fortunate asking for help in the form of cash, food, clothing, shelter or some other form of assistance.

Generally we "kick in" as best we can to lend a helping hand, getting our reward from a glow of self-satisfaction for our "charity." But charity alone is not the answer because it does little to solve the problems of those on the receiving end.

This situation long has been recognized by the Salvation Army whose officers and workers, following the lines laid down by the founder, William Booth, have sought not only to relieve the immediate pressures, but to find and eradicate the basic problems that created those pressures.

The record of its success is shown by the figures of the many thousands of people rehabilitated, of men and women released from prisons who have gone on to lead decent and useful lives, of broken families reunited, of neglected children given the love and care to which they are entitled, of sick and dying persons provided with a little extra spiritual strength through friendship and prayer.

This week, ending Sunday, has been set aside this year as National Salvation Army Week. It is a time to reflect upon the success of this organization through its practical yet spiritual approach to the problems of mankind.

Where Men Are Many

There are more women than men in the United States. The 1950 census reported that, out of a total population of 150,697,361, there were 49,556,000 females over 21 but only 47,860,228 males over 21. It also noted that in only 16 states of the 48 did men outnumber women.

Most of those states are west of the Mississippi. The exceptions are West Virginia, Michigan and Wisconsin. East of the Rockies, there are also more men than women in Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota. From there on west men tend to predominate. There are more men than women in Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona and Nebraska. In Colorado the number of women exceeds that of men. On the Pacific Coast there are more men in Washington and Oregon, but fewer in California.

Almost a century ago Horace Greeley wrote an editorial saying "Go West, young man." Evidently his advice has been taken. But marrying is an old custom which most women believe in and the wise hunter goes where the quarry is abundant. Greeley's advice needs to be supplemented with: "Go West, young woman."

Some Voted In Secrecy

Yugoslavia has held its first election under a recent law providing for the secret ballot—and maybe that's news. Press correspondents on the ground reported that at some polling places in Belgrade the voters actually did vote in secret. This could represent some progress, even though they could only choose between voting for the government candidates and leaving the ballot blank in protest against the regime.

It was no trouble at all, however, to predict that Marshal Tito's men would win the 352 parliamentary seats that were to be filled. In most districts there was only one candidate—Tito's, in some score of districts where there were two candidates, both were Tito's. So the marshal couldn't lose.

The voting, though heavy, fell somewhat below last year, when 92 per cent of the eligible voters took part. Since quite a few stayed away, apparently, that is evidence that the people of Yugoslavia feel a little freer than they did. Since a fair percentage handed in blank ballots, that is even stronger proof.

Spies In GE

It should surprise no one to hear that spies are active in General Electric plants. With the great increase in automatic and robot weapons, the electronics industry is more important to national defense than ever before. The Moscow-dominated Communist party would be sure to make complete preparations to spy on the industry and to prepare to sabotage it in time of war.

The United Electrical Workers Union was expelled from the CIO in 1949 because it was under Communist control. It is still active in many plants. State and federal governments do not want to outlaw UE from any plant where it has been chosen to represent the employes. The Atomic Energy Commission has excluded it, in fact, from highly sensitive plants on grounds of national security.

Meanwhile, the FBI is not asleep. At Senator McCarthy's hearings in Boston a witness testified that he was an undercover agent for the FBI since 1941 in General Electric plants. He joined the Communist party and kept in touch with its activities, he said.

Advances In ACTH And Cortisone

A child, two and one-half years old, was admitted to a large California hospital with peritonitis. She was toxic, prostrated, and critically ill. Her appendix had ruptured four to five days previously but the child had been neglected because her parents did not realize how sick she was. The wonder drugs were started and she was given the hormone ACTH. She made dramatic progress and within 24 hours appeared to be well. The hormone was stopped and symptoms returned. At this stage the physicians decided that they had to remove the cause to effect a cure. They operated, removed the ruptured appendix, and the child recovered.

ACTH and cortisone have been turning disease on and off since the first time they were used in the treatment of arthritis. The arthritics were comfortable within 48 hours and some were able to walk or use their hands for the first time in years. But as soon as the extracts were stopped, the knees and elbows began to stiffen, pain returned, and they became disabled once more. The arthritis was not cured but held in abeyance so long as the drug was used.

Illness or injury creates stress on the system and, unless counteracted, healing is delayed or the disease takes the upper hand. The adrenal glands play an active role in this mechanism and produce the needed hormones whenever the body is confronted with stress. Arthritis or other diseases occur because the stress has been too great or the glands inadequate to meet the demands.

These hormones are never used in the treatment of ordinary infections such as the common cold, whooping cough, or active tuberculosis because they are apt to make the condition worse. On the other hand, we now know they are of value in controling an overwhelming infection such as occurred to the little girl with peritonitis. It holds the disease in abeyance until penicillin has a chance to kill off the germs.

These observations were reported by a group of physicians from the Highland Alameda County hospital, Oakland, Cal.; they found that ACTH and cortisone also led to rapid control of symptoms from severe pneumonia, tetanus, diphtheria, and certain forms of meningitis. The substance was used on nine patients with severe progressive liver disease of viral origin. In three patients there was evidence of improvement within the first few hours. In four it had no effect; and in two, temporary relief followed by a relapse.

ACTH and cortisone have been effective in cases of rheumatic fever, particularly when the heart is involved or symptoms are more severe than usual. When properly administered, fever and joint pain subside, the pulse slows, appetite increases, and the size of the heart is reduced. Now and then dramatic response is obtained and at times the hormones are life-saving. There is no evidence that the substances correct leakage of the heart valves nor will they prevent murmurs from developing after rheumatic fever is well established.

TOMORROW: Abnormalities of the parathyroid glands.

NO MAGIC IN FRUIT

B. V. writes: Are there any fruits that would strengthen the mucous membranes in the throat in a case of postnasal drip?

REPLY

No. It would take more than fruit to eliminate existing infection or to correct an allergic condition, the two chief causative factors in postnasal drip.

The realistic fact is that President Eisenhower does not like being a politician. He has never been a politician. He has been a brilliant success as a soldier and has achieved distinction as a diplomat, but not as a technical party politician.

Nevertheless, two-party politics is the method by which the United States governs itself. The alternative to our system would be a revolution by which one party or one individual would prevail. The danger is that unless President Eisenhower assumes the political leadership of the Republican party, it will dissipate itself into a disastrous factionalism.

Even Franklin D. Roosevelt, as astute a politician as history records, could not treat elected officials, senators and representatives, and cabinet members as though they were top sergeants. He might have fooled them by his brilliant double-talk, he might have cajoled them by patronage, but he never ignored them.

I was present at the dinner of the B'nai B'rith in Washington at which the President delivered a speech that could be interpreted as a pleasantry or an attack on Senators McCarthy and Jenner, on his own attorney general, Herbert Brownell Jr., and on the director of the FBI, J. Edgar Hoover. It was not a good speech because, on the whole, it was unsuited for the occasion, but it was pleasant in spots.

This was on Monday night. On Tuesday night, Senator Joe McCarthy hit back with a block-buster that shook and split the Republican party. Obviously, Joe McCarthy accepted Monday night's challenge and got even. Considering the mildness of the President's statement on Monday, McCarthy's reply on Tuesday was too strong. Maybe he wanted it that way to bring on a test of strength. The immediate effect is a very split party.

Now, if Eisenhower decides to even the score, the cleavage within the Republican party will continue to widen until, in 1954, the Democrats could win both the House and the Senate. In some states, such as Massachusetts, McCarthy can win the election for the Republicans or he can bring on a defeat for his own party. Practical politicians recognize his immense strength. They blame Eisenhower for permitting any individual in his party to grow politically stronger than the President. Nevertheless, they admit that they have no way of reaching Eisenhower on a political level.

The Democrats are not divided on the single point of winning in 1954. Their actual disagreements are deeper than those which exist among Republicans, but they are now united on the question of 1954. Their quarrels have been postponed until after that date. The Republicans cannot display a similar party discipline.

In the Eisenhower cabinet, only two members understand politics. They are the attorney general, Herbert Brownell Jr., and the postmaster general, Arthur E. Summerfield. If either of these men were given a free hand to bring the party together, he could do it. But the President seems not to be ready for that.

The President is a lovable personality. It could be said that he is the most lovable personality that has been in the White House in recent years. Nobody wants to be against him. Nobody questions his moral stature. But he proved in 1952 that he cannot transfer the affection the people have for him to anyone else: he did not win the Senate or the House. If, in 1954, he loses even his nominal majority, if the Democrats are able to produce an actual majority in both houses, his last two years in office will be disastrous. It is not good for the country if the President is of one party and the Congress of another.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

Bermuda And Rhee

WASHINGTON.

Nearly everybody has conveniently forgotten about Korea, and about Korean President Syngman Rhee's repeatedly expressed intention to start the Korea War again if he does not get what he wants. Almost the only people who have not been allowed to forget these matters are the members of the National Security Council, the nation's highest policy-making body.

The question—what to do about Rhee?—has in recent weeks been the subject of prolonged and anxious debate within the council. The same question will certainly be discussed in detail by President Eisenhower, Sir Winston Churchill, and French Premier Laniel in Bermuda.

The trouble is that President Eisenhower and his chief advisers are themselves not entirely sure what ought to be done if Rhee starts the Korean War again on his own. They are sure only that everything possible must be done to prevent Rhee from doing so, simply because such unilateral action by Rhee would present this country and its allies with an impossible dilemma.

The importance attached to this problem is suggested by the fact that a central purpose of Vice President Richard Nixon's trip to the Far East was to have a private talk with Rhee. The most careful preparations for this meeting were made before Nixon left the United States. During his recent visit to Korea, Nixon reportedly did a most effective job of "clarifying" for Rhee the American official view of the Korean situation.

Warned Not to Start It

Nixon gave Rhee firm assurances of all-out American support if South Korea were again attacked by the Communists. But he warned Rhee, in polite, indirect, but firm terms not to start the war again on his own initiative. Nixon did not go so far as to say bluntly that in this case the American forces would be withdrawn from the Korean peninsula. But he did indicate, at least obliquely, that this was a possibility which Rhee must take into account.

Partly because of Nixon's talk with Rhee, it is not believed in Washington that there is any immediate danger of Rhee's taking off on his own. Well before Nixon's visit, Rhee had made certain commitments to Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson. These commitments, in the view of the State Department at least, bind Rhee to obeying the United Nations Command until next March. But March is only four months away. And what if Rhee then orders his Republic of Korea troops into action?

The Rhee problem is complicated by the fact that many foreigners darkly suspect that it is not really a problem at all. When Secretary of State John Foster Dulles went to New Delhi some months ago, for example, Indian Prime Minister Nehru genially told him that the United States could easily control Rhee if it really wanted to. Dulles replied that Rhee headed a sovereign state, and that Nehru, as the chief critic of Western colonialism in Asia, could not "have it both ways." But Nehru remained skeptical and his skepticism is shared at least in part by the British and the French.

No Firm Agreement

Yet the facts remain. The Republic of Korea Army will certainly fight if Rhee gives the order. As Rhee has made clear on numerous occasions (most recently to this reporter's partner) he is perfectly capable of giving the order, whatever the consequences. There has never been any firm agreement, either within the American government, or between the United States and its principal allies, on what to do if this happens.

There is basic agreement on other matters. Rightly or wrongly, the United States will not start the war again, even if it becomes clear—as it virtually is already—that no agreed settlement in Korea is possible. On this point the British and French offer no dissent whatever. If the Communists again attack—which cannot be ruled out—American policy calls for no-holds-barred retaliation against the Chinese mainland, using atomic weapons if this is considered militarily profitable.

The British and French are already committed at least in theory to this response. That leaves Rhee. Some American policy-makers incline to the view that the best way to prevent Rhee from taking off on his own is a flat and even public warning that in this case the United Nations Command will abandon Korea to its fate. The French and British—although perhaps not Sir Winston Churchill himself—would no doubt favor some such course. But others among President Eisenhower's advisers believe that a withdrawal from Korea would be so terrible a strategic, political, and psychological disaster that it should not be considered under any circumstances whatsoever.

In any event, one thing is clear. The Bermuda meeting provides an opportunity for achieving what does not now exist—an agreed allied policy on Rhee and Korea, while there is yet time. Nothing could be more foolish or dangerous than to drift on until March, hoping against hope that the brave and stubborn old Korean president does not really mean what he has so often said.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The big retreat in American policy—retreat back to the Truman-Acheson foreign policy—has begun. It may yet involve not only recognition of Red China's government but an acquiescence in the resumption of trade by Great Britain and other governments with the Communist world. Red China, although declared an aggressor by the United Nations, is to be treated as an equal because the Allies so will it.

On the surface, the secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, hit back at Senator McCarthy's criticism of foreign policy but there have been in the past so many other differences of opinion expressed by Senator Knowland and other Republican members of Congress without evoking a public rebuttal from the Department of State that this could not be the main reason for the pointed statement virtually yielding to the Allies what they have been asking for in recent months.

All this comes on the eve of the Bermuda Conference of the Big Three and just before the forthcoming meeting with Soviet Russia's foreign minister in Berlin.

Sets Stage For Trouble

The critics of the President and the secretary of state who have been trying to drive a wedge between many millions of Republicans—of whom Senator McCarthy is only one—and the White House now have succeeded at last. But this is not because the Wisconsin senator made a severe criticism of the administration. It is because the secretary of state has just announced a turn in American policy which sets the stage not only for the failure of the whole Korean negotiation but for more trouble in the Far East as Syngman Rhee reads his death warrant in the statement just issued by Mr. Dulles.

The secretary's declaration said in part:

"Today it is to our interest to assist certain countries. But that does not give us the right to try to take them over, to dictate their trade policies and to make them our satellites.

"Indeed, we do not want weak or subservient allies. Our friends and allies are dependable just because they are unwilling to be anyone's satellites. They will freely sacrifice much in a common effort. But they will be no more subservient to the United States than they will be subservient to Soviet Russia."

The foregoing, almost verbatim, has been the British argument for the last three years. It means that the Allies will trade with Soviet Russia hereafter or with Communist China and that they will be permitted to forget that, when American boys were dying in Korea, British exports of rubber to Soviet Russia and thus to Red China were helping the Communist war effort.

Whether the Allies did "freely sacrifice much in a common effort" is a question that the record in Korea answers. For America, together with the South Korean government, supplied nearly all the manpower and warmaking supplies while the Allies insisted on dictating to the American commander-in-chief, General MacArthur, that he must not use maximum military power to defeat the enemy.

Objective Not Achieved

But when the term "satellites" is used along with "allies," it may well be asked why the United States has dictated to and indeed is getting ready to "coerce" an ally and make of the South Korean regime a "satellite" just because the European allies demand that this be done. There is no secret about the viewpoint of the London government toward the government of Syngman Rhee. Now that Secretary Dulles has declared publicly that what the Allies say is to be American policy, notwithstanding our fundamental objections heretofore, it may be taken for granted that the road to appeasement has been opened and that South Korea is to be sacrificed, after all. It means that, despite the casualties incurred by 140,000 Americans, the original objective of repelling aggression is not to be achieved.

The Chinese Communists, who were not in Korea before the aggression started, are still there and will remain there because the Allies are willing to accept Red China into the United Nations. America now says, in effect, that it must agree to whatever Great Britain and the other countries want or lose military bases they give us in Europe.

Hence American taxpayers are to be asked to continue to pay huge sums to European countries as a means of influencing those governments to let America have bases abroad. Such military cooperation should be given to American air forces without strings or concessions or bribes if it aids the defense of the European countries themselves. To confess openly American subservience to its European allies and to disregard the moral principle on which the American case rests is not the way to preserve American leadership or to maintain the self-respect of the United States in the world.

But she said, "it makes the club a family club and more pleasant." She likened the project to a day camp or miniature country club, where the children have golf, swimming and tennis lessons, do handicraft and all sorts of organized activities. She also praised the two supervisors, Lance Statler, leader for the schoolage children; and Miss Margaret Ellen Burkey, for the preschool age children.

Mrs. B. G. Renz Heads Country Club Playground Association

Officers were elected and plans formulated for a Christmas party for the children at the annual meeting of the Cumberland Country Club Playground Association, yesterday. Mrs. Paul Castelle presided.

Mrs. Bernard G. Renz was elected chairman; Mrs. J. P. Hallinan, vice chairman; Mrs. J. Monroe Sharer, secretary; and Mrs. John E. Geare, treasurer. An informal installation followed.

The annual Christmas party for the children, a joint project of the club and playground association, will be held December 27 at 3 o'clock. There will be the usual visit by Santa Claus, moving pictures and the Christmas party.

Mrs. Castelle reporting on the successful season, spoke of the improvements made to the club house, which was repaired and redecorated, and emphasized how "fortunate the club is in having a playground for the children." Mrs. Castelle pointed out that a playground "is unheard of in most country clubs, and has failed in most where it has been undertaken." But she said, "it makes the club a family club and more pleasant." She likened the project to a day camp or miniature country club, where the children have golf, swimming and tennis lessons, do handicraft and all sorts of organized activities. She also praised the two supervisors, Lance Statler, leader for the schoolage children; and Miss Margaret Ellen Burkey, for the preschool age children.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Robert Davis for showing moving pictures on rainy days, to help make rainy days delightful for the children.

Other officers serving with Mrs. Castelle were Mrs. Frank Cawley, vice chairman; Mrs. Davis, secretary; and Mrs. B. A. Mason, treasurer.

WASHINGTON—The Harry Dexter White spy case continues to occupy the thinking of members of Congress and government officials for two reasons: (1) because there are many questions still unanswered about it, and (2) for the lessons and profit we can gain from it to improve the security of the country.

Former President Truman and former Secretary of State Byrnes have explained their part in the decision to give White a more important job though they had been warned of his Russian espionage activities; former Secretary of the Treasury Vinson, who was in on the decision, is dead; the fourth man involved, former Attorney General Clark, refuses now to be put under oath to tell his story because he is now a Supreme Court justice.

It is clear, however, that FBI warnings only to the executive branch on security matters is apparently insufficient at times. It can lead to a cover-up in which a political question arises because those making the decision are members of only one party.

Therefore, I am seriously considering offering legislation to do two things:

1) To create a Joint Committee on Security in Congress, made up of the president of the Senate, the speaker of the House, and the majority and minority floor leaders in both houses. Thus both parties would be represented.

2) To authorize the FBI to send security reports to this committee. They are now sent only to the government's executive branch. Thus the executives could be advised by congressional representatives in such a critical decision as the one to promote Harry Dexter White.

Nothing in the Constitution says that the executive branch is meant to have complete charge of security problems facing the government. That situation has just sort of "grown up." The White case has taught us, however, that we have an opportunity to correct a defect in our security system, a system which now seems to permit disloyal and immoral persons to enjoy the privilege of employment by the federal government.

On my calendar: With Congress convening right after the holidays, I am setting out next week on a week-long tour of Maryland's Sixth Congressional District. I want to find out more of what Maryland people are talking about in regard to national issues and problems.

I will spend each day in a different county. During the day I will be on the move, talking with as many residents as possible. In the evenings, I will be in one place and certainly want anyone who desires to to drop in for a visit and a chat. Here is my schedule: Monday—Frederick County; in the evening, at the Francis Scott Key Hotel in Frederick. Tuesday—Washington County; in the evening at the Hotel Alexander in Hagerstown. Wednesday — Allegany County; in the evening, at my office in the Cumberland Post Office Building. Thursday — Garrett County; in the evening, at the William James Hotel in Oakland.

Traffic Club Plans Christmas Party

The Tri-State Traffic Club will present its annual Christmas party at Ali Ghan Country Club Wednesday, December 9, at 6:30 p. m., according to Karl Bachman, president.

Wives and guests are invited, but all members have been requested to make reservations with John L. Carnochan, secretary. Santa Claus will be present and will have gifts for the ladies.

State Gives Approval To Non-Public Schools

Three Cumberland non-public and non-academic schools have been placed on the approved list by the State Department of Education.

They are the Tri-State School of Beauty Culture, 116 Virginia Avenue; Catherman's Business School, 171 Baltimore Street, and the Cumberland Trade School, 232 Spruce Street.

$37,500 Sought As Result Of Accidents

Damage suits totaling $37,500 resulting from two separate accidents were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

In one case, Herman Oster of 217 Offutt Street through his attorneys, William H. Geppert and Paul M. Fletcher, seeks $25,000 from Delos Henderson of Pinto.

In the other, James F. Mauk, 13, by his father, James C. Mauk, and James C. Mauk, individually, are asking a total of $12,500 from Dale Warrent Jay and Robert Patterson Jay, RD 2, Frostburg.

Was Crossing Street

Oster charges in his declaration that as he was crossing Virginia Avenue on July 28, 1952, he was struck by a car driven by Henderson.

He states he was walking carefully, in full view of the defendant, but said Henderson failed to maintain a lookout for pedestrians and was traveling in a reckless, negligent and careless manner at a high rate of speed.

The plaintiff alleges he suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, four fractures of the pelvis, a torn bladder and other serious injuries that caused him to be confined to the hospital for more than a year. He states he is permanently totally disabled and cannot return to his work as a shopworker for the B&O Railroad.

Riding On Bicycle

The Mauk case arose after the 13-year-old boy riding a bicycle was struck by a car operated by Dale Warren Jay on Cash Valley Road May 17.

Dale Jay, as agent of the defendant failed to observe the bicycle being ridden off the shoulder of the road, the suit alleged, and struck the boy.

The boy suffered a compound fracture of his right leg. He was required to undergo an operation where a piece was inserted in his leg, and during the long period of convalescence while it was in a cast, the lower muscles developed a paralysis that resulted in a right foot drop permanent in nature, the suit declares.

The boy claims $10,000 damages and the father, $2,500.

WVU Alumni Plan Football Party

A number of West Virginia University graduates and former students residing in Mineral, Hampshire, Hardy and Grant counties have indicated they will attend the Potomac Chapter's football party today at 8:30 p. m. in the recreation room of the Cumberland Brewing Company.

Robert "Red" Brown, Mountaineer varsity basketball coach and assistant coach of the varsity football team, will attend to narrate plays of the West Virginia-Penn State 20-19 game at State College this fall.

David W. Jacobs, general secretary of the WVU Alumni Association, will outline transportation and ticket arrangements for West Virginia's Sugar Bowl game with Georgia Tech at New Orleans New Year's Day.

Secretary Jacobs will meet with Potomac Chapter officers and representatives from nearby counties in West Virginia before the party in an effort to coordinate alumni activities of former students in the Cumberland tri-state area.

The party is open to all former West Virginia students, members of their families and guests.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed Monday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Mary E. Carroll vs. James P. Carroll.

Nine Maryland Counties Request State Road Funds

Only nine of Maryland's 23 counties, including Allegany, have applied to the State Roads Commission for $1,289,000 of the new 50-million dollar state credit pool for county road money.

When the deadline passed Tuesday for applications covering the first year of the plan—fiscal 1955, starting next July 1—these counties had asked a share:

Allegany $150,000; Calvert $27,000; Charles $81,100; Garrett $207,800; Frederick $276,700; Montgomery $234,600; Queen Anne's $50,000; St. Mary's $79,700; Washington $182,100.

Ask Full Quota

In most cases this was the full quota set up by the Roads Commission as the amount of first year bonds each county could handily pay off with the increased revenue it is due to get next year from the increase in the state gasoline tax.

Calvert County asked for only half of the $55,300 in bond money apportioned to it for fiscal 1955. Queen Anne's asked for only $50,000 of the $111,200 available to it.

Allegany County, however, asked for $150,000, when its first year share had been set up at $139,800.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners had announced plans Tuesday to hard surface about 14 miles of roads during the fiscal year starting July 1, 1954, with the $150,000 available from the state credit pool. J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, said that the location of the roads to be improved will not be determined definitely until it is learned whether some Federal aid will be available for some of the projects.

Carl Wannen, commission comptroller explained it probably would go along with the request. The quotas worked out in advance are not hard and fast limits, he said, but any excess money drawn next year would be counted against the county's share in a future year.

Might Get More

Under the standards adopted for the financing program, Wannen said, it might be possible for a county to draw two years' money in one year without threatening the repayment schedule.

The plan, by which the state in effect lends its credit to the counties, was enacted by the General Assembly last spring as an insertion in Maryland's long-range highway overhaul program.

Commissioners in the other counties indicated to the commission they felt they could meet their road needs on a pay-as-you-go basis now that they are in line for increased gasoline tax revenues and would rather not borrow bond money against future receipts.

The Roads Commission had set up 3½ million, more than again as much as the $1,289,000 the nine counties applied for.

Christmas Party Set By Tri-State Club

Dystrophy Drive Still Continues

The local branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers is still accepting donations in the "March for Muscular Dystrophy" campaign, according to Clayton C. Gillum, president.

The contributions will be used for both therapy and research in the disease Gillum stated adding that persons wishing to donate to the cause should address their letters to:

Cumberland Branch 638,
National Association of Letter Carriers,
Cumberland, Md.

The drive was launched Saturday night with a nationwide "telethon" by Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin. Honorary national chairman of the drive is Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed Monday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Mary E. Carroll vs. James P. Carroll.

Nine Maryland Counties Request State Road Funds

Only nine of Maryland's 23 counties, including Allegany, have applied to the State Roads Commission for $1,289,000 of the new 50-million dollar state credit pool for county road money.

When the deadline passed Tuesday for applications covering the first year of the plan—fiscal 1955, starting next July 1—these counties had asked a share:

Allegany $150,000; Calvert $27,000; Charles $81,100; Garrett $207,800; Frederick $276,700; Montgomery $234,600; Queen Anne's $50,000; St. Mary's $79,700; Washington $182,100.

Ask Full Quota

In most cases this was the full quota set up by the Roads Commission as the amount of first year bonds each county could handily pay off with the increased revenue it is due to get next year from the increase in the state gasoline tax.

Calvert County asked for only half of the $55,300 in bond money apportioned to it for fiscal 1955. Queen Anne's asked for only $50,000 of the $111,200 available to it.

Allegany County, however, asked for $150,000, when its first year share had been set up at $139,800.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners had announced plans Tuesday to hard surface about 14 miles of roads during the fiscal year starting July 1, 1954, with the $150,000 available from the state credit pool. J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, said that the location of the roads to be improved will not be determined definitely until it is learned whether some Federal aid will be available for some of the projects.

Carl Wannen, commission comptroller explained it probably would go along with the request. The quotas worked out in advance are not hard and fast limits, he said, but any excess money drawn next year would be counted against the county's share in a future year.

Might Get More

Under the standards adopted for the financing program, Wannen said, it might be possible for a county to draw two years' money in one year without threatening the repayment schedule.

The plan, by which the state in effect lends its credit to the counties, was enacted by the General Assembly last spring as an insertion in Maryland's long-range highway overhaul program.

Commissioners in the other counties indicated to the commission they felt they could meet their road needs on a pay-as-you-go basis now that they are in line for increased gasoline tax revenues and would rather not borrow bond money against future receipts.

The Roads Commission had set up 3½ million, more than again as much as the $1,289,000 the nine counties applied for.

Dystrophy Drive Still Continues

The local branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers is still accepting donations in the "March for Muscular Dystrophy" campaign, according to Clayton C. Gillum, president.

No accounting has been made of the money received, Gillum said, all of which was forwarded to national campaign headquarters in New York City. The number of letters received he added exceeded expectations.

The contributions will be used for both therapy and research in the disease Gillum stated adding that persons wishing to donate to the cause should address their letters to:

Cumberland Branch 638,

The drive was launched Saturday night with a nationwide "telethon" by Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin. Honorary national chairman of the drive is Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Former Local Man Nabbed As "Step Ladder" Thief

Local police were notified yesterday that a 27-year-old former Cumberland man has confessed to 44 housebreakings in Washington over a three-month period.

District of Columbia authorities said Irvin Amial Paetow, who worked as a B&O machinist here for five years, was held Saturday for grand jury action. Bond was set at $5,000 after he waived a preliminary hearing.

Officials said the "step-ladder" burglar recently changed his tactics to confuse detectives but made the mistake to reverting to an old trick for which he was known.

$3,800 In Cash, Jewelry

The housebreaking, all committed in private homes since August, netted the suspect nearly $3,800 in cash and jewelry. He was released in July from Lorton Reformatory where he served a sentence for the same offense.

After his arrest last Thursday night in a restaurant, Paetow told police:

"I never carried a weapon. I didn't need it because I can outrun any cop."

Described as brazen and fleet-footed, the suspect added that he got a "thrill" from frightening sleepers in the homes, the majority of which were in exclusive neighborhoods. Sometimes he hit as many as five houses in one night.

Changes Tactics

Paetow changed his tactics three weeks ago in an admitted plot to baffle detectives. He started working in the early morning instead of evening and took along a step-ladder as a means of entering through a window.

SELECTED as Mr. Formal in a nationwide contest, Jerry Janger of Oklahoma City and the University of Texas has been notified of a new laurel — a movie contract from Hollywood. He was chosen Mr. Formal for his after-six wearing apparel smartness. (International)

His method of operation usually followed this pattern:

He would enter a house through an open window, go into the bedroom for wallets and purses and leave the looted articles in the kitchen.

After intensive investigation, police searched their files and came up with Paetow as the likeliest suspect. Several persons awakened by the burglar identified him.

Detectives also learned that Paetow had failed to report to his parole officer, and they started a canvass of rooming houses and restaurants. The search ended Thursday.

Wore Stolen Topcoat

According to authorities, Paetow said he never purposely disturbed sleepers but he got a thrill if someone awakened and screamed. A topcoat he was wearing was identified by the owner before he broke down and confessed.

His biggest haul was $1,507 in cash and rings.

Paetow was charged with one specific count of housebreaking which resulted in the theft of $29. The other cases will be presented directly to the grand jury.

The suspect was sent to prison for burglary in 1950.

Purpose Of State's Liquor Law Recalled

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP)—When prohibition was repealed 20 years ago, Maryland's law for sale of alcoholic beverages emphasized "control that would promote moderation" and not raising revenue, Roger V. Laynor recalled today.

However, Laynor, who is chief of the state alcoholic beverages division in the comptroller's office, reported that taxes and license fees accounted for 13.6 per cent of the state's general funds since 1933.

The total collections have amounted to $105,270,860. The state and counties received more than 30 million dollars of this amount for public school education.

Injured Child Recovers

MT. SAVAGE—Larry Allen Birmingham, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Birmingham, who was injured in a shooting accident last week, has returned home from Miners Hospital, Frostburg.

Until around 1850, the world knew little about tea, because foreigners rarely penetrated the hostile interior of China where it was grown.

Drama Delayed After Player Becomes Ill

An attack of pneumonia suffered by Carl Jewell, a senior at Ridgeley High School, has caused postponement of the senior class play, "The Atomic Blonde" in which Jewell has one of the leading roles.

Originally scheduled for Friday, the play is now to be presented twice on Wednesday, December 9; at 1 p. m. for the school and at 8 p. m. for the public. Mrs. George Harris is director.

The Northwest territory, which constitutes the present states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and part of Minnesota, was ceded to the United States in 1783.

The deer kill in the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia, Tuesday, the second day of the three-day open session, exceeded the Monday's totals, according to John Shanholtz, district conservation officer at Romney.

Monday there were 1,758 bucks and does killed in the seven counties of the panhandle. Tuesday the count rose to 1,796.

Shanholtz reported that the deer kill in West Virginia Tuesday was 4,208, a drop from the opening day's total of 6,736.

The Grant County Tuesday total was greater than the first day's figure of 501, an all time opening day record. Tuesday's kill tallied 554, of which 249 were bucks and 305, does.

Recapitulate Kills

Hardy County hunters bagged 229 bucks and 183 does for a total of 412; Mineral, 148 bucks and 135 does, 283; Hampshire, 159 bucks, 109 does, 268; Pendleton, 98 bucks, 83 does, 181; Morgan, 42 bucks, 32 does, 74; and Berkeley, 13 bucks, 14 does, 27.

The Conservation Commission in Charleston in recapitulating Monday's kill said it was an increase over the 5,284 bucks and does killed on the first day of the 1952 season but expressed doubt that the pre-season kill estimate of 20,000 would be reached.

The department arrived at the number of deer killed from checking stations scattered through the deer territory. Of the total, 3,056 were bucks, 2,599 does and 1,081 were unclassified.

The 623 deer reported shot in Randolph County led the state. Tucker was second with 530, followed by Grant, 501; McDowell, 426, Wyoming, 351, and Mineral, 346.

The city of St. Petersburg, Fla., averages less than five days a year without sunshine.

17-Year Olds May Not Drive In N. Y.

The New York State Vehicle and Traffic Law restricts the recognition in New York of non-resident driving licenses to persons 18 years of age and over, according to Thomas B. R. Mudd, Maryland commissioner of motor vehicles.

Therefore, Maryland drivers who have not reached the age of 18 are not permitted to drive in the State of New York and are warned not to do so, Mudd said.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass
Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

ON THE COST OF MEDICAL CARE
Many of the current prolonged discussions on the high cost of medical care are without foundation. Although it is true that drugs and medical services cost more now than they did ten years ago, the rise in cost has not been out of proportion to the increase in the prices of other commodities and services.
The cost of a physician's call is no greater than that of a plumber or an electrician. The cost of the medicine he prescribes is no higher than the cost of a valve, a faucet, or an electrical outlet.
Moreover, it must be remembered that money cannot buy good health. It is priceless. No finer, no more economical, no more efficient system of medical care has ever been devised than that which this nation now enjoys.

The deer kill in the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia, Tuesday, the second day of the three-day open session, exceeded the Monday's totals, according to John Shanholtz, district conservation officer at Romney.

Monday there were 1,758 bucks and does killed in the seven counties of the panhandle. Tuesday the count rose to 1,796.

Shanholtz reported that the deer kill in West Virginia Tuesday was 4,208, a drop from the opening day's total of 6,736.

The Grant County Tuesday total was greater than the first day's figure of 501, an all time opening day record. Tuesday's kill tallied 554, of which 249 were bucks and 305, does.

Recapitulate Kills

Hardy County hunters bagged 229 bucks and 183 does for a total of 412; Mineral, 148 bucks and 135 does, 283; Hampshire, 159 bucks, 109 does, 268; Pendleton, 98 bucks, 83 does, 181; Morgan, 42 bucks, 32 does, 74; and Berkeley, 13 bucks, 14 does, 27.

The Conservation Commission in Charleston in recapitulating Monday's kill said it was an increase over the 5,284 bucks and does killed on the first day of the 1952 season but expressed doubt that the pre-season kill estimate of 20,000 would be reached.

The department arrived at the number of deer killed from checking stations scattered through the deer territory. Of the total, 3,056 were bucks, 2,599 does and 1,081 were unclassified.

The 623 deer reported shot in Randolph County led the state. Tucker was second with 530, followed by Grant, 501; McDowell, 426, Wyoming, 351, and Mineral, 346.

Major League Players May Lose Pension Plan

Club Owners Are In Favor Of Abolition

Ford Frick Refuses To Meet Players In Attorney's Presence

By PAT J. McDONNELL

ATLANTA, Dec. 2 (INS)—Major league players and executives erupted today into an angry controversy that Commissioner Ford Frick revealed threatens the athletes with loss of their prized pension plan.

The chasm of misunderstanding broadened with these rapid-fire developments overshadowing the important minor league meetings at Atlanta:

1. Frick refused to meet with player representatives of the 16 clubs, whom he had invited to confer with him, because they insisted upon the presence of New York attorney J. Norman Lewis.

2. The commissioner revealed a hitherto confidential proposal on the agenda of next week's major league meetings in New York which could result in dissolution of the player pension fund.

3. American League president Will Harridge revoked an earlier invitation and notified A. L. player representative Allie Reynolds of the Yankees that he will not be permitted to attend the league sessions.

Reynolds Gets Brush-off

Harridge said:

"I have now informed Mr. Reynolds that he is not to appear at the American League meeting in New York. The players have now changed the whole complexion of things, and there is no purpose of having Mr. Reynolds in our meeting."

Frick said he invited the 16 player-representatives—at expense of the commissioner's office—to meet with him because he feared the players did not understand the significance of the hitherto confidential proposal to abolish the pension plan.

He explained that baseball's executive committee voted on Sept. 29 to propose that a committee of one representative from each league be named "with authority to retain counsel . . . (to study) procedure for and affect of terminating . . ." the plan.

Frick, Harridge and National League president Warren Giles said some club owners had taken the position that the pension plan had become such a bone of contention that they favored its abolition.

Reynolds and Ralph Kiner, National League player representative, informed Frick, he said, that the players had unanimously voted to retain J. Norman Lewis, of New York, as players' attorney, and "decided to have him attend all meetings in which we participate."

Frick said he took the position, that "players are entitled to legal advice any time they want it," but that no legal problems were involved in today's planned session and that he would not meet with Lewis when attorneys for club owners were not present.

He said, regarding Reynolds and Kiner's request for Lewis's presence:

"If the boys take that attitude, then God bless them, and there'll be no meeting."

Ford Frick Explains

Frick explained:

"I take the position that it is the right of the commissioner of baseball to be able to summon any players, any owners or officials to discuss any problems the commissioner cares to discuss."

He said this was a precedent of 25 years standing "which I will not tear down."

"I have no arguments with any players, but I do not intend to be put in the middle," Frick said.

He said he questioned whether Lewis was being retained as an attorney "or a bargaining agent," and he said the commissioner had no right to engage in bargaining, a function in the prerogative of the individual clubs.

The players reportedly refused to confer with Frick unless their attorney, James N. Lewis, was present. The commissioner declined to go along with that.

Meanwhile, trade talk and managerial shopping around increased as minor league executives prepared to attack some of the game's toughest problems at business sessions tomorrow.

Toronto Picks Sewell

Luke Sewell, former Cincinnati Redlegs manager, was named manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League, replacing Burleigh Grimes.

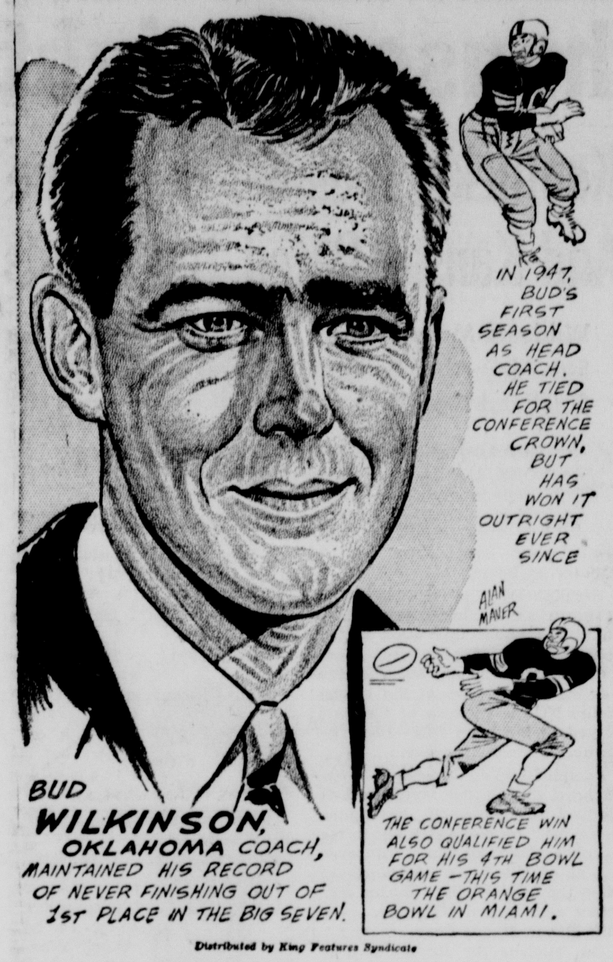

The Milwaukee Braves announced outright assignment of Catcher Paul Burris and Infielder Harry Hanebrink to Toledo of the American Association. Burris was out most of last season with a broken arm while Hanebrink hit .238 with the Braves.

Rollie Hemsley, former major league receiver and minor league pilot, was signed by the Philadelphia A's as a pitching coach. Wally Moses and Augie Galan are the other coaches on Manager Eddie Joost's staff.

Marty Owen, former Detroit Tiger infielder, was named manager of the Tigers' Valdosta, Ga., farm club. Detroit also named Wayne Blackburn, manager at Wausau, Wis., last season, as a full-time scout and signed T. S. Ferrell, former coach, as a scout in the Carolinas.

Spud Chandler and Luke Appling were among veteran ex-major leaguers shopping around for managerial posts.

Fred Mel McGaha was named player-manager of the Shreveport Sports of the Texas League. At 26 he will be the loop's youngest pilot.

Panter Beats Norman Hayes

DETROIT, Dec. 2 (AP) — Garth Panter, an iron-strong iron worker from Salt Lake City moved ahead relentlessly and scored a unanimous 10-round decision over ringrusty Norman Hayes tonight before a sparse crowd of 1,813 at Olympia Stadium.

Hayes weighed 162½, Panter 160.

Hayes, a Boston soldier on a three-day leave from Ft. Belvoir, Va., hadn't fought since last May and this inactivity caught up with him after the first two rounds. He was unable to ward off Panter, who pressed the attack through the last seven rounds.

Mountaineers Excelled On Offense, Defense

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 2 (AP) — West Virginia's champion Mountaineers took total and rushing offense and defense honors for 1953 in the Southern Conference.

George Washington was tops in passing, Richmond in pass defense and Virginia Tech in punting.

The Mountaineers, preparing for their Sugar Bowl appearance, rolled up 377.6 yards per game, including 203.9 by rushing. They permitted the opposition 281.8 yards per game, 108.3 by rushing.

Bill Murray Named To Coach Gray Team

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 2 (AP) —Coach Bill Murray of Duke was added today to the Southern coaching staff for the 16th annual Blue-Gray football game Dec. 26.

Murray joins Houston's Clyde Lee on the Rebel brain-trust.

There was only one known survivor when an eruption of Mt. Pelee destroyed the city of St. Pierre on Martinique island in 1902. More than 30,000 other inhabitants were killed.

"Doc" Meanwell, Former Coach, Taken By Death

Introduced Short Pass On "Cracker Box" Floor

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 2 (AP)—Dr. Walter E. (Doc) Meanwell, whose short pass game put the first finesse into college basketball, died today following surgery. He was 69.

The cocky little physician, who preferred athletics to the medical profession, coached basketball at the University of Wisconsin for 20 years before his retirement after the 1933-34 season. His teams won nine Western Conference championships.

Introduced Short Pass

The "Meanwell System," featuring the short pass, criss-cross, dribble and block, was the first step towards making basketball the intricate game it is today. Meanwell introduced the short pass early in his career when required to play on a "cracker-box" floor in Baltimore and added the other refinements during his long years at Wisconsin.

Meanwell's temperamental outbursts were well known throughout the Big 10, but his teams won wide respect. He never played college basketball, at the University of Maryland where he received his medical degree, but was a perfectionist as a coach, requiring his players to play the way he directed them or not at all.

"He was one of the great men of all time in basketball," said Athletic Director Guy Sundt of Wisconsin.

Coached Two Sports

Meanwell coached at Wisconsin from 1911-12 through 1916-17 and again from 1920-21 through 1933-34. He left Wisconsin in 1917 to become athletic director and basketball and football coach at the University of Missouri and spent one year during World War I as a medical corps captain in the Army.

Surviving are his widow, two daughters and one son.

Tom McGeady Posts Record 253 And 617 In South End Loop

Tom McGeady hung up two records in the South End Merchants Duckpin League Tuesday night when he toppled 253 and 617 pins for one and three games as Sealtest copped two out of three games from Scarpelli's on the Diamond alleys.

Second place K-Bar moved within three games of first place by scoring a 3-0 decision over the Goodfellowship Club and the cellar dwelling Liberty Milk Company dropped a pair to the Cumberland Savings Bank.

Other leading scorers were R. Clay, Scarpelli's 194-553; R. Hobell, Goodfellowship Club 183-521; S. Brady, K-Bar, 192-491; B. Smith, Liberty Milk, 163-438, and R. Moreland, Cumberland Savings Bank, 161-430. The standings:

Notre Dame Will Attract Record 610,000 Grid Fans

Previous High 580,268; 50,000 To See SMU Tilt

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 2 (AP)—Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, disappointed at yielding the mythical national football title to Maryland, can get some solace from having their greatest season in history at the turnstiles.

A near capacity crowd of 55,000 is expected at Saturday's Irish finale with Southern Methodist and this will produce a total Notre Dame season attendance—at home and away—of 610,000.

Will Set New Record

Thus for the first time in their illustrious 65-year football history, the Irish will surpass the 600,000 mark for a single campaign. Notre Dame's largest previous patronage in one year was 580,268 in 1948 when a 10-game season also was played.

The near sellout for Saturday developed despite the fact SMU's invasion will be televised nationally and early December weather usually is far from balmy in Northern Indiana.

As for the closing assignment against the somewhat-tamed Mustangs, some of the fight may be out of the Irish. They turned all their guns on Southern California to blast the Trojans 48-14. But this failed to recapture the No. 1 spot from Maryland in the final Associated Press poll.

However, Frank Leahy's lads still will be striving to maintain an unbeaten record with their ninth victory against a 14-14 tie with Iowa which was so hard-earned it dropped them from the top rung of the AP poll.

15 Play Final Game

There will be 15 Notre Damers playing their final Irish game, among them regulars Jim Schrader, Menil Mavraides, Art Hunter, Don Penza, Neil Worden and Johnny Lattner.

Southern Methodist which has a 5-4 record gave Notre Dame something to remember in the last Mustang prance into South Bend. That was in 1951 when Fred Benners of SMU passed the Irish dizzy for a 27-20 victory.

Woodmen Cop Three

The Woodmen of the World took three games from Mike Miller's in an Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match last night at the Frostburg American Legion Home.

Bill Gibson led the Woodmen with 26 points while Crowe paced Mike Miller's with 13 tallies.

Bevo Francis MakesGarden Bow Tonight

Adelphi Will Test Rio Grande Hotshot

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Bevo Francis will attempt to prove he's more than a basketball freak and Ned Irish will seek to prove that the game isn't dead in New York when the 20th season of college basketball in Madison Square Garden opens tomorrow night.

Francis, who set a series of unmatched and almost unbelievable scoring marks for little Rio Grande College last year, will be the lure by which Irish, the Garden basketball boss, hopes to bring back the fans.

The customers stayed away from the Garden in large numbers last season, but they all heard about Bevo's scoring feats and the furore that arose when the College Basketball Coaches Association and the National Collegiate A.A. agreed that his records weren't acceptable because of the quality of Rio Grande's opposition.

Tomorrow Bevo and Rio Grande will make their first metropolitan appearance against Adelphi College—not a high-powered team, but one of known ability and representing a four-year college. Last season Rio Grande played a lot of junior colleges and other minor institutions. It opened the 1953-54 season in Buffalo last week by swamping Erie Tech, a two-year school, 120-59.

The second game of tomorrow night's doubleheader, first of 19 on the Garden schedule, will bring together Lafayette and St. John's of Brooklyn.

As a gawky, six-foot, nine-inch freshman last year, Francis scored an average of 50.1 points a game and Rio Grande, winning 39 games, averaged 101 points. And if the Ohioans' schedule didn't amount to much, Newt Oliver, their talkative coach, says it was the fault of the big schools that wouldn't give him a game. He has lined up a somewhat better program for this season.

Francis racked up 1,924 points on 708 field goals and 538 foul conversions last season. He hit his high of 116 (out of his team's 150) against Ashland College and he flipped in 179 points in two games within 48 hours.

ATLANTA, Dec. 2 (AP)—Lancaster, Pa. today became the eighth club in the Class B Piedmont League, filling the vacancy opened when Roanoke, Va. dropped out last summer.

Other clubs in the league are Richmond, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News and Lynchburg, Va., Hagerstown, Md. and York.

Stadium Inn of Frostburg, leading the race by three full games, shoots it out with Fisher and Robinette at Frostburg in one of the top matches scheduled tonight in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League.

The runner-up Cumberland Knights of Columbus play host to the Purple Heart Club while the Hi Dee Club, now in third place five games off the pace, tests the Frostburg K. of C. on the latter's board.

Mineral Deer Kill Figured To Exceed 1,000 For Season

Mineral county's three-day deer season was concluded yesterday when 331 bucks and does were reported slain by hunters by six of the county's eight checking stations.

The three-day total soared to 958 and it was indicated that the kill will exceed the 1,000 mark after returns are received from stations at Elk Garden and Burlington.

A total of 973 deer were bagged in Mineral county during the three-day season last year.

One hundred and twenty-seven of the animals slain yesterday were checked at the Fort Ashby station, according to Claude Rice, of Keyser, conservation officer.

On opening day 344 were killed while Tuesday's total was 283.

Tom Young's Basket Decides Game, 53-49

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 2 (AP) — Forward Tom Young's field goal with 15 seconds left sent Maryland on to a 53-49 win over South Carolina here tonight in the opening basketball game in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Young flipped his one-handed shot in from just outside the foul circle to end a Maryland two-minute freeze of the ball with the score 49-49.

Forwards Gene Shue of Maryland and Joe Smith of South Carolina tied for scoring honors with 19 apiece. Smith was more effective from the floor than Shue, who built up his total on seven free throws.

Paul Campbell Named Manager At Hagerstown

ATLANTA, Dec. 2 (AP) — Paul Campbell, former Little Rock manager, today was named manager of Hagerstown, Md., in the Class B Piedmont League.

Campbell, 36, is a first baseman-outfielder who formerly played with Detroit. He succeeds Billy Jurges who filled in late last season after Dutch Dorman was cut loose as Hagerstown manager.

Reds And Cardinals Pull Player Trade

CINCINNATI, Dec. 2 (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs today traded shortstop Alex Grammas to the St. Louis Cards for relief pitcher Jack Crimian and cash.

Grammas batted .307 for Kansas City in the American Association last season. Grammas had been Redleg baseball property for several seasons.

The 26-year-old right hander won 12 games and lost five in relief work with Rochester of the International League last summer.

Major League Players May Lose Pension Plan

Club Owners Are In Favor Of Abolition

Ford Frick Refuses To Meet Players In Attorney's Presence

By PAT J. McDONNELL

ATLANTA, Dec. 2 (INS)—Major league players and executives erupted today into an angry controversy that Commissioner Ford Frick revealed threatens the athletes with loss of their prized pension plan.

The chasm of misunderstanding broadened with these rapid-fire developments overshadowing the important minor league meetings at Atlanta:

1. Frick refused to meet with player representatives of the 16 clubs, whom he had invited to confer with him, because they insisted upon the presence of New York attorney J. Norman Lewis.

2. The commissioner revealed a hitherto confidential proposal on the agenda of next week's major league meetings in New York which could result in dissolution of the player pension fund.

3. American League president Will Harridge revoked an earlier invitation and notified A. L. player representative Allie Reynolds of the Yankees that he will not be permitted to attend the league sessions.

Reynolds Gets Brush-off

Harridge said:

"I have now informed Mr. Reynolds that he is not to appear at the American League meeting in New York. The players have now changed the whole complexion of things, and there is no purpose of having Mr. Reynolds in our meeting."

Frick said he invited the 16 player-representatives—at expense of the commissioner's office—to meet with him because he feared the players did not understand the significance of the hitherto confidential proposal to abolish the pension plan.

He explained that baseball's executive committee voted on Sept. 29 to propose that a committee of one representative from each league be named "with authority to retain counsel . . . (to study) procedure for and affect of terminating . . ." the plan.

Frick, Harridge and National League president Warren Giles said some club owners had taken the position that the pension plan had become such a bone of contention that they favored its abolition.

Reynolds and Ralph Kiner, National League player representative, informed Frick, he said, that the players had unanimously voted to retain J. Norman Lewis, of New York, as players' attorney, and "decided to have him attend all meetings in which we participate."

Frick said he took the position, that "players are entitled to legal advice any time they want it," but that no legal problems were involved in today's planned session and that he would not meet with Lewis when attorneys for club owners were not present.

He said, regarding Reynolds and Kiner's request for Lewis's presence:

"If the boys take that attitude, then God bless them, and there'll be no meeting."

Ford Frick Explains

Frick explained:

"I take the position that it is the right of the commissioner of baseball to be able to summon any players, any owners or officials to discuss any problems the commissioner cares to discuss."

He said this was a precedent of 25 years standing "which I will not tear down."

"I have no arguments with any players, but I do not intend to be put in the middle," Frick said.

He said he questioned whether Lewis was being retained as an attorney "or a bargaining agent," and he said the commissioner had no right to engage in bargaining, a function in the prerogative of the individual clubs.

The players reportedly refused to confer with Frick unless their attorney, James N. Lewis, was present. The commissioner declined to go along with that.

Meanwhile, trade talk and managerial shopping around increased as minor league executives prepared to attack some of the game's toughest problems at business sessions tomorrow.

Toronto Picks Sewell

Luke Sewell, former Cincinnati Redlegs manager, was named manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League, replacing Burleigh Grimes.

The Milwaukee Braves announced outright assignment of Catcher Paul Burris and Infielder Harry Hanebrink to Toledo of the American Association. Burris was out most of last season with a broken arm while Hanebrink hit .238 with the Braves.

Rollie Hemsley, former major league receiver and minor league pilot, was signed by the Philadelphia A's as a pitching coach. Wally Moses and Augie Galan are the other coaches on Manager Eddie Joost's staff.

Marty Owen, former Detroit Tiger infielder, was named manager of the Tigers' Valdosta, Ga., farm club. Detroit also named Wayne Blackburn, manager at Wausau, Wis., last season, as a full-time scout and signed T. S. Ferrell, former coach, as a scout in the Carolinas.

Spud Chandler and Luke Appling were among veteran ex-major leaguers shopping around for managerial posts.

Fred Mel McGaha was named player-manager of the Shreveport Sports of the Texas League. At 26 he will be the loop's youngest pilot.

The former world's heavyweight boxing champion told newsmen he and Mrs. Auguste were not engaged "right now," although they had "discussed marriage several times in the past."

Dempsey talked with newsmen on arriving here by plane from Chicago.

Dempsey said he had known Mrs. Auguste eight or 10 years and had known her banker husband for 25 years.

Dempsey has been married three times, to Maxine Wayne, to actress Estelle Taylor and to Singer Hannah Williams.

Panter Beats Norman Hayes

DETROIT, Dec. 2 (AP) — Garth Panter, an iron-strong iron worker from Salt Lake City moved ahead relentlessly and scored a unanimous 10-round decision over ringrusty Norman Hayes tonight before a sparse crowd of 1,813 at Olympia Stadium.

Hayes weighed 162½, Panter 160.

Hayes, a Boston soldier on a three-day leave from Ft. Belvoir, Va., hadn't fought since last May and this inactivity caught up with him after the first two rounds. He was unable to ward off Panter, who pressed the attack through the last seven rounds.

Mountaineers Excelled On Offense, Defense

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 2 (AP) — West Virginia's champion Mountaineers took total and rushing offense and defense honors for 1953 in the Southern Conference.

George Washington was tops in passing, Richmond in pass defense and Virginia Tech in punting.

The Mountaineers, preparing for their Sugar Bowl appearance, rolled up 377.6 yards per game, including 203.9 by rushing. They permitted the opposition 281.8 yards per game, 108.3 by rushing.

Bill Murray Named To Coach Gray Team

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 2 (AP) —Coach Bill Murray of Duke was added today to the Southern coaching staff for the 16th annual Blue-Gray football game Dec. 26.

Murray joins Houston's Clyde Lee on the Rebel brain-trust.

There was only one known survivor when an eruption of Mt. Pelee destroyed the city of St. Pierre on Martinique island in 1902. More than 30,000 other inhabitants were killed.

"Doc" Meanwell, Former Coach, Taken By Death

Introduced Short Pass On "Cracker Box" Floor

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 2 (AP)—Dr. Walter E. (Doc) Meanwell, whose short pass game put the first finesse into college basketball, died today following surgery. He was 69.

The cocky little physician, who preferred athletics to the medical profession, coached basketball at the University of Wisconsin for 20 years before his retirement after the 1933-34 season. His teams won nine Western Conference championships.

Introduced Short Pass

The "Meanwell System," featuring the short pass, criss-cross, dribble and block, was the first step towards making basketball the intricate game it is today. Meanwell introduced the short pass early in his career when required to play on a "cracker-box" floor in Baltimore and added the other refinements during his long years at Wisconsin.

Meanwell's temperamental outbursts were well known throughout the Big 10, but his teams won wide respect. He never played college basketball, at the University of Maryland where he received his medical degree, but was a perfectionist as a coach, requiring his players to play the way he directed them or not at all.

"He was one of the great men of all time in basketball," said Athletic Director Guy Sundt of Wisconsin.

Coached Two Sports

Meanwell coached at Wisconsin from 1911-12 through 1916-17 and again from 1920-21 through 1933-34. He left Wisconsin in 1917 to become athletic director and basketball and football coach at the University of Missouri and spent one year during World War I as a medical corps captain in the Army.

Surviving are his widow, two daughters and one son.

Second place K-Bar moved within three games of first place by scoring a 3-0 decision over the Goodfellowship Club and the cellar dwelling Liberty Milk Company dropped a pair to the Cumberland Savings Bank.

Other leading scorers were R. Clay, Scarpelli's 194-553; R. Hobell, Goodfellowship Club 183-521; S. Brady, K-Bar, 192-491; B. Smith, Liberty Milk, 163-438, and R. Moreland, Cumberland Savings Bank, 161-430. The standings:

Previous High 580,268; 50,000 To See SMU Tilt

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 2 (AP)—Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, disappointed at yielding the mythical national football title to Maryland, can get some solace from having their greatest season in history at the turnstiles.

Bobcats To Play 20 Contests; Piedmont, Bruce In Road Tilts

Westinghouse Apprentice School's basketeers open a two-day invasion of the tri-state area tonight when they play Coach Kenneth Babcock's Frostburg State Teachers College quint on the Beall High School court at 8 o'clock.

The East Pittsburgh school quint is coached by "Bucky" Dearbeck, former Potomac State College athlete, and Lido Bendinelli and is composed of some on Western Pennsylvania's topnotch scholastic stars such as Don DeZort, Central Catholic High, Pittsburgh; Dick Trombula, McKeesport Technical High School; Jack McCarthy, Turtle Creek High School and Joe Deley of Swissvale High.

DeZort, who broke into Westinghouse's lineup last season, turned down several collegiate basketball scholarships before he joined Westinghouse.

Lease With Visitors

James T. "Jimmy" Lease, former Allegany High School athlete, appears on the Westinghouse roster. The 6-foot-2 guard is a junior at the East Pittsburgh school. The other 19 members of the squad are graduates of Pennsylvania high schools.

Westinghouse is no stranger in these parts as the A's have been meeting the Teachers and Potomac State for several seasons. Last year the A's defeated the Bobcats twice and also won over Potomac State. The Steel City floormen are scheduled to play Potomac Friday night in Keyser.

Tonight's game marks the opening of a 20-game schedule for the Mountain City cagers who are billed to play in Altoona Friday while on Saturday night they'll host Johnstown (Pa.) Center at the Beall High gym.

Coach Babcock will select his starting lineup from a squad of 13 players, namely, Neil Grayson, Jack Barham, Bill Kirk, Ronnie Chapman, Tommy Kelly, Joe Wolfe, John Clark, Bobby Wilson, Dick Devore, Bob Kirk, Pete Wageley, Allan LaPorta and Ed Thompson.

Clifton Van Roby and William P. Hahn will officiate.

Three high school contests are on tap for tonight.

Bruce Opens Season

Coach Augie Eichhorn's Bruce High's Bulldogs, Maryland's Class B champions of 1952-53, will pry off the lid at Hyndman where they'll tackle Hyndman High School. The Westernport aggregation copped 21 out of 25 games last season and captured state honors by whipping Northern, Middletown, Elkton and Arundel High of Odenton in the statewide games. Hyndman lost its opening game Tuesday at Rockwood, Pa.

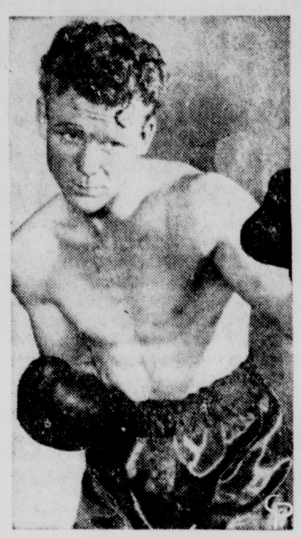

Piedmont High opens defense of the P.V.C. title it won last season by playing Elk Garden's Elks tonight at Elk Garden. "Huck" Miers Lions won 20 out of 28 games last season and opened the current grind on Tuesday by whipping the Alumni. Elk Garden lost its opener to Valley High of Lonaconing.

Winnipeg Club Fails To Get AA Franchise

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 2 (AP)—Winnipeg of the Class C Northern League gave up its efforts to gain an American Association franchise for 1954 today.

Ed Doherty, league president, released a statement that pointed out no franchise was available in the Association and there was no indication that any would be available.

The announcement by Doherty apparently ends reports that Winnipeg might go into the Association and Charleston, W. Va. might shift to the International League.

Theodore Roosevelt was the first native of the Americas to win a Nobel prize.

Maryland Race Heads Fail To Agree On Dates

Hope To Reach Accord At Another Meeting

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP) — The Maryland Racing Commission announced today it can't agree, either, on dates next year for the three major tracks.

The commission took on the scheduling job a week ago after the three tracks all requested dates that conflicted. D. Eldred Rinehart, commission chairman, had promised to allot them today.

"There is a difference of opinion among the commissioners," he reported instead. "Therefore, we will not announce a schedule until after we have held another meeting."

That won't be before next week, Rinehart added. There are two other commissioners.

Rinehart said the three had boiled the various possible divisions down to two schedules, but can't agree on which one is better.

Laurel, Bowie, Pimlico divide 100 days equally. Usually, each track splits its share into spring and fall meetings. Invariably, at least two of the tracks want to run at the same time and the commission has had to assign dates arbitrarily.

Joe Culmone Rides Five Bowie Winners

BOWIE, Md., Dec. 2 (AP)—Jockey Joe Culmone rode winners in five of six races at Bowie today, including both ends of the daily double and the feature race aboard Alakatch.

Culmone won the first three races on Direct Tent ($11.00), Braniff ($8.80), and Puppet ($8.60), finished third in the fourth race on Texas Sigh ($3.20 for show), didn't ride in the fifth, and then won the sixth on Easy Paddy ($7.20) and the seventh on Alakatch ($6.40). He didn't have a mount in the eighth.

Direct Tent and Braniff paid $42.40 for the daily double.

Native Dancer Voted Champion 3-Year-Old Colt

Vanderbilt Ace Is Unanimous Choice

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP) — Not that it is any great surprise, but Native Dancer was unanimously voted as the champion 3-year-old colt of 1953 today by the selections board of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's great grey got every one of the votes cast by the secretaries of the 37 tracks which make up the TRA membership. A year ago, the colorful Dancer was not only chosen 2-year-old champion, but was named the No. 1 horse of 1952, American champion, an unprecedented honor for a juvenile.

This year, the horse to be named American champion will be announced at the TRA's annual dinner here tomorrow night.

Native Dancer, who captured the public fancy as no race horse had perhaps since the days of Man O'War, was unbeaten as a 2-year-old in nine races. This year he lost but once—to Dark Star in the stunning Kentucky Derby upset. He won nine of 10 races this year, $513,425 as top money winning horse of 1953, and shot his total to $743,920—fourth on the list of the world's greatest money winning horses.

Vanderbilt has said the Dancer, now wintering at his owner's Sagamore Farm in Maryland, will return to the races in 1954, and may even go abroad to face the European stars.

Bowlers of today are sometimes known as "keglers" after the German word "kegel," a pin much like an Indian club. The Germans first used the club for twirling and finally as an object for rolling balls.

Kentucky, Indiana, Duquesne And Kansas Rated Top Quints

Wildcats Make Debut Saturday After Being Sidelined One Year

By HOWARD SIGMAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 2—(INS)—The liveliest, most unpredictable season in college basketball's post-scandal era appears set to burst upon eager hoop fans with a nationwide bounce.

Highlighting the dribble-filled program as the campaign makes an all-out debut this week is the return to action of mighty Kentucky. The Wildcats were on the sidelines for a year at the behest of the NCAA, because of the part played in the hoop "fix" mess by former Kentucky players.

Adolph Rupp's powerhouse worked hard during the layoff and is pledged to show it has gone "straight," by going straight to the national championship. All eyes will be on the Baron and his team when they launch their season Saturday night against Temple.

Cliff Hagan Heads Cast

The nucleus for Rupp's five is All-American Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos—thee regulars from the team that copped the Southeastern Conference title in the 1951-52 season. Also on hand are Willie Rouse and Bill Evans, reserves on that team. An extremely talented sophomore corps is headed by hookshot artist Jerry Bird, a 6-6 center.

Kentucky's bid for top national honors will be questioned by the Indiana Hoosiers, defending NCAA champions. Coach Branch McCracken's Hoosiers pack the necessary equipment and many experts think they'll repeat as Big Ten and national kingpins.

Indiana, led by All-American Don Schlundt, the 6-9 pivotman, and 6-3 Bob Leonard, has nine returning lettermen and an adept list of sophomore candidates.

Duquesne Stands Out

The "big four" is rounded out by Duquesne and Kansas. The Dukes are given the nod as the pre-season favorite in the power-packed east.

Dudey Moore's Pittsburgh five has height, speed, experience and reserve strength. All-America candidates Jim Tucker (6-8) and Dick Ricketts (6-7) head the Dukes' star-studded roster.

Kansas was a surprise last season, going all the way to the NCAA finals before being dropped by a point by Indiana. The Jayhawks figure to be strong again, spearheaded by B. H. Born, the 6-9 lefty center who took over Clyde Lovellette's role in Coach Phog Allen's offensive schemes.

Seton Hall, winner of the National Invitation Tournament in 1952-53, lost All-American Walt Dukes, and Richie Regan through graduation and the Pirates don't figure to be as strong as they were.

LaSalle Retains Gola

Expected to give Duquesne the most competition for top honors in the east are LaSalle (which still has All-America Tom Gola), St. John's, Niagara, Holy Cross and Fordham. The Ivy League race shapes up as a duel between Yale and Cornell.

North Carolina State appears to be the top team in the Atlantic Coast Conference, but Wake Forest, Duke and North Carolina are touted as threats. In the Southern Conference the coaches think West Virginia and Richmond are the teams to beat.

Indiana's chief opposition in the Big Ten is figured to come from Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan State and Ohio State are regarded as likely to be troublesome.

LSU Defends Title

LSU, defending champ, is figured to give Kentucky a battle in the Southeast.

Kansas State is selected as the chief stumbling block to Kansas' bid for a third straight big seven title.

The Missouri Valley race shapes up as a two-team affair between Oklahoma A. and M. and St. Louis.

Defending champion TCU, Rice and Southern Methodist are the most talked about teams in the Southwest Conference and hardly anyone is mentioned except Wyoming in the Skyline Conference.

California is tabbed to repeat as Southern Division champs in the Pacific Coast Conference and Oregon State is the choice to unseat Houbregs—less Washington in the north.

The experts also see possible big things from Dayton, Santa Clara and Bowling Green, among others.

Frostburg Teachers To Open With Westinghouse Tonight

Ken Babcock's Quint Is Host At Beall High

Bobcats To Play 20 Contests; Piedmont, Bruce In Road Tilts

Westinghouse Apprentice School's basketeers open a two-day invasion of the tri-state area tonight when they play Coach Kenneth Babcock's Frostburg State Teachers College quint on the Beall High School court at 8 o'clock.

The East Pittsburgh school quint is coached by "Bucky" Dearbeck, former Potomac State College athlete, and Lido Bendinelli and is composed of some on Western Pennsylvania's topnotch scholastic stars such as Don DeZort, Central Catholic High, Pittsburgh; Dick Trombula, McKeesport Technical High School; Jack McCarthy, Turtle Creek High School and Joe Deley of Swissvale High.

DeZort, who broke into Westinghouse's lineup last season, turned down several collegiate basketball scholarships before he joined Westinghouse.

Lease With Visitors

James T. "Jimmy" Lease, former Allegany High School athlete, appears on the Westinghouse roster. The 6-foot-2 guard is a junior at the East Pittsburgh school. The other 19 members of the squad are graduates of Pennsylvania high schools.

Westinghouse is no stranger in these parts as the A's have been meeting the Teachers and Potomac State for several seasons. Last year the A's defeated the Bobcats twice and also won over Potomac State. The Steel City floormen are scheduled to play Potomac Friday night in Keyser.

Tonight's game marks the opening of a 20-game schedule for the Mountain City cagers who are billed to play in Altoona Friday while on Saturday night they'll host Johnstown (Pa.) Center at the Beall High gym.

Coach Babcock will select his starting lineup from a squad of 13 players, namely, Neil Grayson, Jack Barham, Bill Kirk, Ronnie Chapman, Tommy Kelly, Joe Wolfe, John Clark, Bobby Wilson, Dick Devore, Bob Kirk, Pete Wageley, Allan LaPorta and Ed Thompson.

Clifton Van Roby and William P. Hahn will officiate.

Three high school contests are on tap for tonight.

Bruce Opens Season

Coach Augie Eichhorn's Bruce High's Bulldogs, Maryland's Class B champions of 1952-53, will pry off the lid at Hyndman where they'll tackle Hyndman High School. The Westernport aggregation copped 21 out of 25 games last season and captured state honors by whipping Northern, Middletown, Elkton and Arundel High of Odenton in the statewide games. Hyndman lost its opening game Tuesday at Rockwood, Pa.

Piedmont High opens defense of the P.V.C. title it won last season by playing Elk Garden's Elks tonight at Elk Garden. "Huck" Miers Lions won 20 out of 28 games last season and opened the current grind on Tuesday by whipping the Alumni. Elk Garden lost its opener to Valley High of Lonaconing.

Winnipeg Club Fails To Get AA Franchise

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 2 (AP)—Winnipeg of the Class C Northern League gave up its efforts to gain an American Association franchise for 1954 today.

Ed Doherty, league president, released a statement that pointed out no franchise was available in the Association and there was no indication that any would be available.

The announcement by Doherty apparently ends reports that Winnipeg might go into the Association and Charleston, W. Va. might shift to the International League.

Theodore Roosevelt was the first native of the Americas to win a Nobel prize.

Maryland Race Heads Fail To Agree On Dates

Hope To Reach Accord At Another Meeting

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP) — The Maryland Racing Commission announced today it can't agree, either, on dates next year for the three major tracks.

The commission took on the scheduling job a week ago after the three tracks all requested dates that conflicted. D. Eldred Rinehart, commission chairman, had promised to allot them today.

"There is a difference of opinion among the commissioners," he reported instead. "Therefore, we will not announce a schedule until after we have held another meeting."

That won't be before next week, Rinehart added. There are two other commissioners.

Rinehart said the three had boiled the various possible divisions down to two schedules, but can't agree on which one is better.

Laurel, Bowie, Pimlico divide 100 days equally. Usually, each track splits its share into spring and fall meetings. Invariably, at least two of the tracks want to run at the same time and the commission has had to assign dates arbitrarily.

Joe Culmone Rides Five Bowie Winners

BOWIE, Md., Dec. 2 (AP)—Jockey Joe Culmone rode winners in five of six races at Bowie today, including both ends of the daily double and the feature race aboard Alakatch.

Culmone won the first three races on Direct Tent ($11.00), Braniff ($8.80) and Puppet ($8.60), finished third in the fourth race on Texas Sigh ($3.20 for show), didn't ride in the fifth, and then won the sixth on Easy Paddy ($7.20) and the seventh on Alakatch ($6.40). He didn't have a mount in the eighth.

Direct Tent and Braniff paid $42.40 for the daily double.

Native Dancer Voted Champion 3-Year-Old Colt

Vanderbilt Ace Is Unanimous Choice

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP) — Not that it is any great surprise, but Native Dancer was unanimously voted as the champion 3-year-old colt of 1953 today by the selections board of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's great grey got every one of the votes cast by the secretaries of the 37 tracks which make up the TRA membership. A year ago, the colorful Dancer was not only chosen 2-year-old champion, but was named the No. 1 horse of 1952, American champion, an unprecedented honor for a juvenile.

This year, the horse to be named American champion will be announced at the TRA's annual dinner here tomorrow night.

Native Dancer, who captured the public fancy as no race horse had perhaps since the days of Man O'War, was unbeaten as a 2-year-old in nine races. This year he lost but once—to Dark Star in the stunning Kentucky Derby upset. He won nine of 10 races this year, $513,425 as top money winning horse of 1953, and shot his total to $743,920—fourth on the list of the world's greatest money winning horses.

Vanderbilt has said the Dancer, now wintering at his owner's Sagamore Farm in Maryland, will return to the races in 1954, and may even go abroad to face the European stars.

Bowlers of today are sometimes known as "keglers" after the German word "kegel," a pin much like an Indian club. The Germans first used the club for twirling and finally as an object for rolling balls.

Kentucky, Indiana, Duquesne And Kansas Rated Top Quints

Wildcats Make Debut Saturday After Being Sidelined One Year

By HOWARD SIGMAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 2—(INS)—The liveliest, most unpredictable season in college basketball's post-scandal era appears set to burst upon eager hoop fans with a nationwide bounce.

Highlighting the dribble-filled program as the campaign makes an all-out debut this week is the return to action of mighty Kentucky. The Wildcats were on the sidelines for a year at the behest of the NCAA, because of the part played in the hoop "fix" mess by former Kentucky players.

Adolph Rupp's powerhouse worked hard during the layoff and is pledged to show it has gone "straight," by going straight to the national championship. All eyes will be on the Baron and his team when they launch their season Saturday night against Temple.

Cliff Hagan Heads Cast

The nucleus for Rupp's five is All-American Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos—thee regulars from the team that copped the Southeastern Conference title in the 1951-52 season. Also on hand are Willie Rouse and Bill Evans, reserves on that team. An extremely talented sophomore corps is headed by hookshot artist Jerry Bird, a 6-6 center.

Kentucky's bid for top national honors will be questioned by the Indiana Hoosiers, defending NCAA champions. Coach Branch McCracken's Hoosiers pack the necessary equipment and many experts think they'll repeat as Big Ten and national kingpins.

Indiana, led by All-American Don Schlundt, the 6-9 pivotman, and 6-3 Bob Leonard, has nine returning lettermen and an adept list of sophomore candidates.

Duquesne Stands Out

The "big four" is rounded out by Duquesne and Kansas. The Dukes are given the nod as the pre-season favorite in the powerpacked east.

Dudey Moore's Pittsburgh five has height, speed, experience and reserve strength. All-America candidates Jim Tucker (6-8) and Dick Ricketts (6-7) head the Dukes' star-studded roster.

Kansas was a surprise last season, going all the way to the NCAA finals before being dropped by a point by Indiana. The Jayhawks figure to be strong again, spearheaded by B. H. Born, the 6-9 lefty center who took over Clyde Lovellette's role in Coach Phog Allen's offensive schemes.

Seton Hall, winner of the National Invitation Tournament in 1952-53, lost All-American Walt Dukes, and Richie Regan through graduation and the Pirates don't figure to be as strong as they were.

LaSalle Retains Gola

Expected to give Duquesne the most competition for top honors in the east are LaSalle (which still has All-America Tom Gola), St. John's, Niagara, Holy Cross and Fordham. The Ivy League race shapes up as a duel between Yale and Cornell.

North Carolina State appears to be the top team in the Atlantic Coast Conference, but Wake Forest, Duke and North Carolina are touted as threats. In the Southern Conference the coaches think West Virginia and Richmond are the teams to beat.

Indiana's chief opposition in the Big Ten is figured to come from Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan State and Ohio State are regarded as likely to be troublesome.

LSU Defends Title

LSU, defending champ, is figured to give Kentucky a battle in the Southeast.

Kansas State is selected as the chief stumbling block to Kansas' bid for a third straight big seven title.

The Missouri Valley race shapes up as a two-team affair between Oklahoma A. and M. and St. Louis.

Defending champion TCU, Rice and Southern Methodist are the most talked about teams in the Southwest Conference and hardly anyone is mentioned except Wyoming in the Skyline Conference.

California is tabbed to repeat as Southern Division champs in the Pacific Coast Conference and Oregon State is the choice to unseat Houbregs—less Washington in the north.

The experts also see possible big things from Dayton, Santa Clara and Bowling Green, among others.

Britain Launches Mammoth Plan To Beat London Smog

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The British government today launched a mammoth plan to beat London's killer smogs—but warned it may take many years to control the menace completely, if it can be done at all.

Housing Minister Harold MacMillan told the House of Commons that London's disastrous five-day fog last December killed off some 4,000 people. Government experts earlier blamed a series of choking fogs last winter for deaths of 12,000 Britons.

MacMillan was presenting the long-awaited report on anti-smog measures drawn up by a special government committee.

Radio warnings would be given in advance of expected major fogs, he said, and old and sick people should not venture out of doors unless it is absolutely necessary. Then they should wear a smog mask or tie a scarf across the nose and mouth.

"These fog warnings will be accompanied by advice to the public about the ways in which they can help to reduce smog and its ill effects," he added.

MacMillan said the committee blamed the domestic consumer for most of Britain's smog hazards. "Householders in large towns . . . should burn only coke or other smokeless fuels during consistent fogs," it said.

The committee also recommended that cars should not be driven into fogged-up areas; that fires should be allowed to die out at night; that no incinerators or bonfires be lit during fog danger times.

Britain, West Europe Have Balmy Weather

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP) — Unusual spring-like weather laid a soft hand over Britain and Western Europe for the fifth straight day today.

Londoners went about without top coats. Sweden had its warmest December day in 80 years, when the mercury held at 53 degrees Fahrenheit. Flights of confused wild geese were seen flying north instead of south across the Stockholm archipelago.

New Freedom Voice

MUNICH, Germany, Dec. 2 (AP)—Radio Free Europe inaugurated today a powerful new transmitter beamed at Communist-governed Czechoslovakia—and the Reds tried to jam it. The mobile 50,000-watt transmitter is the 22nd station Radio Free Europe is operating to get through the Iron Curtain.

Nehru And Nixon Talk Two Hours

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru had a two-hour talk on world affairs tonight with Vice President Richard Nixon. Authoritative sources said the Indian leader gave Nixon little reason to expect any closer Indian-American political alignment.

The Prime Minister outlined his position in favor of recognizing Communist China as a dominant Asiatic power, the sources said, and expressed belief the United States policy of containment is being carried too far around Russia.

These views already have brought sharp criticism of Nehru by Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif), the Senate Republican leader, and other influential Americans.

Nixon himself said the talk with Nehru gave him "a much more rounded and objective picture" of the Prime Minister's viewpoints. They met alone over a bowl of cashew nuts and tangerine juice in a private room of Nehru's luxurious residence.

One-Day Strike Hits Britain

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The biggest industrial strike since 1926 hit Britain today. It was a 24-hour token walkout to support demands for a 15 per cent wage boost. Union officials warned that a protracted work stoppage may come later.

Spokesmen for the massive Confederation of Engineering and Shipbuilding Unions said up to 2 million of their 2¾ million members joined in the one-day "show of strength."

Industry spokesmen estimated the strike would cost Britain 10 million pounds (28 million dollars) in lost production.

Almost every line of industrial activity from cars and ships to aircraft and clock-making was slowed or stopped dead. Public services—transport, utilities, health and food—were unaffected. Government plants such as ordnance factories also were exempted.

The National Union of General and Municipal Workers, one of the confederation's 39 affiliates, said it would consider asking the confederation next week for a vote on whether to start a regular strike or submit the wage demands to arbitration.

Truck Tires Used By Liquor Smugglers

MILAN, Dec. 2 (AP) — The four truck tires being carried over the border on the back of a truck had a strange gurgle.

Police investigated and found they contained 165 liters of grappa, an alcoholic beverage with a high octaine rating.

Mario Zampetti, 19, and Domenico Mazzola, 20, were accused of trying to smuggle the liquor into Switzerland.

High School At Elk Garden To Get Rating Soon

Educators Air School's Merits

KEYSER — Elk Garden High School is on the road to being confirmed as a unit of the Mineral County Educational system with a rating of membership in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

At a recent principals meeting, A. G. Gibson, Charleston, state supervisor for the West Virginia school system, headed a discussion of the merits of the Elk Garden High School for recommendation for the rating.

The principals were agreed that the school is ready for the rating, but there are other activities necessary before presentation to the North Central Association.

These matters will be considered further from now until next spring, at which time ratings are granted by the association. Only three other Mineral County high schools have the North Central rating, the first of which was Keyser High School, which received the rating in 1927.

Two years ago the rating was given to Ridgeley High School, and last spring Fort Ashby received the rating.

Among the high school principals present was W. J. Farmer, principal of Triadelphia High School in Wheeling, who is a member of the State Committee.

Alexander said the hunting violations occurred on a road leading to the Woodmont Road and Gun Club, which raises its own deer.

Magistrate Edward P. Fost imposed the fines,

Fire Fighters Take Custody Of Keyser Park

KEYSER—Custody of Memorial Park on Center Street, across from the Fire Hall, has been given to the Keyser Fire Department by Mayor John C. Freeland and City Council.

The fire fighters had offered to take care of the park, keep it clean and make improvements to the property.

In addition, the firemen will have tests made of the ground and send them to Charleston for analysis to learn the type of grass that will flourish and will proceed with treating the soil that a better grass surface will result.

In making their offer to the city, the firemen asked to be relieved from the duty of caring for the display of the flag on the staff on the corner of the park. The city officers decided the flag duties will be taken care of by the city.

The council transacted considerable routine business at the meeting in addition to payment of bills. The council meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Fred M. Bowman, pastor of Keyser Church of the Brethren.

500th Mile Of Gas Pipeline Laid To Bring Supply Here

The nation's longest pipeline project now under construction — which can mean more natural gas for homes, business places and industries here—pushed well beyond the halfway point this week.

Some 3,000 workmen, many putting in more than 12-hours a day, marked the laying of the 500th mile of an 860-mile line which will make more gas available from Louisiana gas fields.

Work On Schedule

Carl C. Robbins, Cumberland District, manager for Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, said work is "proceeding on schedule" at points between the Louisiana Gulf Coast and the Kentucky-West Virginia border.

Gulf Interstate Gas Company, owners of the $129,000,000 pipeline, estimate it will be completed and begin making its first gas deliveries by next November.

Meantime, to get the gas from the Kentucky-West Virginia border to customers, C. & A. and other Columbia Gas System companies must finance and complete the biggest construction programs in their history.

All told, Columbia companies must spend $130,000,000 next year, primarily for new and larger pipelines and underground storage areas as well as new pumping stations.

$1,500,000 By C. & A.

About $1,500,000 of that will be spent by C. & A. and Robbins said the "size of the financial job" poses the biggest problem.

Successful financing and completion of the new Columbia company lines will help eliminate a gas shortage which has existed here since 1945, Robbins said.

Shortages hit those waiting for gas heat first, the manager explained, but they also produce industrial gas curtailments which have a much wider effect.

"Really Suffered"

He referred to the winter of 1950-51 and said that industries and workers "really suffered" at that time. He said the only thing that prevented "normal" curtailment the past two years was "warmer-than-average" winter weather.

When completed the Gulf Interstate pipeline will deliver up to 375-million cubic feet of gas daily to the Columbia Gas System. The gas will be shared by all Columbia member firms, including the gas company here.

Gas to feed to the pipeline will come from 16 Louisiana producing fields. Another Columbia company, United Fuel Gas Company, has contracts for over two-trillion cubic feet of gas to be delivered over a 20-year period.

United Fuel is negotiating for still more supplies—which will also be shared by the local gas company—in an attempt to keep up with increasing fuel demands, the manager explained.

Smaller Pipe

Besides the 860-mile main line, another 330-mile system of smaller pipe is being laid in Louisiana to gather the gas from wells and feed it into the 30-inch Gulf Interstate line.

Robbins said one of the pipeliner's toughest barriers—the Mississippi River—has just been crossed after a six month's amphibious assault costing over $3,000,000.

To assure continuous deliveries across the two miles of swift flowing water, four lines were laid 40-feet under the riverbed. The crossing was made at a point near Greenville, Mississippi.

In all, the new pipeline will cross five major rivers. They are the Mississippi, Kentucky, Cumberland, Tennessee and Red Rivers. It passes through four states — Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky.

To keep the gas moving on its 860-mile trip from Louisiana to the Kentucky-West Virginia border, Gulf Interstate Company is building five big compressor stations along the line. Each station is estimated to cost over $1,800,000.

High School At Elk Garden To Get Rating Soon

Educators Air School's Merits

KEYSER — Elk Garden High School is on the road to being confirmed as a unit of the Mineral County Educational system with a rating of membership in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

At a recent principals meeting, A. G. Gibson, Charleston, state supervisor for the West Virginia school system, headed a discussion of the merits of the Elk Garden High School for recommendation for the rating.

The principals were agreed that the school is ready for the rating, but there are other activities necessary before presentation to the North Central Association.

These matters will be considered further from now until next spring, at which time ratings are granted by the association. Only three other Mineral County high schools have the North Central rating, the first of which was Keyser High School, which received the rating in 1927.

Two years ago the rating was given to Ridgeley High School, and last spring Fort Ashby received the rating.

Among the high school principals present was W. J. Farmer, principal of Triadelphia High School in Wheeling, who is a member of the State Committee.

Ike Conference Dominated By Man Who Wasn't There

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Some presidential news conferences are dominated by a single theme. Often it's an event, sometimes it's an individual.

Largely because of its buildup, this was true of the conference President Eisenhower held today.

The dominating theme was the man who wasn't there, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The stage for today's drama was set yesterday by Secretary of State Dulles. Without mentioning McCarthy by name, Dulles disagreed with him completely on some of his views on international affairs.

Would Eisenhower back up, or away from, Dulles? The banner headline in the Washington Times-Herald pretty well summed up reporters' feelings:

"Today: Ike vs. McCarthy."

Eisenhower was a couple of minutes late—that's unusual for him—and he had a few things to get off his chest before submitting to questions.

He talked briefly of the Bermuda conference, and then, turning to the McCarthy question, he made what should be the understatement of 1953.

Some of you may have noticed, he told reporters, the headlines in the papers. Which, of course, we certainly had.

Eisenhower said he was going to read his statement, and this would be his last word on the subject.

He got a laugh, unintentionally, when he said he had had copies prepared and that we wouldn't have to take notes.

You will get this paper outside, the President said, and you can use it for any purpose you see fit.

Laughter, and a startled grin from Eisenhower.

Then he read: "I am in full accord with the statements made yesterday by Secretary Dulles. . . ."

He read on to the end of the page and a half text. And that was that.

Those hoping for a knockdown fight undoubtedly were disappointed. You'd have to say—to continue the use of boxing terms—that the champ didn't try for a knockout, but was content to try to win on points.

Because of its buildup, the conference seemed to drag a little after that.

There even was time to muse over other news conferences, conferences in which Gen. Eisenhower was the man who wasn't there, and still was the dominating figure.

One of Truman's conferences, for example. Time after time, the questioning came back to Eisenhower. Did Truman think Eisenhower would run? Did he think Eisenhower would make a good president? Would Truman support Eisenhower?

Today's conference, though, had one startling difference. It lasted 26 minutes, and not once during that time did either the reporters or the President ever use the word "McCarthy."

W. Va. Drought Relief Meeting Set Today

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 2 (AP)—Committees will meet here tomorrow to make arrangements for transportation of hay and grain to aid farmers in this drought-stricken area.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has sent $60,000 to the state as the first installment of $205,000 in federal help to pay for the transportation. The total amount was raised from $185,000 after Marshall, Mason, Ohio, Tyler and Wetzel counties were added to the drought list.

A total of 42 West Virginia counties now have been declared eligible for emergency relief. Brooke, Marion and Tyler counties were rejected by the federal agency.

A traveler crossing the state of Nebraska from east to west is said to climb an average of 10 feet to the mile.

McCarthy Is Not A Challenge To Ike's Leadership

Magazine Says Solon Not Seeking Office

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP) — Newsweek magazine quotes Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) as saying he has no intention or desire to be a candidate for president and that he is not challenging President Eisenhower's leadership.

The magazine said it interviewed him in Wisconsin "after his nationwide TV speech (Nov. 24) had stirred both his Democratic opponents and those within his own party who saw it as an attack on President Eisenhower."

Newsweek quoted these questions and answers:

"Is your speech the opening gun in a campaign for the presidency in 1956?"

"Definitely not. I have neither any intention nor desire to be a candidate for anything else than the United States Senate."

"Are you challenging the President's leadership of the Republican party?"

"No. Definitely not. He has done a good job. I think his batting average has been good. I don't think it is any favor to the President, however, and certainly no favor to the country, for the Republicans to wear blinkers in the small percentage of cases where he is not batting so well. . . ."

Asked why he included his own party in criticism of the way the Communist issue has been handled, McCarthy said he "felt very strongly that a party makes an awful mistake when it doesn't indulge in self-criticism where necessary."

To a question of whether he would consider tying himself to a third party if the administration refuses to make communism the issue, he replied in part:

"No. Because I think this administration is willing and anxious to clean out Communists."

He was asked whether he would support all Republican candidates or just those who supported his efforts to clean Communists out of government.

McCarthy said he will feel "duty bound to support all Republican candidates for the House or Senate" because a close contest lies ahead with party control of Congress in the balance.

"If the control of the House and Senate did not hang by such a thin thread there would be certain Republicans whom I would refuse to support," he said. "If the Democrats gain control it would mean the Democrats would control every committee and every investigation."

In his speech, McCarthy differed with Eisenhower's expressed hope that the problem of communism in government would be resolved before the 1954 elections. McCarthy said it was an "unpleasant fact" that communism is an issue and will be an issue in 1954.

Fresh Blood Aids Babies To Battle War Of Red Cells

RH-factor Seriously Damages Child's Brain

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 2 (AP) — More babies born with a strange war in their bloodstreams are being saved from brain damage or death by new knowledge about giving them fresh, safe blood, a physician reported today.

One step is to replace the warring blood quickly. Another is to give some babies actually less blood than is taken to prevent heart failure.

Good results in saving these babies were described to the American Medical Association by Dr. Fred H. Allen Jr., Boston pediatrician.

The babies have the blood war because their red cells contain the RH-factor, or other blood factors which their mothers lack. While the baby is in her womb, the mother may make antibodies against that type of red cell. The antibodies enter the baby's blood and begin destroying his red cells.

Replacing the baby's blood with blood free of the antibodies has been saving many infants who formerly died of anemia or jaundice, or suffered brain damage.

The baby has to make many new red cells because so many are being destroyed. But he has trouble getting rid of the elements, especially the pigment, in the destroyed cells. It is the pigment which can damage the brain. The damage doesn't happen for a day or more after birth.

By early transfusions of babies with this blood condition, there was not a single case of brain damage in 125 RH-babies treated at Boston Lying-In Hospital in the last five years, Dr. Allen said.

The expectation would have been 25 to 30 infants with the brain damage, kernicterus, on the basis of earlier experience. About 10 percent of cases of cerebral palsy are caused by this kind of brain damage.

The death rate in the blood incompatible babies has been cut from 20 per cent in 1945-46 to 4 per cent in the years since, Dr. Allen said.

The main life-saving step was realization that many of the sickest babies had congestive heart failure, or were on the verge of it. By giving less new blood than was taken away, blood pressure was reduced and these infants usually got better immediately.

The blood battle can be caused by about 15 types of blood factors. Dr. Allen urged that nurses be trained for alert, early detection of babies headed for this trouble.

Ike Conference Dominated By Man Who Wasn't There

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Some presidential news conferences are dominated by a single theme. Often it's an event, sometimes it's an individual.

Largely because of its buildup, this was true of the conference President Eisenhower held today.

The dominating theme was the man who wasn't there, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The stage for today's drama was set yesterday by Secretary of State Dulles. Without mentioning McCarthy by name, Dulles disagreed with him completely on some of his views on international affairs.

Would Eisenhower back up, or away from, Dulles? The banner headline in the Washington Times-Herald pretty well summed up reporters' feelings:

"Today: Ike vs. McCarthy."

Eisenhower was a couple of minutes late—that's unusual for him—and he had a few things to get off his chest before submitting to questions.

He talked briefly of the Bermuda conference, and then, turning to the McCarthy question, he made what should be the understatement of 1953.

Some of you may have noticed, he told reporters, the headlines in the papers. Which, of course, we certainly had.

Eisenhower said he was going to read his statement, and this would be his last word on the subject.

He got a laugh, unintentionally, when he said he had had copies prepared and that we wouldn't have to take notes.

You will get this paper outside, the President said, and you can use it for any purpose you see fit.

Laughter, and a startled grin from Eisenhower.

Then he read: "I am in full accord with the statements made yesterday by Secretary Dulles. . . ."

He read on to the end of the page and a half text. And that was that.

Those hoping for a knockdown fight undoubtedly were disappointed. You'd have to say—to continue the use of boxing terms—that the champ didn't try for a knockout, but was content to try to win on points.

Because of its buildup, the conference seemed to drag a little after that.

There even was time to muse over other news conferences, conferences in which Gen. Eisenhower was the man who wasn't there, and still was the dominating figure.

One of Truman's conferences, for example. Time after time, the questioning came back to Eisenhower. Did Truman think Eisenhower would run? Did he think Eisenhower would make a good president? Would Truman support Eisenhower?

Today's conference, though, had one startling difference. It lasted 26 minutes, and not once during that time did either the reporters or the President ever use the word "McCarthy."

W. Va. Drought Relief Meeting Set Today

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 2 (AP)—Committees will meet here tomorrow to make arrangements for transportation of hay and grain to aid farmers in this drought-stricken area.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has sent $60,000 to the state as the first installment of $205,000 in federal help to pay for the transportation. The total amount was raised from $185,000 after Marshall, Mason, Ohio, Tyler and Wetzel counties were added to the drought list.

A total of 42 West Virginia counties now have been declared eligible for emergency relief. Brooke, Marion and Tyler counties were rejected by the federal agency.

A traveler crossing the state of Nebraska from east to west is said to climb an average of 10 feet to the mile.

McCarthy Is Not A Challenge To Ike's Leadership

Magazine Says Solon Not Seeking Office

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP) — Newsweek magazine quotes Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) as saying he has no intention or desire to be a candidate for president and that he is not challenging President Eisenhower's leadership.

The magazine said it interviewed him in Wisconsin "after his nationwide TV speech (Nov. 24) had stirred both his Democratic opponents and those within his own party who saw it as an attack on President Eisenhower."

Newsweek quoted these questions and answers:

"Is your speech the opening gun in a campaign for the presidency in 1956?"

"Definitely not. I have neither any intention nor desire to be a candidate for anything else than the United States Senate."

"Are you challenging the President's leadership of the Republican party?"

"No. Definitely not. He has done a good job. I think his batting average has been good. I don't think it is any favor to the President, however, and certainly no favor to the country, for the Republicans to wear blinkers in the small percentage of cases where he is not batting so well. . . ."

Asked why he included his own party in criticism of the way the Communist issue has been handled, McCarthy said he "felt very strongly that a party makes an awful mistake when it doesn't indulge in self-criticism where necessary."

To a question of whether he would consider tying himself to a third party if the administration refuses to make communism the issue, he replied in part:

"No. Because I think this administration is willing and anxious to clean out Communists."

He was asked whether he would support all Republican candidates or just those who supported his efforts to clean Communists out of government.

McCarthy said he will feel "duty bound to support all Republican candidates for the House or Senate" because a close contest lies ahead with party control of Congress in the balance.

"If the control of the House and Senate did not hang by such a thin thread there would be certain Republicans whom I would refuse to support," he said. "If the Democrats gain control it would mean the Democrats would control every committee and every investigation."

In his speech, McCarthy differed with Eisenhower's expressed hope that the problem of communism in government would be resolved before the 1954 elections. McCarthy said it was an "unpleasant fact" that communism is an issue and will be an issue in 1954.

Fresh Blood Aids Babies To Battle War Of Red Cells

RH-factor Seriously Damages Child's Brain

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 2 (AP) — More babies born with a strange war in their bloodstreams are being saved from brain damage or death by new knowledge about giving them fresh, safe blood, a physician reported today.

One step is to replace the warring blood quickly. Another is to give some babies actually less blood than is taken to prevent heart failure.

Good results in saving these babies were described to the American Medical Association by Dr. Fred H. Allen Jr., Boston pediatrician.

The babies have the blood war because their red cells contain the RH-factor, or other blood factors which their mothers lack. While the baby is in her womb, the mother may make antibodies against that type of red cell. The antibodies enter the baby's blood and begin destroying his red cells.

Replacing the baby's blood with blood free of the antibodies has been saving many infants who formerly died of anemia or jaundice, or suffered brain damage.

The baby has to make many new red cells because so many are being destroyed. But he has trouble getting rid of the elements, especially the pigment, in the destroyed cells. It is the pigment which can damage the brain. The damage doesn't happen for a day or more after birth.

By early transfusions of babies with this blood condition, there was not a single case of brain damage in 125 RH-babies treated at Boston Lying-In Hospital in the last five years, Dr. Allen said.

The expectation would have been 25 to 30 infants with the brain damage, kernicterus, on the basis of earlier experience. About 10 percent of cases of cerebral palsy are caused by this kind of brain damage.

The death rate in the blood incompatible babies has been cut from 20 per cent in 1945-46 to 4 per cent in the years since, Dr. Allen said.

The main life-saving step was realization that many of the sickest babies had congestive heart failure, or were on the verge of it. By giving less new blood than was taken away, blood pressure was reduced and these infants usually got better immediately.

The blood battle can be caused by about 15 types of blood factors. Dr. Allen urged that nurses be trained for alert, early detection of babies headed for this trouble.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 2 (INS)—Tyrone Power's last picture on his present contract with 20th Century-Fox will be "Enchanted Cup" with Charles Brackett producing.

Dorothy James Roberts' novel was the Book of the Month selection for October, and it's working its way up on the best seller lists. Harry Brown has been assigned the screenplay. The dramatization of the classic love story of Tristan and Isolde will be given the works—CinemaScope and color.

Because of previous commitments for Tyrone, it won't go until the summer of '54. And, with this picture, Power and 20th say "farewell" after 17 years.

Latest star snagged by Al Freeman and Jack Entratter for their Sands Hotel in Las Vegas is Maurice Chevalier, who headlines the show for three weeks starting April 21.

The deal was set by Irving Lazar who just returned from Paris, and the money is around $20,000 American brand.

If you are asking if Chevalier's passport difficulties with Uncle Sam have been cleared up—they have.

After the Las Vegas stint, the French comedian-singer comes to Hollywood to supervise the making of his life story with Danny Kaye starring in the Bill Goetz production.

Diana Lynn finishes the London run of "The Moon Is Blue" Dec. 5 and the next day planes to New York for a personal talk with Elmer Rice about his new play, "The Winner."

Whether she does or doesn't sign for the Broadway play, Diana returns to Europe within the week. Although she's been abroad for five months, she has been working all that time.

"I want a month's vacation on the continent," Diana said via transatlantic 'phone. "Mr. Rice very nicely agreed his show would not go into rehearsal until I had a chance to rest."

Hollywood? She doesn't know when she'll be back here.

Bela Lugosi handed me a laugh when he called to say he's returning to England to make "The Return of the White Zombie."

"A movie," chuckled Bela, "not a drink."

J. Arthur Rank is the producer, and he told Lugosi that the original "White Zombie" they made together had been one of his company's big moneymakers throughout the world.

For the past year, Bela has been playing "Dracula" on the London stage and returned to Hollywood for just a brief time.

Snapshots collected at random: Dick Long visits Suzan Ball at the hospital mornings and nights. Their romance, which was off before she injured her leg again, is now very much on.

Gregory Peck's picture in India is off. He'll be back in Hollywood in April to make "Moby Dick" for Warners.

Nora Flynn Haymes' lawyer, S. S. Hahn, hot under the collar because Dick Haymes is way in arrears on his $100 weekly alimony to Nora, will have him cited for contempt of court unless he "pays up to date" immediately.

The ex-Mrs. Jack Webb (Julie London) has had a few dates with Phil Gray, a musician, in Palm Springs.

Bob Hope is too thrilled by the Wilshire Chamber of Commerce Award "for his efforts as a Great American during 1953" for any wisecrack; particularly by the letter from President Eisenhower, which was read at the dinner.

After popular Rosalind Courtright completes her St. Regis engagement, she'll take her lovely voice and gowns to the Copacabana in Rio De Janeiro, her first professional trip out of the country.

Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski is selling some of her jools and furs at the Parke-Bernet Galleries on the 9th and 10th of December. Probably last year's diamonds and minks.

Phil Harris is putting his foot down on more gags about how much he likes those southern mint juleps.

That's all today. So you tomorrow!

DISCARDING TOP CARD

YOU don't ordinarily expect to discard the top card of a suit, or one which had become top because the higher card or cards had been played. But there are various situations in which this should be done. One of them comes when you wish to unblock a suit and enable a lower card in the opposite holding to become a winner. Another time for the play is when you desire to blank yourself in the suit so that you may trump the next lead of it. Either use of such a discard is usually pretty.

East	South	West	North
1 ♣	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♦
3 ♥	3 ♠	Dbl.

Here was a case of a fine all-around pair clicking on the defense in a crucial tournament deal. It happened that, at other tables of the pair event, the contract was 4-Spades by South, which was beaten two tricks. Hence, unless this contract of 2-Spades was beaten two tricks, through taking of six against it, the pair would have lost the points awarded for the hand. Its splendid work saved a tie.

Ozzie Ray in the East and Ray P. Duggan in the West, both Long Islanders playing in the Valley Stream tournament, which included some of the best American stars, began their defense with a lead of the club Q, which won, followed by the 6 to the K. Mr. Ray then laid down the heart A, getting the 8 from his partner, then the Q—a pretty move. Followed then the club A, on which Mr. Duggan discarded the heart K, leaving South with the J as the highest card of the suit.

That discard was all-revealing to East, whose next offering was the heart 4. Mr. Duggan was able to ruff that with the spade 9, higher than the dummy could go, to give his side the sixth consecutive trick and save the deal from loss.

How should North play for 2-Spades, doubled by West, after East leads the heart 9, West playing the J?

a few minutes faster on a portal to portal call than the carriage of old. Though most of the cars are made in dingy British factory towns they blossom voluptuously after arrival in Bermuda, in a manner that would startle their builders. A number of them use fringed carriage tops, raised high over the heads of passengers, not unlike a spread out umbrella. And they attract fewer flies than old Dobbin, or his British colonial counterpart. Bermuda still has loads of charm.

To accommodate about 150 reporters from all over the world, an impressive communications office has been opened in the Castle Harbour Hotel, press headquarters. If it could be seen by the average Bermudian, he would be mightily impressed. He is not a man who expects much of the telephone.

We had a wonderfully odd-acting telephone at "Hampton Head," out by the lighthouse, during the summer of 1949—as well as a naturalist's treasure in wall-walking things. Each rainfall sent our phone into a state of collapse. At times it would not utter a word, after a drenching in the vicinity. At other times it spoke only in a confiding whisper. But it was at its best if the rain occurred at a certain hour during the afternoon. Then, immediately after, you could pick up the receiver and hear Bing Crosby singing, for our phone had a way of eavesdropping on local radio programs.

But there isn't much chance that any of these things will happen to Messrs. Eisenhower, Churchill and Laniel. More's the pity.

Garrett County Road Bids Are Requested

The bids will be opened Dec. 22.

Here are grooming tricks to turn your eyebrows into lovely frames for your eyes!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

"What does one need to know before plucking the eyebrows for the first time?" asks one reader. Not to pluck too much is my answer! Plucking should only be done to emphasize the natural line by getting rid of the stragglers that becloud it.

Before plucking, brush your eyebrows straight up from one end to the other. Then, using the long side of the brush, align the top of your brows. This, in fact, is the way brows always should be brushed and it should always be the finishing touch of your make-up sessions.

Now that your brows are brushed to their naturally most perfect line, carefully appraise them in relation to your face. Are they too close over the bridge of your nose? Brows should end at a line that extends vertically straight up from the tear duct at the inner edge of each eye. Any hairs in between should be eliminated.

Do your brows conform fairly well to the shape of the upper curve of your eye? Any shaping you do should be done with this as your goal.

There should not be any point in the line of your brow. It should be heaviest near the nose and gently tapering as it curves to its end.

Generally speaking, it is advisable to thin the eyebrows from the lower edge. Any thickening of the brow or filling out of its shape with a pencil is best accomplished by application at the upper edge.

When the eyebrow is too short to adequately frame the eye, use a brow pencil to extend the line. This is a touch which many women need and too many overlook. In extending the line of your brow take care not to bring the line noticeably down, which gives the eyes an aging, droopy look.

Always keep the pencil sharply pointed. Fill in your line with tiny lines that simulate your natural brow growth. Practice making these tiny strokes until you make them with skill.

Brows that are very light, grayed or faded in color can be enhanced with mascara. Again, however, caution is the watchword and too strong a color will only defeat your purpose.

Few are born with perfect brows. It takes just a little thought and care to perfect them however!

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 2 (INS)—Tyrone Power's last picture on his present contract with 20th Century-Fox will be "Enchanted Cup" with Charles Brackett producing.

Dorothy James Roberts' novel was the Book of the Month selection for October, and it's working its way up on the best seller lists. Harry Brown has been assigned the screenplay. The dramatization of the classic love story of Tristan and Isolde will be given the works—CinemaScope and color.

Because of previous commitments for Tyrone, it won't go until the summer of '54. And, with this picture, Power and 20th say "farewell" after 17 years.

Latest star snagged by Al Freeman and Jack Entratter for their Sands Hotel in Las Vegas is Maurice Chevalier, who headlines the show for three weeks starting April 21.

The deal was set by Irving Lazar who just returned from Paris, and the money is around $20,000 American brand.

If you are asking if Chevalier's passport difficulties with Uncle Sam have been cleared up—they have.

After the Las Vegas stint, the French comedian-singer comes to Hollywood to supervise the making of his life story with Danny Kaye starring in the Bill Goetz production.

Diana Lynn finishes the London run of "The Moon Is Blue" Dec. 5 and the next day planes to New York for a personal talk with Elmer Rice about his new play, "The Winner."

Whether she does or doesn't sign for the Broadway play, Diana returns to Europe within the week. Although she's been abroad for five months, she has been working all that time.

"I want a month's vacation on the continent," Diana said via transatlantic 'phone. "Mr. Rice very nicely agreed his show would not go into rehearsal until I had a chance to rest."

Hollywood? She doesn't know when she'll be back here.

Bela Lugosi handed me a laugh when he called to say he's returning to England to make "The Return of the White Zombie."

"A movie," chuckled Bela, "not a drink."

J. Arthur Rank is the producer, and he told Lugosi that the original "White Zombie" they made together had been one of his company's big moneymakers throughout the world.

For the past year, Bela has been playing "Dracula" on the London stage and returned to Hollywood for just a brief time.

Snapshots collected at random: Dick Long visits Suzan Ball at the hospital mornings and nights. Their romance, which was off before she injured her leg again, is now very much on.

Gregory Peck's picture in India is off. He'll be back in Hollywood in April to make "Moby Dick" for Warners.

Nora Flynn Haymes' lawyer, S. S. Hahn, hot under the collar because Dick Haymes is way in arrears on his $100 weekly alimony to Nora, will have him cited for contempt of court unless he "pays up to date" immediately.

The ex-Mrs. Jack Webb (Julie London) has had a few dates with Phil Gray, a musician, in Palm Springs.

Bob Hope is too thrilled by the Wilshire Chamber of Commerce Award "for his efforts as a Great American during 1953" for any wisecrack; particularly by the letter from President Eisenhower, which was read at the dinner.

After popular Rosalind Courtright completes her St. Regis engagement, she'll take her lovely voice and gowns to the Copacabana in Rio De Janeiro, her first professional trip out of the country.

Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski is selling some of her jools and furs at the Parke-Bernet Galleries on the 9th and 10th of December. Probably last year's diamonds and minks.

Phil Harris is putting his foot down on more gags about how much he likes those southern mint juleps.

That's all today. So you tomorrow!

DISCARDING TOP CARD

YOU don't ordinarily expect to discard the top card of a suit, or one which had become top because the higher card or cards had been played. But there are various situations in which this should be done. One of them comes when you wish to unblock a suit and enable a lower card in the opposite holding to become a winner. Another time for the play is when you desire to blank yourself in the suit so that you may trump the next lead of it. Either use of such a discard is usually pretty.

	♠ 8 4 ♥ 10 2 ♦ A K Q 10 8 2 ♣ J 7 3
♠ 10 9 6 2 ♥ K 8 6 ♦ J 9 5 3 ♣ Q 6	N W E S	♠ 5 ♥ A Q 7 4 3 ♦ 6 4 ♣ A K 10 8 4
	♠ A K Q J 7 3 ♥ J 9 5 ♦ 7 ♣ 9 5 2

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1 ♣	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♦
3 ♥	3 ♠	Dbl.

Here was a case of a fine all-around pair clicking on the defense in a crucial tournament deal. It happened that, at other tables of the pair event, the contract was 4-Spades by South, which was beaten two tricks. Hence, unless this contract of 2-Spades was beaten two tricks, through taking of six against it, the pair would have lost the points awarded for the hand. Its splendid work saved a tie.

Ozzie Ray in the East and Ray P. Duggan in the West, both Long Islanders playing in the Valley Stream tournament, which included some of the best American stars, began their defense with a lead of the club Q, which won, followed by the 6 to the K. Mr. Ray then laid down the heart A, getting the 8 from his partner, then the Q—a pretty move. Followed then the club A, on which Mr. Duggan discarded the heart K, leaving South with the J as the highest card of the suit.

That discard was all-revealing to East, whose next offering was the heart 4. Mr. Duggan was able to ruff that with the spade 9, higher than the dummy could go, to give his side the sixth consecutive trick and save the deal from loss.

"But he was clocked at 28 miles an hour!" he said.

There's not much chance that either Eisenhower or Churchill will be pinched here. They'll be staying at the Mid-Ocean Club, scene of the talks. They will abide in similar suites (air-conditioned last June in expectation of their arrival for a conference that was postponed.) The suites command a fine view of a part of the stunning golf course that surrounds the club, and of Bermuda's fabulous beach scenes of dazzling blue-green water, ominous black coral reefs, and brilliant pink and white sands.

How much work they'll get done remains to be seen. Seems to me, and I speak from a grain of experience, that Bermuda was never intended by its creator to be a place of vigorous production. Indeed, if such had been intended, some series of by-gone eager beavers might long since have turned it into an off-shore Pittsburgh.

This is a place to sit in the sun and look at the timeless lapping of the waves. This is a place to lie in the warm embrace of the gaily-colored sand and let it run through one's fingers and search the endless blue dome of the sky. This is a place where the bather, immersed in water that is almost like that of the Blue Grotto, finds new life and a freshened will to make something of it. Maybe the Big 2½ should conduct all their talks while treading water off the Mid-Ocean Beach Club.

Bermuda turned to dross for many old travelers after World War II when the island fathers reluctantly permitted the foul fumes of the motor car to besmirch the local scene. It was said by these disappointed people that Bermuda was through as a resort, that it had lost therewith the whole of its charm. They should return, and, of course, many have done so.

The Bermuda taxi, and its God-fearing, law-abiding driver, is only

HAMILTON, Bermuda (INS)—The Big 2½ conference, involving Eisenhower, Churchill and Laniel, a lame duck, is bound to proceed at a leisurely rate, even though it's due to start Friday and end Monday or Tuesday. The speed limit here is 20 miles-an-hour.

Far as I know, a speed ticket in Bermuda is tougher to fix than any dispensed anywhere else. A few years ago, while living down here, I remember being stunned by a story in the papers that the scion of one of the oldest and richest families on the island had been given an 8-month term in prison for speeding.

"That's shockingly unjust," I protested to a neighbor.

The neighbor didn't think so.

IN THE WAKE OF A FIRE that swept across a mile-and-a-half-long path in the crowded port city of Pusan, Korea, scores of homeless make their way through the ruins. Among the buildings destroyed was the United States Army Korean base section, which has handled vast quantities of war equipment since 1950, and the public information offices. At least 3,000 shacks were destroyed. Three persons were killed and 40 injured. Damage has been placed at $33,000,000. Of the millions of Koreans uprooted by the war, many settled in Pusan. Thousands sought shelter on Yongdo Island. (International Soundphoto)

Market Follows December Tradition With Slight Gain

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP) — The Stock Market carried on in the December tradition today with a moderate advance that sent it into new high ground for the past six months.

The market almost always advances in December and on into January—the traditional year-end rally.

There were many strong sections in the list including steels, oils, coppers, radio-televisions, and a long list of individual issues.

But there were some soft spots as well. Among these were the railroads and motors together with some chemicals.

Gains went to about 2 points at the best while losers were cut off at a point except in a few cases.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .40 cents at $109.90. That is the highest level for the average in the past six months.

The market was composed of 1,165 individual issues, just one less than yesterday, with 594 gainers and 279 losers and with 39 new highs and 12 lows for the year touched during the day.

Volume amounted to 1,850,000 shares. That compares with 1,580,000 shares traded yesterday when the market was up slightly.

IN THE WAKE OF A FIRE that swept across a mile-and-a-half-long path in the crowded port city of Pusan, Korea, scores of homeless make their way through the ruins. Among the buildings destroyed was the United States Army Korean base section, which has handled vast quantities of war equipment since 1950, and the public information offices. At least 3,000 shacks were destroyed. Three persons were killed and 40 injured. Damage has been placed at $33,000,000. Of the millions of Koreans uprooted by the war, many settled in Pusan. Thousands sought shelter on Yongdo Island. (International Soundphoto)

Market Follows December Tradition With Slight Gain

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP) — The Stock Market carried on in the December tradition today with a moderate advance that sent it into new high ground for the past six months.

The market almost always advances in December and on into January—the traditional year-end rally.

There were many strong sections in the list including steels, oils, coppers, radio-televisions, and a long list of individual issues.

But there were some soft spots as well. Among these were the railroads and motors together with some chemicals.

Gains went to about 2 points at the best while losers were cut off at a point except in a few cases.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 40 cents at $109.90. That is the highest level for the average in the past six months.

The market was composed of 1,165 individual issues, just one less than yesterday, with 594 gainers and 279 losers and with 39 new highs and 12 lows for the year touched during the day.

Volume amounted to 1,850,000 shares. That compares with 1,580,000 shares traded yesterday when the market was up slightly.

Legislative Council Gets Into Utility Rate Wrangle

Senator Phoebus Would Freeze Figures; Kimble Says Public Pays For Marble Castles

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP)—Maryland's Legislative Council got into an unscheduled wrangle about utility rates today, with some heated exchanges about the State's Public Service Commission.

State Sen. Phoebus R-Somerset touched it off by announcing he would sponsor a bill to freeze all utility rates at their present levels for a year.

Seek Rate Boosts

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co., the Consolidated Gas and Electric Co. of Baltimore, the Baltimore Transit Co., and the Hagerstown Gas Co. all have rate increase requests pending before the PSC.

Phoebus said he also will sponsor legislation to change the legal formula by which rates are determined.

The senator declared 'high priced lawyers couldn't represent the utilities any better than the PSC does" and said there ought to be "someone to represent the interests of the people of Maryland."

Joseph Allen, people's counsel to the PSC, brought up the rate making formula in a letter which arrived before the council about the same time Phoebus did.

Allen suggested the legislators should give careful study to provisions of the law about "fair rate of return" on money the utilities have invested.

The valuation of the investment now takes into consideration what it would cost to replace a utility's property and equipment.

More Than Cost

In the case of the gas company, Allen reported, this is 140 million dollars more than what actually was spent to build and acquire the facilities.

The second Phoebus bill would substitute this "actual original cost" factor for the "current replacement value" in the rate formula.

The utility question was not on the Legislative Council's agenda, but two of the three members of the PSC were on hand for the discussion.

Wilmer Fell Davis, former Caroline county senator who is a member of the commission, explained some of the problems the PSC faces.

When a utility spends money for new facilities, he said, the PSC is required under the law to see that the rates provide a fair return on the higher valuation of the company's property.

"You can maintain the status quo by keeping them from spending more money," he said. "You can maintain the present rates for a year if you want to stop taking requests for new telephones for a year."

Actually, Davis said, the PSC had been slow and conservative in allowing rate increases. He pointed out it still hasn't granted the increase the Consolidated Gas and Electric Company asked for originally just two years ago.

In two other cases, he pointed out, the PSC turned down rate increases for the Baltimore Transit Co. and the telephone company only to have those decisions reversed in the courts.

Davis said the PSC members rendered diligent, unselfish service for the benefit of the public.

Phoebus asked him if being there to argue against the senator's two bills wasn't like having a judge come off the bench to take sides in a criminal prosecution.

Davis said he wasn't against the bills. He pointed out he had dissented from several PSC decisions and was only trying to show the limitations of its powers.

Reduces Rates

One council member asked why it was the Southern Maryland Rural Electric Cooperative could reduce rates recently when other utilities were pleading for increases. The PSC people answered it was because the cooperative doesn't have to pay Federal income taxes.

Sen. Kimble (R-Allegany) asked if it might not be a good idea to give the PSC power to review proposed capital expenditures by utility companies before they are made and become a part of the rate base.

He said the telephone company had built an elaborate type building on the most expensive property in Cumberland and he objected to putting "marble castles" into the rate base.

Sen. McLaughlin (R - Allegany) asked the PSC to study and consider the money he said the telephone company is spending in public relations work to gain public favor for the rate increase it asked last week.

"They're spending plenty," McLaughlin said.

Scouters' Night To Be Held Here Next Tuesday

Cubs, Scouts Will Entertain Officials

A Cumberland District, Boy Scouts of America, Scouters' Night will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

The event will have three separate meetings at the same time with discussions on fellowship, program ideas, unit helps and other phases, designed to help Scouters do a better job of Scouting and Cubbing for more boys.

District chairman Henry Lowery will preside at the district meeting when institutional representatives will give brief reports on their units, particularly on any help they may need.

Also district operating committee chairmen and members will report on their activities and progress, as well as plans and projects for the future on camping and activities, organization and extension, advancement, leadership training and health and safety.

The Scouters' roundtable meeting, which will be going on at the same time, will be headed by Herbert Lehr, assistant district commissioner. The meeting will be based on "Trails in the Sky," theme for use in Troops in January.

Unusual Displays Expected

At the meeting Troop 17 Scouters will conduct a different opening ceremony with everyone participating; Scouters of Troop 15 will show and tell how they made the tin-can "Canatarium" and demonstrate how it is used; Troop 6 Scouters will teach a new game.

James Hosack, institution representative of Pack 19 and science instructor at Allegany High School, will show how to find and identify the major constellations, and Troop 5 Scouters will demonstrate a closing ceremony suitable for use in Troops during January.

Officials request Scoutmasters to bring along their Troop investiture board, candles, props and other equipment for display.

Estel Oster, assistant district commissioner, will preside at the third meeting, Cubbers' roundtable, also scheduled at the same time as the first two meets.

The meeting, for Cubmasters, assistants, Den Mothers and Pack committeemen, will feature helps and ideas for the January "Cub Scout Showmen" theme, as well as some basic Cubbing subjects similar to those used in the recent Cub leaders' training course. W. E. Lawyer will present some more Cub games and magic tricks.

A combined "cracker barrel" session of fellowship and refreshments will follow the group meetings.

Plans To Be Made

At the three gatherings, Scouters will discuss and plan for Scout Week, February 7 to 13. Included are Scout Sunday being planned by Rev. Kenneth W. Grove with the Ministerial Union; and a covered dish supper, to be arranged by Herbert C. Heineman for Scout Week.

A Scout Circus is planned for Friday, February 12 at the State Armory. The Cub theme will be handled by W. E. Lawyer and Estel Oster. Packs will present skits and exhibits that will tie into one theme selected by the committee, and an award will be given to the Pack for the best skit or exhibit.

The Scout theme will be limited to demonstrations or exhibits dealing with Scouting.

Also planned is an essay contest in which an award will be given to the pack or troop for the best essay dealing with their respective phase of Scouting. The unit may select its own subject as long as it deals with Scouting.

Another project for Scout Week will be a public speaking program. John Lindner is contacting service clubs to arrange for Cubs, Scouts and Explorers to speak at their luncheons and dinners during Scout Week.

Democratic Women's Workshop

A workshop on Democratic affairs was held last night at the Fort Cumberland Hotel sponsored jointly by the local club of United Democratic Women's Club of Maryland and the Allegany County Young Men's Democrat Club. Shown as they attended the session last night are Thomas F. Conlon Jr., chairman of the Democratic Digest and treasurer of the Young Men's Club; Mrs. Sanford V. Larkey, Baltimore, chairman of the workshop committee; Mrs. Jim McQuown, president of the local women's club, and William Kelly, Lonaconing, acting president of the Young Men's group and president of the George's Creek Democratic Club. A committee, formed recently by the United Women's Club, is holding workshops in communities throughout Maryland to explain the principles of the Democratic Party and to strengthen the organization in the state. The unit plans to train a corps of speakers in Washington and have them speak wherever requested in the state on Democratic Party policies and programs.

1,500,000 Trees To Be Available For Planting

Nearly 1,500,000 evergreen trees will be available for planting in four Western Maryland counties next spring, according to District Forster William H. Johnson.

The forester also noted that about 28,000 trees, primarily white pine, were planted this fall in Frederick County. This planting showed that the work can be done in any season provided the weather conditions are right. Only a few days this fall were suitable.

Some 950,000 trees will available for planting in Garrett County next spring, according to Johnson. That county has much more land available for reforestation than other counties in the district. About one-fourth of these seedlings will be planted on state-owned land. The rest may be planted on privately-owned land.

About 275,000 trees will be distributed for planting in Frederick and eastern Washington counties and 250,000 in western Washington and Allegany counties. Planting may start about March 1 and should end by May 1.

Land owners who would like to obtain some of these trees free should contact Johnson at the office in the Allegany County Court House. The trees will come from the State Department of Forests and Parks nursery at Harmans in Anne Arundel County.

John Bestwick, Superintendent of Spinning, awarded Mr. Walker a 25-year certificate and 5-star service emblem.

Walker is a jet driller. He works in the Spinning Auxiliary Section where now five of the six drillers of microscopic jet holes are 25-year employes. Eight employes out of 19 in the Drilling and Finishing Section have more than 25 years of service.

Born in Washington, D. C., he came to this section in 1927 and attended Pennsylvania Avenue High School before coming to Amcelle in 1928.

All active sports interest Walker including hunting and fishing.

State CIO Parley Starts Here Today

Sessions Get Under Way At 10 A. M.

The Maryland Industrial Union Council, a CIO organization, will open its 15th annual convention at the Fort Cumberland Hotel today at 10 a. m. with approximately 200 delegates expected to attend.

The session will be opened by Ralph C. Beard, this city, of the United Rubber Workers, who is a regional vice president of the council. He will deliver a short talk.

The invocation will be given by Rev. D. E. Makell, pastor of Metropolitan A.M.E. Church. Charles Della, Baltimore, state secretary-treasurer, said the welcome address will be given by Mayor Roy W. Eves, if he returns from Baltimore in time.

Memorial Service Planned

Next on the program this morning will be a talk by Audrey M. Smid, Baltimore, state CIO president. The morning session is scheduled to conclude with a memorial service in honor of Allen Haywood, former first vice president of the National CIO, who died last year.

The afternoon session will get underway with a talk by John Brophy, national CIO representative on international affairs, who will speak on foreign affairs from the CIO viewpoint.

Also scheduled this afternoon are a talk by Henry Goldstein, executive director of the Histadrut Campaign Drive for Israel; and reading of reports by the president and secretary on the year's events of the state council.

Della said several resolutions will be introduced during the proceedings to be discussed by the delegation which will represent 85,000 CIO union members in the state.

N. J. Mayor To Speak

One of the main speakers for the three-day event here will be John Grogan, international president of the Shipbuilders Union, who is also mayor of Hoboken, N. J.

Other officials who are scheduled to attend the sessions are John Edelman, legislative representative of the Textile Workers Union of America (he is the man proposed as assistant to Martin P. Durkin when he was secretary of labor).

R. J. Thomas, assistant director of the organization for the national CIO; Edward Darcey, Baltimore, telephone workers; John L. Helm, Baltimore, brewery workers, both of the executive board, and Charlotte Cohen, Baltimore, secretary to the executive secretary of the CIO Council.

Two local speakers will be on the convention program. They are John L. Estes, member of the Maryland Employment Security Board, and State Senator Robert B. Kimble. Another local man, William G. Rice, president of Local 26, United Rubber Workers, is in charge of arrangements together with Beard.

During the three-day sessions, Edward Lashman, member of the staff of the CIO News in Washington, a weekly publication, will speak on publicity.

Suit To Be Given Away

A highlight of the convention will be an award of a suit of clothing to a delegate wearing clothing with a union label. Della said Fred Sard, representative for the Union Label Campaign, will talk on the issue of having union labels on clothing.

The social highlight of the convention will be the annual dinner-dance tomorrow night at the Bowman's Addition Fire Hall.

City To Be Represented At Pedestrian Safety Meet

Cumberland will be represented at a pedestrian safety meeting of Maryland police chiefs next week in Baltimore.

The meeting, scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, has been called by Major Ruxton M. Ridgely, executive officer of the Maryland State Police.

Police Commissioner John J. Long said he and an official of the Police Department were invited, and Mayor Roy W. Eves also had been invited.

Purpose of the meeting is to provide a basis for continued close coordination of pedestrian protection programs in all major Maryland cities and towns.

In a letter to Long, Major Ridgely also pointed out that Cumberland had a remarkable record of pedestrian safety during 1952, ranking 17th among 184 cities of 25,000 to 50,000 which reported traffic statistics to the American Automobile Association.

Hagerstown, only other Maryland city in the same population category, was close behind in 21st place.

"Cumberland has made tremendous strides in the past three years," said Major Ridgely, adding that "finishing 17th out of 184 cities of comparable size is an achievement that reflects credit on the amount of work done by Commissioner Long's department."

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will present awards to several Maryland cities for their 1952 safety records at a dinner which will follow next week's meeting.

The value of pedestrian programs, said Ridgely, is illustrated by the fact that pedestrian deaths, at an all-time high in 1937 with 15,500 fatalities in the nation, had dropped to 8,000 by last year. This represents a 45 per cent cut in the national pedestrian death toll.

Jaycees Honor GOC Coordinator For Organization

Charles G. Smith, Allegany County coordinator for the Ground Observer Corps, was presented the first honorary membership in the 14-year history of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce at its monthly meeting last night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

After Robert E. Moore, Jaycee vice president, made the award, Smith explained some of the details involved in the expansion of the Ground Observer Corps. When he took over as GOC coordinator, the organization was a "paper" corps.

Now there are about 600 volunteers in the organization and six observer posts, located at Cumberland, Frostburg, Cresaptown, Pinto, Bedford Road and Oldtown. For his work, Smith was presented a Freedoms Foundation award last July. Since its inception, Freedoms Foundation has made about 2,000 awards throughout the country.

In his GOC work, Smith has cooperated with William G. Barger, county Civil Defense director, who is a Jaycee.

Paul A. Buchanan, Jaycee social chairman, announced that the Jaycee Christmas dance, a semi-formal affair, will be held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club Friday, December 11. E. W. Lowery asked for volunteers to man the Jaycee Salvation Army kettle Saturday, December 19.

George L. Carney Jr., vice president, who officiated at the business meeting, introduced four new members. They were Fred Hill, Alfred Weeks, Marvin Coleman and Walter Haschert.

Rosenmarkel Freed After Restitution

Harold J. Rosenmarkel, 40, a former resident who moved to Willoughby, Ohio a few month ago, was released from the Allegany County Jail about noon yesterday after making restitution of $1,165.49 he allegedly embezzled from the Dapper Dan Club of which he was treasurer.

Rosenmarkel, who at first fought extradition from Ohio, pleaded guilty to embezzlement when arraigned in Allegany County Circuit Court November 12. He had been in jail since that time.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris gave Rosenmarkel a three-year sentence in the Maryland House of Correction, but suspended it on condition he make restitution, be of good behavior, abstain from the use of alcoholic beverage and remain under the jurisdiction of a probation officer.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Delphine A. Mercer vs. Paul R. Mercer.

Six Men Are Arrested For Illegal Deer Kills

4 Men Wounded As Season Ends

Six men were arrested late Tuesday and early yesterday morning as illegal deer kills continued to mount in the three-day hunting season in West Virginia. Yesterday was the final day of the short season.

Eastern Panhandle district conservation officers said they did not expect to get final returns on the number of deer killed in the seven counties or on the number of arrests which might be made during the season until Friday.

A Steubenville, Ohio, nimrod was apprehended yesterday morning about eight miles from Moorefield along the South Fork Road in Hardy County. B. C. Townsend, Hardy County conservation officer said the hunter killed a 200 pound, 10-point buck by using a spotlight after dark.

George Lumapanty was tried before Justice J. H. Dolan, Moorefield and fined $100 and costs.

Hunters Are Fined

Late Monday evening, the first day of the season, two Weirton, W. Va., hunters were picked up by authorities near Lost River, Townsend said, for hunting after getting their legal kill.

Arrested were Silas Boley and Steve Speis. They were tried before Justice of the Peace Maurice Beall at Wardensville and fined $103.50 each. Tuesday, Theodore Vanorsdale was arrested for hunting after legal kill and fined $103.50 by Justice Beall. Because it was Vanorsdale's second offense, the Martinsburg hunter's rifle was confiscated by the conservation authorities.

Townsend and Officer Ken Keplinger were the arresting officers in each of the cases.

In Tucker County two residents of near Charleston, Wilbur Smith and Virgil Tyree, were arrested by Lester Miller, Tucker County conservation officer, and Lewis Williams, county wildlife manager.

When apprehended Smith had killed three deer and was still hunting while Tyree had one deer and was continuing to hunt.

Tried before Justice of the Peace Stark Coberly in Parsons, Smith was fined $300 and Tyree $100 and costs.

Also mounting as the season drew to a close was the number of accidental shootings in the wooded areas.

Four Men Wounded

Romney conservation office reported Allen James McGill, 39, chief petty officer stationed with the Navy at Norfolk, Va., was shot accidentally in the left hand Tuesday evening. He was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where surgery was performed, removing three fingers and part of the hand. Hospital attaches said his condition was good.

Officials said McGill was riding in the back of a pickup truck with a loaded gun. The jarring of the truck as it travelled over a dirt road near Fabius in Hardy County apparently accidentally discharged the weapon.

A 40-year-old Bedford, Pa., man was admitted yesterday to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland after being wounded in the foot. Attaches identified him as Lawrence Zinn and said they were told by the hunter that his gun had discharged accidentally. He was reported in good condition.

Another patient at Potomac Valley Hospital is Clarence "Buck" Varner, Keyser, who was shot in the right foot Tuesday by a bullet from his own rifle. Hospital attaches said they were able to save the foot.

Deer Kill Mounts

Herbert W. Triplett, 38, Cresaptown, was wounded in the left hip Tuesday while hunting on a farm owned by his father-in-law, Fred Alt, about four miles west of Fort Ashby.

The accident occurred when a rifle was discharged and the bullet

Youth Paroled In Gas Theft

An 18-year-old boy who admitted taking part in the theft of four gallons of gasoline from a truck received a suspended six-month term in the House of Correction yesterday at a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick suspended the boy's sentence and placed him on two years' probation on condition he be at home by 10 o'clock every night and not associate with the other boys involved in the theft.

City Police arrested the two boys, along with three others, early Monday. Police said they caught the boys taking gasoline from trucks at the Novick Transfer Company, 816 Lafayette Avenue.

Magistrate Alban C. Thompson of Juvenile Court placed all the boys on probation Tuesday when they were hailed before him as delinquent minors. He ordered them to attend church regularly.

12-Year Road Plan To Start '54 With $10 Million Under Contract

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP) — The State Roads Commission reported today it will have perhaps as much as 10 million dollars worth of new road work under contract by the first of the year as a head start on Maryland's big 12-year highway overhaul program.

In the next week or so, Chairman Russell H. McCain declared, the commission will determine the order in which another 60 million dollars worth of work is to be put under contract in 1954.

McCain gave his figures to the Legislative Council in a kind of informal, interim progress report. The General Assembly last spring adopted a 12 year plan calling for 568 million worth of new and rebuilt roads.

McCain outlined these practical effects of the progress made so far:

1. The conversion of U. S. 40 into a divided, dual highway from Baltimore to Frederick will be completed to the Monacacy River just east of Frederick by the fall of 1954. Bids will be opened next Tuesday on the final leg of this project.

2. Building of the Blue Star Memorial Highway across the Eastern Shore from Centreville to Warwick will be put under contract in 1954 and finished in 1955.

3. Conversion of U. S. 240 into a dual, divided highway between Washington and Frederick will be extended southward to the vicinity of Rockville from its present terminus near the Montgomery County line by the end of 1955.

Members of the Legislative Council asked McCain specifically about these projects.

"You will see the dirt moving next year in all 23 counties of the state," he said.

He explained the almost 10 million dollars worth of contracts to be let by the end of the year will represent a head start on the 12-year program because construction was not actually scheduled to begin until 1954.

Some minor jobs, such as the widening and resurfacing of Ritchie Highway on a stretch between Glen Burnie and the south city limits of Baltimore, already have been finished.

Pike Work Held Up

In response to questions, McCain gave assurances the commission will go ahead quickly with plans for converting U. S. 301 into a dual highway from Glen Burnie through Southern Maryland to the Potomac River Bridge.

The plan calls for building a new pair of lanes alongside the present roadway, except for a few places where an entirely new dual highway will take the place of the old road.

McCain said it was important to synchronize this project with completion of the Centreville-Warwick Expressway on the Eastern Shore because of the heavy traffic the route is expected to carry between North and South.

The roads commission chairman acknowledged progress on the Washington National Pike, the dual highway which will replace U. S. 240 between Washington and Frederick, has been held up because of the squabble the commission got into with the National Capital Parks and Planning Commission over right-of-way through Rock Creek Park at the north edge of Washington.

The commission is faced with a law suit by property owners in the section who object to the routing.

The commission's goal is to build 200 million worth of new highways in the first four years of the 12-year program and spend another 42 million for rights-of-way to be used for this work and for roads to be built in later phases.

The most frequently heard criticism of the commission at the time the program was adopted, McCain said, was its failure to consult extensively with county and municipal officials about improvements planned in their jurisdictions.

Since last spring, he reported, the commission staff has gone over the program in detail with county commissioners and legislators in all 23 counties.

The result of this, he reported, was that 95 per cent of the commission's plans received local approval. On the other 5 per cent, some projects were given greater priority than under the original plan because of local conditions.

Legislative Council Gets Into Utility Rate Wrangle

Senator Phoebus Would Freeze Figures; Kimble Says Public Pays For Marble Castles

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP)—Maryland's Legislative Council got into an unscheduled wrangle about utility rates today, with some heated exchanges about the State's Public Service Commission.

State Sen. Phoebus R-Somerset touched it off by announcing he would sponsor a bill to freeze all utility rates at their present levels for a year.

Seek Rate Boosts

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co., the Consolidated Gas and Electric Co. of Baltimore, the Baltimore Transit Co., and the Hagerstown Gas Co. all have rate increase requests pending before the PSC.

Phoebus said he also will sponsor legislation to change the legal formula by which rates are determined.

The senator declared 'high priced lawyers couldn't represent the utilities any better than the PSC does" and said there ought to be "someone to represent the interests of the people of Maryland."

Joseph Allen, people's counsel to the PSC, brought up the rate making formula in a letter which arrived before the council about the same time Phoebus did.

Allen suggested the legislators should give careful study to provisions of the law about "fair rate of return" on money the utilities have invested.

The valuation of the investment now takes into consideration what it would cost to replace a utility's property and equipment.

More Than Cost

In the case of the gas company, Allen reported, this is 140 million dollars more than what actually was spent to build and acquire the facilities.

The second Phoebus bill would substitute this "actual original cost" factor for the "current replacement value" in the rate formula.

The utility question was not on the Legislative Council's agenda, but two of the three members of the PSC were on hand for the discussion.

Wilmer Fell Davis, former Caroline county senator who is a member of the commission, explained some of the problems the PSC faces.

When a utility spends money for new facilities, he said, the PSC is required under the law to see that the rates provide a fair return on the higher valuation of the company's property.

"You can maintain the status quo by keeping them from spending more money," he said. "You can maintain the present rates for a year if you want to stop taking requests for new telephones for a year."

Actually, Davis said, the PSC had been slow and conservative in allowing rate increases. He pointed out it still hasn't granted the increase the Consolidated Gas and Electric Company asked for originally just two years ago.

In two other cases, he pointed out, the PSC turned down rate increases for the Baltimore Transit Co. and the telephone company only to have those decisions reversed in the courts.

Davis said the PSC members rendered diligent, unselfish service for the benefit of the public.

Phoebus asked him if being there to argue against the senator's two bills wasn't like having a judge come off the bench to take sides in a criminal prosecution.

Davis said he wasn't against the bills. He pointed out he had dissented from several PSC decisions and was only trying to show the limitations of its powers.

Reduces Rates

One council member asked why it was the Southern Maryland Rural Electric Cooperative could reduce rates recently when other utilities were pleading for increases. The PSC people answered it was because the cooperative doesn't have to pay Federal income taxes.

Sen. Kimble (R-Allegany) asked if it might not be a good idea to give the PSC power to review proposed capital expenditures by utility companies before they are made and become a part of the rate base.

He said the telephone company had built an elaborate type building on the most expensive property in Cumberland and he objected to putting "marble castles" into the rate base.

Sen. McLaughlin (R-Allegany) asked the PSC to study and consider the money he said the telephone company is spending in public relations work to gain public favor for the rate increase it asked last week.

"They're spending plenty," McLaughlin said.

Scouters' Night To Be Held Here Next Tuesday

Cubs, Scouts Will Entertain Officials

A Cumberland District, Boy Scouts of America, Scouters' Night will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

The event will have three separate meetings at the same time with discussions on fellowship, program ideas, unit helps and other phases, designed to help Scouters do a better job of Scouting and Cubbing for more boys.

District chairman Henry Lowery will preside at the district meeting when institutional representatives will give brief reports on their units, particularly on any help they may need.

Also district operating committee chairmen and members will report on their activities and progress, as well as plans and projects for the future on camping and activities, organization and extension, advancement, leadership training and health and safety.

The Scouters' roundtable meeting, which will be going on at the same time, will be headed by Herbert Lehr, assistant district commissioner. The meeting will be based on "Trails in the Sky," theme for use in Troops in January.

Unusual Displays Expected

At the meeting Troop 17 Scouters will conduct a different opening ceremony with everyone participating; Scouters of Troop 15 will show and tell how they made the tin-can "Canatarium" and demonstrate how it is used; Troop 6 Scouters will teach a new game.

James Hosack, institution representative of Pack 19 and science instructor at Allegany High School, will show how to find and identify the major constellations, and Troop 5 Scouters will demonstrate a closing ceremony suitable for use in Troops during January.

Officials request Scoutmasters to bring along their Troop investiture board, candles, props and other equipment for display.

Estel Oster, assistant district commissioner, will preside at the third meeting, Cubbers' roundtable, also scheduled at the same time as the first two meets.

The meeting, for Cubmasters, assistants, Den Mothers and Pack committeemen, will feature helps and ideas for the January "Cub Scout Showmen" theme, as well as some basic Cubbing subjects similar to those used in the recent Cub leaders' training course. W. E. Lawyer will present some more Cub games and magic tricks.

A combined "cracker barrel" session of fellowship and refreshments will follow the group meetings.

Plans To Be Made

At the three gatherings, Scouters will discuss and plan for Scout Week, February 7 to 13. Included are Scout Sunday being planned by Rev. Kenneth W. Grove with the Ministerial Union; and a covered dish supper, to be arranged by Herbert C. Heineman for Scout Week.

A Scout Circus is planned for Friday, February 12 at the State Armory. The Cub theme will be handled by W. E. Lawyer and Estel Oster. Packs will present skits and exhibits that will tie into one theme selected by the committee, and an award will be given to the Pack for the best skit or exhibit.

The Scout theme will be limited to demonstrations or exhibits dealing with Scouting.

Also planned is an essay contest in which an award will be given to the pack or troop for the best essay dealing with their respective phase of Scouting. The unit may select its own subject as long as it deals with Scouting.

Another project for Scout Week will be a public speaking program. John Lindner is contacting service clubs to arrange for Cubs, Scouts and Explorers to speak at their luncheons and dinners during Scout Week.

Democratic Women's Workshop

A workshop on Democratic affairs was held last night at the Fort Cumberland Hotel sponsored jointly by the local club of United Democratic Women's Club of Maryland and the Allegany County Young Men's Democrat Club. Shown as they attended the session last night are Thomas F. Conlon Jr., chairman of the Democratic Digest and treasurer of the Young Men's Club; Mrs. Sanford V. Larkey, Baltimore, chairman of the workshop committee; Mrs. Jim McQuown, president of the local women's club, and William Kelly, Lonaconing, acting president of the Young Men's group and president of the George's Creek Democratic Club. A committee, formed recently by the United Women's Club, is holding workshops in communities throughout Maryland to explain the principles of the Democratic Party and to strengthen the organization in the state. The unit plans to train a corps of speakers in Washington and have them speak wherever requested in the state on Democratic Party policies and programs.

1,500,000 Trees To Be Available For Planting

Nearly 1,500,000 evergreen trees will be available for planting in four Western Maryland counties next spring, according to District Forster William H. Johnson.

The forester also noted that about 28,000 trees, primarily white pine, were planted this fall in Frederick County. This planting showed that the work can be done in any season provided the weather conditions are right. Only a few days this fall were suitable.

Some 950,000 trees will available for planting in Garrett County next spring, according to Johnson. That county has much more land available for reforestation than other counties in the district. About one-fourth of these seedlings will be planted on state-owned land. The rest may be planted on privately-owned land.

About 275,000 trees will be distributed for planting in Frederick and eastern Washington counties and 250,000 in western Washington and Allegany counties. Planting may start about March 1 and should end by May 1.

Land owners who would like to obtain some of these trees free should contact Johnson at the office in the Allegany County Court House. The trees will come from the State Department of Forests and Parks nursery at Harmans in Anne Arundel County.

Walker Obtains 25-Year Pin

John Bestwick, Superintendent of Spinning, awarded Mr. Walker a 25-year certificate and 5-star service emblem.

Walker is a jet driller. He works in the Spinning Auxiliary Section where now five of the six drillers of microscopic jet holes are 25-year employes. Eight employes out of 19 in the Drilling and Finishing Section have more than 25 years of service.

Born in Washington, D. C., he came to this section in 1927 and attended Pennsylvania Avenue High School before coming to Amcelle in 1928.

All active sports interest Walker including hunting and fishing.

State CIO Parley Starts Here Today

Sessions Get Under Way At 10 A. M.

The Maryland Industrial Union Council, a CIO organization, will open its 15th annual convention at the Fort Cumberland Hotel today at 10 a. m. with approximately 200 delegates expected to attend.

The session will be opened by Ralph C. Beard, this city, of the United Rubber Workers, who is a regional vice president of the council. He will deliver a short talk.

The invocation will be given by Rev. D. E. Makell, pastor of Metropolitan A.M.E. Church. Charles Della, Baltimore, state secretary-treasurer, said the welcome address will be given by Mayor Roy W. Eves, if he returns from Baltimore in time.

Memorial Service Planned

Next on the program this morning will be a talk by Audrey M. Smid, Baltimore, state CIO president. The morning session is scheduled to conclude with a memorial service in honor of Allen Haywood, former first vice president of the National CIO, who died last year.

The afternoon session will get underway with a talk by John Brophy, national CIO representative on international affairs, who will speak on foreign affairs from the CIO viewpoint.

Also scheduled this afternoon are a talk by Henry Goldstein, executive director of the Histadrut Campaign Drive for Israel; and reading of reports by the president and secretary on the year's events of the state council.

Della said several resolutions will be introduced during the proceedings to be discussed by the delegation which will represent 85,000 CIO union members in the state.

N. J. Mayor To Speak

One of the main speakers for the three-day event here will be John Grogan, international president of the Shipbuilders Union, who is also mayor of Hoboken, N. J.

Other officials who are scheduled to attend the sessions are John Edelman, legislative representative of the Textile Workers Union of America (he is the man proposed as assistant to Martin P. Durkin when he was secretary of labor).

R. J. Thomas, assistant director of the organization for the national CIO; Edward Darcey, Baltimore, telephone workers; John L. Helm, Baltimore, brewery workers, both of the executive board, and Charlotte Cohen, Baltimore, secretary to the executive secretary of the CIO Council.

Two local speakers will be on the convention program. They are John L. Estes, member of the Maryland Employment Security Board, and State Senator Robert B. Kimble. Another local man, William G. Rice, president of Local 26, United Rubber Workers, is in charge of arrangements together with Beard.

During the three-day sessions, Edward Lashman, member of the staff of the CIO News in Washington, a weekly publication, will speak on publicity.

Suit To Be Given Away

A highlight of the convention will be an award of a suit of clothing to a delegate wearing clothing with a union label. Della said Fred Sard, representative for the Union Label Campaign, will talk on the issue of having union labels on clothing.

The social highlight of the convention will be the annual dinner-dance tomorrow night at the Bowman's Addition Fire Hall.

City To Be Represented At Pedestrian Safety Meet

Cumberland will be represented at a pedestrian safety meeting of Maryland police chiefs next week in Baltimore.

The meeting, scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, has been called by Major Ruxton M. Ridgely, executive officer of the Maryland State Police.

Police Commissioner John J. Long said he and an official of the Police Department were invited, and Mayor Roy W. Eves also had been invited.

Purpose of the meeting is to provide a basis for continued close coordination of pedestrian protection programs in all major Maryland cities and towns.

In a letter to Long, Major Ridgely also pointed out that Cumberland had a remarkable record of pedestrian safety during 1952, ranking 17th among 184 cities of 25,000 to 50,000 which reported traffic statistics to the American Automobile Association.

Hagerstown, only other Maryland city in the same population category, was close behind in 21st place.

"Cumberland has made tremendous strides in the past three years," said Major Ridgely, adding that "finishing 17th out of 184 cities of comparable size is an achievement that reflects credit on the amount of work done by Commissioner Long's department."

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will present awards to several Maryland cities for their 1952 safety records at a dinner which will follow next week's meeting.

The value of pedestrian programs, said Ridgely, is illustrated by the fact that pedestrian deaths, at an all-time high in 1937 with 15,500 fatalities in the nation, had dropped to 8,000 by last year. This represents a 45 per cent cut in the national pedestrian death toll.

Jaycees Honor GOC Coordinator For Organization

Charles G. Smith, Allegany County coordinator for the Ground Observer Corps, was presented the first honorary membership in the 14-year history of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce at its monthly meeting last night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

After Robert E. Moore, Jaycee vice president, made the award, Smith explained some of the details involved in the expansion of the Ground Observer Corps. When he took over as GOC coordinator, the organization was a "paper" corps.

Now there are about 600 volunteers in the organization and six observer posts, located at Cumberland, Frostburg, Cresaptown, Pinto, Bedford Road and Oldtown. For his work, Smith was presented a Freedoms Foundation award last July. Since its inception, Freedoms Foundation has made about 2,000 awards throughout the country.

In his GOC work, Smith has cooperated with William G. Barger, county Civil Defense director, who is a Jaycee.

Paul A. Buchanan, Jaycee social chairman, announced that the Jaycee Christmas dance, a semi-formal affair, will be held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club Friday, December 11. E. W. Lowery asked for volunteers to man the Jaycee Salvation Army kettle Saturday, December 19.

George L. Carney Jr., vice president, who officiated at the business meeting, introduced four new members. They were Fred Hill, Alfred Weeks, Marvin Coleman and Walter Haschert.

Rosenmarkel Freed After Restitution

Harold J. Rosenmarkel, 40, a former resident who moved to Willoughby, Ohio a few month ago, was released from the Allegany County Jail about noon yesterday after making restitution of $1,165.49 he allegedly embezzled from the Dapper Dan Club of which he was treasurer.

Rosenmarkel, who at first fought extradition from Ohio, pleaded guilty to embezzlement when arraigned in Allegany County Circuit Court November 12. He had been in jail since that time.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris gave Rosenmarkel a three-year sentence in the Maryland House of Correction, but suspended it on condition he make restitution, be of good behavior, abstain from the use of alcoholic beverage and remain under the jurisdiction of a probation officer.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Delphine A. Mercer vs. Paul R. Mercer.

Six Men Are Arrested For Illegal Deer Kills

4 Men Wounded As Season Ends

Six men were arrested late Tuesday and early yesterday morning as illegal deer kills continued to mount in the three-day hunting season in West Virginia. Yesterday was the final day of the short season.

Eastern Panhandle district conservation officers said they did not expect to get final returns on the number of deer killed in the seven counties or on the number of arrests which might be made during the season until Friday.

A Steubenville, Ohio, nimrod was apprehended yesterday morning about eight miles from Moorefield along the South Fork Road in Hardy County. B. C. Townsend, Hardy County conservation officer said the hunter killed a 200 pound, 10-point buck by using a spotlight after dark.

George Lumapanty was tried before Justice J. H. Dolan, Moorefield and fined $100 and costs.

Hunters Are Fined

Late Monday evening, the first day of the season, two Weirton, W. Va., hunters were picked up by authorities near Lost River, Townsend said, for hunting after getting their legal kill.

Arrested were Silas Boley and Steve Speis. They were tried before Justice of the Peace Maurice Beall at Wardensville and fined $103.50 each. Tuesday, Theodore Vanorsdale was arrested for hunting after legal kill and fined $103.50 by Justice Beall. Because it was Vanorsdale's second offense, the Martinsburg hunter's rifle was confiscated by the conservation authorities.

Townsend and Officer Ken Keplinger were the arresting officers in each of the cases.

In Tucker County two residents of near Charleston, Wilbur Smith and Virgil Tyree, were arrested by Lester Miller, Tucker County conservation officer, and Lewis Williams, county wildlife manager.

When apprehended Smith had killed three deer and was still hunting while Tyree had one deer and was continuing to hunt.

Tried before Justice of the Peace Stark Coberly in Parsons, Smith was fined $300 and Tyree $100 and costs.

Also mounting as the season drew to a close was the number of accidental shootings in the wooded areas.

Four Men Wounded

Romney conservation office reported Allen James McGill, 39, chief petty officer stationed with the Navy at Norfolk, Va., was shot accidentally in the left hand Tuesday evening. He was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where surgery was performed, removing three fingers and part of the hand. Hospital attaches said his condition was good.

Officials said McGill was riding in the back of a pickup truck with a loaded gun. The jarring of the truck as it travelled over a dirt road near Fabius in Hardy County apparently accidentally discharged the weapon.

A 40-year-old Bedford, Pa., man was admitted yesterday to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland after being wounded in the foot. Attaches identified him as Lawrence Zinn and said they were told by the hunter that his gun had discharged accidentally. He was reported in good condition.

Another patient at Potomac Valley Hospital is Clarence "Buck" Varner, Keyser, who was shot in the right foot Tuesday by a bullet from his own rifle. Hospital attaches said they were able to save the foot.

Deer Kill Mounts

Herbert W. Triplett, 38, Cresaptown, was wounded in the left hip Tuesday while hunting on a farm owned by his father-in-law, Fred Alt, about four miles west of Fort Ashby.

The accident occurred when a rifle was discharged and the bullet

After lunch, but before the afternoon program, there will be a short meeting of the Allegany County Branch of the Maryland School Food Service Association to elect officers for the coming year.

Youth Paroled In Gas Theft

An 18-year-old boy who admitted taking part in the theft of four gallons of gasoline from a truck received a suspended six-month term in the House of Correction yesterday at a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick suspended the boy's sentence and placed him on two years' probation on condition he be at home by 10 o'clock every night and not associate with the other boys involved in the theft.

City Police arrested the two boys, along with three others, early Monday. Police said they caught the boys taking gasoline from trucks at the Novick Transfer Company, 816 Lafayette Avenue.

Magistrate Alban C. Thompson of Juvenile Court placed all the boys on probation Tuesday when they were hailed before him as delinquent minors. He ordered them to attend church regularly.

12-Year Road Plan To Start '54 With $10 Million Under Contract

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP) — The State Roads Commission reported today it will have perhaps as much as 10 million dollars worth of new road work under contract by the first of the year as a head start on Maryland's big 12-year highway overhaul program.

In the next week or so, Chairman Russell H. McCain declared, the commission will determine the order in which another 60 million dollars worth of work is to be put under contract in 1954.

McCain gave his figures to the Legislative Council in a kind of informal, interim progress report. The General Assembly last spring adopted a 12 year plan calling for 568 million worth of new and rebuilt roads.

McCain outlined these practical effects of the progress made so far:

1. The conversion of U. S. 40 into a divided, dual highway from Baltimore to Frederick will be completed to the Monacacy River just east of Frederick by the fall of 1954. Bids will be opened next Tuesday on the final leg of this project.

2. Building of the Blue Star Memorial Highway across the Eastern Shore from Centreville to Warwick will be put under contract in 1954 and finished in 1955.

3. Conversion of U. S. 240 into a dual, divided highway between Washington and Frederick will be extended southward to the vicinity of Rockville from its present terminus near the Montgomery County line by the end of 1955.

Members of the Legislative Council asked McCain specifically about these projects.

"You will see the dirt moving next year in all 23 counties of the state," he said.

He explained the almost 10 million dollars worth of contracts to be let by the end of the year will represent a head start on the 12-year program because construction was not actually scheduled to begin until 1954.

Some minor jobs, such as the widening and resurfacing of Ritchie Highway on a stretch between Glen Burnie and the south city limits of Baltimore, already have been finished.

Pike Work Held Up

In response to questions, McCain gave assurances the commission will go ahead quickly with plans for converting U. S. 301 into a dual highway from Glen Burnie through Southern Maryland to the Potomac River Bridge.

The plan calls for building a new pair of lanes alongside the present roadway, except for a few places where an entirely new dual highway will take the place of the old road.

McCain said it was important to synchronize this project with completion of the Centreville-Warwick Expressway on the Eastern Shore because of the heavy traffic the route is expected to carry between North and South.

The roads commission chairman acknowledged progress on the Washington National Pike, the dual highway which will replace U. S. 240 between Washington and Frederick, has been held up because of the squabble the commission got into with the National Capital Parks and Planning Commission over right-of-way through Rock Creek Park at the north edge of Washington.

The commission is faced with a law suit by property owners in the section who object to the routing.

The commission's goal is to build 200 million worth of new highways in the first four years of the 12-year program and spend another 42 million for rights-of-way to be used for this work and for roads to be built in later phases.

The most frequently heard criticism of the commission at the time the program was adopted, McCain said, was its failure to consult extensively with county and municipal officials about improvements planned in their jurisdictions.

Since last spring, he reported, the commission staff has gone over the program in detail with county commissioners and legislators in all 23 counties.

The result of this, he reported, was that 95 per cent of the commission's plans received local approval. On the other 5 per cent, some projects were given greater priority than under the original plan because of local conditions.
